COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1935. No. 1.

SENATE

JANUARY 1, 1935, 12 O'CLOCK M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 6, 1934, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D.D., offered the following prayer.

Oh, Thou great Jehovah, Maker and Preserver of all things, we approach Thy presence humbly and expectantly,—humbly because of our unworthiness, expectantly because of Thy promises unto us.

On this the first day of a new year we desire Thee to guide us along the unknown path that leads on into the future. Thou dost hold Eternity in Thy hand, and dost measure it out unto us in periods of time. May this year, now beginning, bring us nearer to Thee.

On this the first day of a new General Assembly of our great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we ask that each legislator present beneath the dome of this beautiful capitol building may have a vision of God and of duty, so that from God he may gain strength to perform aright every duty.

In a special sense pour out Thy spirit upon the members of this Senate; guide them by Thy counsel so that their deliberations may be approved by Thee and serve to safeguard the peace and prosperity of our Commonwealth and of our beloved nation.

We ask all these things in Thy name. Amen.

Homsher.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President and fellow members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I want first to express my appreciation of the high honor that you have conferred upon me by electing me President Pro Tempore of this Senate. It is a position of which any man may be proud, particularly as it came to me entirely unexpected and unsolicited. And I want to ask every one of you for your advice and cooperation in all the duties which may come to me to perform. I know that you all comprehend fully with me the vast responsibilities that rest upon this body to meet the problems that are before us; and I believe that we can all work together, regardless of party affiliation, for the general good of the public. I ask your cooperation, and again thank you.

These problems that will come before us will tax the abilities and the judgment of any set of men; and knowing the ability of this Senate as I do, I do not believe that any other body of men that could be gathered together to work disinterestedly, could bring about better results than can be accomplished by this Senate. Again I thank you.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington

December 17, 1934.

Received in Governor's Office, December 18, 1934 and referred to: Governor.

My Dear Governor:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter to me from Mr. James A. Moffett, the Administrator of the Federal Housing Administration. This letter calls my attention to the need for certain legislation to make Titles II and III of the National Housing Act more effective.

Amendments to existing State laws seem to be called for in practically every State—forty-four of them—in which State Legislatures are meeting this winter.

Mr. Moffett tells me that the bill passed by the Legislature of the State of New York, in Special Session last August, seems to meet the general needs. I am enclosing a copy of this bill.

It would give me great satisfaction if you would give this matter your most careful consideration with the object, if you approve, of obtaining legislation in your State in 1935.

If you would care to have any further information in regard to the details or objects relating to this subject, I shall be glad to have you call on Mr. Moffett at any time.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

His Excellency,
Gifford Pinchot,
Governor of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION
Washington

December 11, 1934

My dear Mr. President:

In order that the Federal Housing Administration may attain a full measure of success throughout the country, it is essential that banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations, trust companies, fiduciaries, and other investors be able legally to make insured mortgage loans, and to invest in insured mortgages and in national mortgage association obligations, as provided by the National Housing Act.

You may recall that Title II of the National Housing Act, in order to create a sound mortgage market and induce mortgage money to finance new construction, provided for the insurance of long term, low interest-bearing, fully amortized home mortgage loans, by authorizing the creation of a federal mutual insurance fund. Title III of that Act authorizes the creation of national mortgage associations subject to the supervision and control of the Federal Housing Administrator. The object of these associations is to provide a liquid market for home mortgages and thus to aid in establishing a more sound national credit system.

At the present time there are in the states various statutory limitations upon loans and investments by the aforementioned investing institutions, which restrict their ability to benefit fully from the National Housing program. A similar limitation upon the lending power of national banks has already been removed by the Congress.

The legislatures of many states will convene during the next few months. Could you not, with propriety, suggest to the Governors of these states that their statutes should be amended as soon as possible so that banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations, trust companies, fiduciaries and all other investors under statutory restrictions might be permitted legally to make insured mortgage loans and to invest in insured mortgages and in national mortgage association obligations as provided by the National Housing Act?

Respectfully yours,

J. A. MOFFETT, Administrator.

The President,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

No law of this state prescribing the nature, amount or form of security or requiring security upon which loans or advances of credit may be made, or prescribing or limiting interest rates upon loans or advances of credit, or prescribing or limiting the period for which loans or advances of credit may be made shall be deemed to apply to loans, advances of credit or purchases made pursuant to the foregoing paragraphs (a) and (b).

2. Subject to such regulations as the banking board finds to be necessary and proper, building and loan associations and savings and loan associations are authorized to secure insurance from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation pursuant to title four of such national housing act.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. George F. Conner, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and everliving God, the sweep of time brings us again to the threshold of another new year.

"Time like an ever rolling stream,
Bears all her sons away."

We pause a moment in reverent silence in memory of our comrades, John J. Williams and J. Hampton Wright, who are not among us, for God took them. May they rest in peace.

"Now the laborer's task is o'er,
Now the battle day is past,
Now upon a farther shore
Lands the voyager at last.
Father in thy gracious keeping Leave us now thy servants sleeping."

Solemn, tender and wistful thoughts fill our minds as we pray that the New Year may hold for each of us mental and spiritual treasure to enrich our lives.

We recall with reverent thanksgiving that in days of old, Thou didst lead Thy people out of bondage and slavery across sea, wilderness and river into a land of rich promise. Today, in behalf of our great Commonwealth, we humbly beseech Thee that the angels of Thy providence may go before us, and the angels of Thy mercy may camp round about us, and from Thy throne in Glory may divine light shine upon our pathway.

Wilt Thou sustain and direct all those who have been called to high office and grave responsibility in the Commonwealth—His Excellency the Governor elect, members and officers of the Senate, The Speaker and members of the House.

May these chosen servants of the people hearken to the highest challenge of faith and hope in these tense and agitated times. Grant that all selfishness sectarian bias, and evil design may melt away into brotherly love, and that the highest interests of our citizenry may be sought and secured by this General Assembly.

We ask this in Thy name, O Ancient of Days. Amen.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. Are there any requests for leave of absence? The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER.

Mr. SCHROPE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 1, 1935.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article II, Section 9, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the Clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER.

Mr. RUTH. Speaker Pro Tempore, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I arise to an opportunity which I have coveted for a long time. During the years of ones life and activity in public life you touch the lives of other men. Those men become your friends, and I arise today to place before this House the nomination of my friend.

If we go back into the history of our country more than one hundred and twenty years, we find that there was a group of men of the early pioneers and founders of this nation who organized what is known as the Democratic Party. During the years at times the government of this nation and of this state wandered away from the homestead but again and again as opportunity and emergency arose they have come back like the wandering son. So, again this year Pennsylvania has come back to the old homestead, the Democratic Party.

In our county we have a man who was born sixty-two years ago; who started to teach school when he was sixteen years old and when he was twenty years of age, before he was even allowed to vote, he was active in campaigns for the Democratic Party. Most every one in this House and also in the Commonwealth knows his record and his history as a Democrat. For more than forty-two years he has carried the banner high. He has striven and worked and labored for the interests of his party. Time and time again his district in Berks County has sent him to the State House of Representatives.

In this House he has held the banner of the Democratic Party high and today we have come together to pay him this honor, and I take this privilege of placing in nomination the name of one of my dearest friends and colleagues, the Honorable Wilson G. Sarig of Berks County.

Mr. ANDREWS. Speaker Pro Tempore, ladies and gentlemen of the House, two years ago almost to the day, almost to the hour, almost to the minute, I stood in the rear of this House hesitant, stammering, friendless and alone endeavoring to participate in ceremonies of this sort. Prompted as I believe by the gentleman from Delaware, the Chairman upon that occasion interrupted my faltering remarks to ask whether I was making a political speech. The answer to the inquiry was "Sir, this is a political occasion." Unfortunately I did not have the right answer until two years had rolled around, but that is not unusual, because I can see here within my purview gentlemen who have not found the right answer even after two years.

I did say at that time and intimated cautiously to the Chairman that two years hence while I might stutter and hesitate in the rear of the House at that time, that two years hence I would be back in this forum with my gang. Ladies and gentlemen, survey them! Here they are and are they not magnificent? Jewels in the coronet of a triumphant Democracy.

This ladies and gentlemen of the House, is a political occasion, but it is not a partisan occasion: a political occasion because it witnesses the passing of the balance of political power and there is a peculiar justice, a poetic justice in the nomination that has just been so eloquently made by my friend the gentlemen from Berks. If there ever was a man whose career to the unseeing eye seemed to be one of political frustration it was the career of Wilson G. Sarig. Year after year a record of persistent unending defeat, and yet doggedly, and "doggedly and grimly" are the words, he stuck to his post. Only the all-seeing eye of Providence could see that instead of fighting a rear guard action of disaster that out of these defeats Wilson G. Sarig was moving forward, forward, forward until he stood in what seemed the darkest hour of his defeat beneath the very shadow of the honor that he coveted.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, if you will take the record of the measures for which Wilson G. Sarig contended and on behalf of which he was defeated and survey that catalog, you will find that the measures he struggled for and lost are the measures which both the majority and the minority parties are pledged to enact into law.

I commend Wilson G. Sarig to the minority. If there ever was a man who should have a kindly feeling for political minorities it is Wilson G. Sarig. He inherits a great party tradition, and I would be unfaithful to what is to me a very dear memory if I did not attempt upon the floor of this House to point out that Wilson G. Sarig inherits a great parliamentary tradition, in that he succeers a Speaker who among all of the Speakers I have known was uniformly fair in his treatment of the minority and if in his functioning in the Chair Wilson G. Sarig operates in keeping with those traditions—as he will—the Democratic Party will have reason to be proud of him.

I say that this is a political occasion but not a partisan occasion. It will be Wilson G. Sarig's opportunity to take this House and weld it into an instrument, irrespective of party alignment, attuned not to a legislative funeral march marking the burial of the people's hopes but rather to an anthem of legislative accomplishment, keyed to the people's needs and in accordance with their will and to that high purpose I second the nomination of Wilson G. Sarig as Speaker of this Right Honorable Assembly.

Mr. SOWERS. Speaker Pro Tempore, Members of the House of Representatives Assembled: We are now in the process of organizing the House of Representatives for the regular session of 1935. Our decisions today will leave their impression on the character of the legislature we shall enact. It is indeed a great honor to have the privilege to nominate for the Office of Speaker, the candidate of a militant and courageous, Republican party.

A party stimulated with a great desire to serve the people and put on the statute books liberal, progressive and Social Legislation, their expressed will.

We have in our midst, a man of ability, physically as active as the best of us, mentally alert, ripened by more than 20 years experience in this Hall, calm by nature, slow to anger, forgiving, and yet stable for right and justice.

A man of the common people, reared with them, educated in the common schools, engaged in a competitive business, religious, honest, loyal to his Country, State, City and neighborhood.

A man who has rubbed elbows with the poor and the rich and knows their desires.

An advocate of liberal, progressive and social legislation and economic reforms.

He has demonstrated to his neighbors and the people, his belief that every man is by right, entitled by labor to food, clothing, shelter, entertainment and reasonable vacation periods from labor.

He is a believer in private property and that its use shall be so regulated as to prevent detriment to the general welfare. He has supported all working men's compensation laws and improvements thereto.

He stands for equal rights for all Americans regardless of race, color, creed or religion.

He believes that the economic conditions, created by labor saving machines, has brought to us serious problems for solution.

He believes that labor saving machinery makes it the duty of all to assist in the maintenance of widowed mothers and their children. He believes the farmer and the industrial employee are by right and not by charity, entitled to an Old Age Pension as an economic compensation for their years of service in the production of articles for human use.

That the lack of buyers, at the merchant stores, is caused by the present machine age that no longer requires the services of the aged.

That like the old, the disabled victim of the machine, is likewise entitled to more than the workingmen's compensation laws give them—namely, a living for life.

That social legislation is not charity but a right which grows out of our increased ability to produce.

This man has vision and he knew that prohibitory laws would be more disobeyed than obeyed and that regulation is the best way to control vices and appetites of man and that education and examples of men in high places, are worth more to guide a people than hundreds of law books.

He has never faltered in his support of rightful assistance to the aged, infirmed, disabled and the blind. His conduct demonstrates a belief that the complexity of our social and economic life of today, makes us for our own good, our brother's keeper.

He has always supported the enactment of laws for the protection of life and limb and for the destruction of racketeers and criminals.

He is a married man, with a wife and a large family, conscious by experience of the duties and responsibilities of a husband and a father, and stands for the upholding of our American family.

He has been in our midst for a long while. These qualifications, as well as many others, you have observed. He has been your friend on all occasions. He has never been lacking in service. He has never played with the weapons of flattery and deceit. With honesty and candor, he gives you his opinions and criticisms.

If you see fit to select him as your speaker, I assure you he will give to you a non-partisan administration. He will preside over your deliberations with dignity, fairness, justice and equity. He will be fair and square to all and partial to none. It is with great pleasure that I place in nomination, the Hon. Patrick Connor of Philadelphia.

Mr. CORDIER. Speaker Pro Tempore, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House: It is indeed a great honor to me to have the privilege to rise and second the nomination of the candidate for the office of Speaker, of the presently constituted minority party in the House. The candidate of the minority party through his many years of service in these Legislative Halls has proven to be a man of ability, having a rich experience of more than twenty years' service. Calm by nature and forgiving and yet always found in the forefront for right and justice. Reared among the common people and educated in the common schools, religious, honest, one who understands the problems of both the poor and the rich and who is well informed as to their desires. He was always found in the forefront in advocating liberal, progressive and social legislation and economic reform. He stands for equal rights for all American citizens regardless of their race, color, creed or religion. He knows the problems of labor. He has never faltered in his support of assistance to the infirm, disabled and blind. His record shows active support for the enactment of laws for the protection of life and limb and for the destruction of criminal groups. He understands the problems of the farmer and the employees of industry and was found to be in the forefront in the enactment of the old age pension law. We who have associated with him for the past several sessions have found his experience and advice to be invaluable. He has served here for a long time. He is conscious of those duties and requirements which are expected of a conscientious legislator and recognizes the present needs of the people of this great Commonwealth. He is the head of a happy and large family, realizing the responsibilities of the home and believes in upholding the traditions of the American home. Those of us who have associated with him for the past several Sessions have found him our friend on all occasions. Since I first entered these halls in 1930 as a baby member I have always been proud of my associations with him. He has willingly offered his services to any Member of the House regardless of party that he may have been of some help to through his years of experience. We have found him honest, outspoken and candid in giving his opinions and criticisms. If he is successful in being elected Speaker of this House, I feel sure that I can say with many more of the older Members of the General Assembly that his administration will be non-partisan and will be so guaged that it will do the most good for the most people in the Commonwealth. He will be fair to all and show no partiality to any Member. We who know him best know that his heart beats for that which is right. If you ladies and gentlemen of the House see fit to elect him your Speaker he will bring to this House a calm, ripe and mature thought on all matters of proceedure and legislation gleaned through his rich experience.

It is indeed an honor and a privilege to commend to you ladies and gentlemen of the house as a candidate for Speaker the Honorable Patrick Connor, of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. Are there any other nominations?

THE SPEAKER (WILSON G. SARIG) IN THE CHAIR.

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, first of all a Happy New Year to you all. This greeting includes both the guests as well as the members of the House. There is an old saying that when the heart is gladdest the tongue is stiffest. That may be your good fortune today; otherwise I might be inclined to inflict upon you what might be called an inaugural address. As it is I want to say merely a few words.

In the first place I want to thank you for electing me to this high office. This is the highest gift within your power to confer or to bestow. I approach this situation with no feeling of personal vanity. On the other hand I feel most keenly the terrific responsibility that rests upon me and upon every member of this House during this coming session. I will try so to conduct this office that not one of you will have cause to regret your action in electing me today.

I shall try to give fair and impartial treatment to every member regardless of party or political affiliations. We meet here today not as Democrats, not as Republicans, not as Socialists, but all engaged in a great public duty.

The events of the past few years constitute a great human drama. No language can describe the waste, the heartaches, the misery which has befallen our people during this depression. The eyes of Pennsylvania are upon us this day, this hour, this minute. Millions of Pennsylvanians are looking to us for some measure of comfort and some measure of relief. What shall our answer be? Our actions during the coming session will answer that question. By our fruits we shall be judged by our constitutents. Let us hope that a Divine Providence will guide us and direct us in the great task that now lies immediately before us. Pennsylvania expects every member to do his or her full duty during this session. We must not fail Pennsylvania in this her hour of need and in this her hour of distress.

Again I thank you.

PRIVILEGE OF FLOOR GRANTED TO REVEREND HAROLD E. KELLER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time asks that the privilege of the floor be granted to the Reverend Harold E. Keller of Harrisburg for a few remarks. The Chair hears no objection and that privilege is therefore granted. The Chair now recognizes Father Keller of Harrisburg.

Rev. HAROLD D. KELLER. Mr. Speaker, in behalf of the Niagara Association, whose delegate I am to-day. I present to you this gavel made from the wood of the Flag Ship of Commodore Perry's squadron on Lake Erie, the "Niagara." Originally a part of a giant oak tree, which grew on the shores of the lake, it was cut down at the command of Daniel Dobbins who was commissioned a sailing master in the Navy by the President of the United States and ordered to begin the construction of a fleet. After Perry's victory and the closing of the naval station the "Niagara" was sunk and rested, through the orders of the Navy Department, on the bottom of the Lake for almost one hundred years. During the Centennial Celebration this Legislature appropriated money to raise the vessel and at the last regular session again appropriated money to reconstruct the boat.

This wood has been taken from the keel of the vessel. The Niagara Association presents it to you with best wishes, in the hope and wish that your work as Speaker of the House may bring the same successful results as came to Perry on Lake Erie.

The SPEAKER. Father Keller I thank you sincerely for this historic gavel and the message which it conveys. I feel that I shall keep it and cherish it to the end of my days.

I feel that this gift is very appropriate at this time. When Commodore Perry reached the shores of Lake Erie he was confronted by what were then considered insurmountable difficulties, but imbued with high patriotism and with a strong faith in God above and in the work in which he was engaged he surmounted all those difficulties and at the end of the combat he could respond with that laconic and now historic dispatch "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

This Legislature at the present time is also faced by almost insurmountable difficulties. As we look at the grave financial and humanitarian problems that now beset us, we too, sometimes feel almost inclined to shrink from the task that is before us. I hope that this gavel, with the historic message which it conveys will give us added strength and the courage during this session so that when the end of the session shall be reached we as members of the 1935 Session may say with Commodore Perry "We have met the enemy and they are ours". I thank you again for this historic present.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES 5 AND 27

That Rule 5 of the House of Representatives which reads as follows:

"He (the Speaker) shall appoint the members of standing, select and conference committees, unless otherwise ordered by the House," is hereby amended to read as follows:

"He (the Speaker) shall appoint the members of select and conference committees unless otherwise ordered by the House."

AMENDMENT TO RULE 40

That Rule 40 of the House of Representatives, which reads as follows:

"That when a bill or resolution has been ten days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from the further consideration of the bill or resolution by a majority vote of all the members elect," is hereby amended to read as follows:

"That when a bill or resolution has been ten calendar days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of eighty-five members."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend proposed Rule No. 40 by substituting the word "sixty" for the words "eighty-five."

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please present his amendment in writing to the desk.

Mr. HOOPES. I will do so, Mr. Speaker.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend proposed rule 40 by substituting the word "sixty" for the word "eighty-five."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendment which I propose to Rule 40 puts it into the form which the minority of this House——

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. The point of order is, the gentleman from Berks must amend the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks has done that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker he is talking about amending an original rule instead of amending the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will admit that the gentleman is technically correct but the purpose of the resolution is to amend the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Berks does not so state and the document he has sent to the desk does not so state.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I submit that the amendment which I sent to the desk proposes an amendment to the proposed rule which is the same thing as an amendment to the proposed amendment to the rule.

Mr. Speaker, I arise at this time to support this amendment and call your attention to the fact that it is the identical amendment which the then minority of this House proposed two years ago, to a day. I am willing to agree that reducing the number of members necessary to vote for the discharge of a committee from one hundred and five, a majority of the House, to eighty-five is an improvement, but I feel that it is desirable to reduce it even further than that. I understand that the argument for fixing the figure at eighty-five is that it is approximately five less than the minority membership of this House, and it is suggested that the amendment proposed by the then minority two years ago was five less than the then minority of this House. I wish to call your attention further to the fact that the number was fixed at sixty for a period of many, many years prior to 1927 and worked very satisfactorily.

There will be a number of matters before this House during the session upon which the members will divide on other than strictly political lines. I refer particularly to labor and social legislation, in which I am particularly interested. I feel that if sixty members of this House think that a particular measure is of sufficient importance to vote to discharge a committee from further consideration thereof, then the entire membership of this House should be given the opportunity to vote upon that particular measure.

I have heard the argument advanced many times in the past by members when reproached for not voting on a motion to discharge that they were opposed to discharging committees but they were in favor of the particular measure, whether it referred to old age pensions or unemployment, relief or whatever it might be; that they would never vote to discharge a committee but they would vote if it came out of committee. I want to make it easier to get the bills before the House so that the members will not be able to dodge a record vote on the measure itself so that we can go home to our constituents and say they voted yes or no on a particular bill, and there won't be any quibbling about it. I think sixty is an ample number to bring a bill before this House. It was the number that the Democratic minority suggested two years ago and I appeal to you to vote for it at this time.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman from Berks has intimated, two years ago the Democratic minority of this House sponsored an amendment to the rules which would have reduced the number required to discharge a committee from one hundred and five, the constitutional majority, to sixty. To-day we, the Democratic majority, are extending to the Republican minority an opportunity to have bills which are in the hands of committees placed upon the floor of the House.

As the gentleman from Berks has intimated the reason that we set the number at sixty-five two years ago was because, as you can see from the Legislative Directory of 1933, the Democratic representation in the House at that time was listed at sixty-five. We presented an amendment to the Rules Committee to make that number five less than the Democratic minority. To-day we are extending to the Republican minority a like opportunity as indicated by the Legislative Directory of 1935, in which the membership is set forth, showing a Republican membership of ninety-one. We are giving the Republican membership an opportunity, if they can hold within five of their membership, or six of their membership, eighty-five, to have a bill discharged from a committee.

I realize that the gentleman from Berks is in a very, very small minority and that it would be legislatively impossible to fix the rules of the House so that they would take in his minority, but nevertheless we feel that the liberalization of the laws and the rules of this House can be accomplished by the reduction of the number from one hundred and five to eighty-five, and I say to the gentleman from Berks, and to the membership of this House that if there is any concern whatsoever that any labor, social, humanitarian or welfare measure will be pickled in any committee, I assure you that there will be enough votes in the Democratic majority to vote the bill out of committee.

I urge the membership of the House to vote down the amendment of the gentleman from Berks and I urge upon them again to pass the amendment to the rules of the House as embodied in this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Hoopes and Mrs. Wilson and were as follows:

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, I present to you the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. Ladies and gentlemen, it is a great honor this afternoon to present to you His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot, who will now address the Joint Assembly.

FINAL MESSAGE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I greet you, and I congratulate you on the opportunity which lies before you to serve the people of Pennsylvania. The times are calling you, and the way has been made plain.

The steady and unbroken purpose of this Administration has been to get for the people of Pennsylvania what they ought to have but never had received—simple justice in the things that are nearest to them. I mean relief for the taxpayer, roads for the farmer, a square deal for the consumer, the bank depositor, the worker, and the people generally.

In a word, I have tried to bring security to those whose lives were a constant battle against adversity.

Four Principal Objectives

To carry out this central purpose this Administration has had four principal objectives—to reduce the burden upon the taxpayer, to secure the laws the people need, to insure and administer relief for the unemployed, and to supply the immensely increased service required to meet the new needs and the increased needs of our people caused by the depression—and do it with fewer employes and for less money.

Servants of the State.

The members of the State Government have met the unprecedented strain in a manner beyond praise.

I desire to pay my tribute of gratitude, admiration, and respect to the men and women in the State service, who, during these strenuous four years, have produced greater results for less money than were ever before attained by State employes in the history of the Commonwealth.

And I desire especially to include the members of the Cabinet, upon whom the trials and the test of leadership have fallen.

The depression has more than doubled the work of some of the Departments, and of some Bureaus in every Department. Yet the increased load has been carried not only with cheerfulness and efficiency, but in nearly every case by a lesser number of employes than under the previous Administration.

That is one reason why I have steadily resisted every attempt to cut the salaries of State employes. They have been earning every cent they got.

Governor's Office.

My thanks are due in particular to the personnel of the Governor's Office, whose willing cooperation under circumstances of peculiar difficulty and unexampled pressure I shall never cease to remember with thankfulness and the highest esteem. I am especially grateful to Duncan C. McCallum, whose wisdom, patience, knowledge, and undeviating support have left me forever in his debt. No Governor ever had a better Secretary.

The Governor's Office, in particular through the Governor's Secretary and the Budget Secretary, has continuously worked with the Departments, helping them to solve their problems, promoting economies, devising more efficient methods of doing the State's business, helping to plan work, and in numerous other ways giving assistance.

A new personnel classification was established, business methods in all of the Departments were revised and improved, purchasing methods were brought up to date, standards of performance in the Departments and institutions were raised, and better investments were secured for the custodial funds.

In addition, the Budget Secretary has had the great task of managing the State's finances during the difficult years. The financial problems have required the most constant vigilance, budgets have been studied and restudied, estimates of probable expenditure have been adjusted to rapidly changing conditions—all of which demanded of the Budget Secretary painstaking labor day by day.

I desire to express to Doctor Logan my deep sense of gratitude for the intelligence and devotion with which he had discharged his most difficult and most vital task.

When I was sick a year ago Mr. McCallum, Mr. John R. Hood, to whose wise guidance I owe a special debt, and others took up the burden during the last critical days of a special session and carried on the work of the State Government as well as if I had been in my office every day.

My special thanks are due to Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, whose advice in this emergency was indispensable. Indeed throughout both my terms Mrs. Pinchot's assistance in dealing with the human side of government has been invaluable. In her the people of the Commonwealth have had an ally impossible to duplicate or replace.

Four Years of Depression.

The people of Pennsylvania have come through four hard years. The problems which the State Government has had to face have been vital, complicated, and hard to solve. No other Administration, unless perhaps during the Civil War, has had so hard a row to hoe. Nevertheless, the past four years have been the best, and the best worth while, of all my life.

I most earnestly hope, and fervently pray, that no other four years as difficult will ever again face the people and the State Government of Pennsylvania.

But to be Governor during these difficult years was a man's job, and the chance to be of use to the people of this Commonwealth was worth everything it cost, and more. Whatever my shortcomings, I am thankful that the task fell to me.

Mistakes I have made in plenty, as any man must, but I have honestly done my best. And whatever may be said of me, whatever you may think of me, this much you will admit: I have had not master by the people of Pennsylvania and my own conscience. I have been Governor or Pennsylvania myself, and nobody else.

For what mistakes I have made, I alone am responsible. But for the work which has been done for the people of Pennsylvania, the chief credit belongs to the thousands of men and women who have worked during these four years as servants of the State have never worked before in the whole history of the Commonwealth.

The Public Service.

Doubtless there have been times when the common impression that a public office is a private snap was true in Pennsylvania. But my first four years as Governor showed that an Administration can be loyal to high standards of public service and public duty and still succeed. My second Administration has tried to follow the same line.

During my first term I succeeded, without a civil service law, in classifying the public service, setting up standards of employment, and immensely increasing output and reducing waste.

Until the very end of the present Administration no civil service law could have passed the General Assembly. Much was accomplished, nevertheless, in stabilizing the public service.

At the beginning of this Administration there were in the public service of the State, excluding institutions and Departments not under the Governor's control, 8801 people, with a payroll of $15,234,713.

At the end of this Administration there were 8576 people, or 225 fewer, with a payroll of $14,548,831. The reduction in payroll is $685,882.

Of the 8576 employes, 992 are doing new work which did not exist at the beginning of this Administration. There is actually, therefore, a decrease of 1217 employes doing comparable work, with a payroll decrease of $2,-242,362.

These servants of the State have set a mark for any future Administration to shoot at. Efficient and loyal employes have been protected in their positions by the present Administration. They are entitled to the same protection from the Administration which is about to take office.

The New Politics.

A great change has overtaken the American people during the last four years, in which the outgoing administration has played its part.

The people of the United States, and of Pennsylvania in particular, have achieved a greater sense of their own rights, a clearer understanding of the duty of the Government—State and National—to safeguard their interests and promote their welfare than they ever had before.

This is great gain. It is also a lesson and a warning. The people no longer admit any right in concentrated wealth to control them and their government. The millions are tired of being at the mercy of a handful of the over-rich. Of this essential fact every political leader should take careful note.

Whatever the depression may have cost us, it has at least taught us the responsibility of all of us toward everyone of us. It has broken down the cruel, selfish, and hateful doctrine of each man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

An effort is already under way to bring back the old days with their ancient evils, to deliver the government back into the hands of concentrated wealth—to return to the outworn and discredited slogan that the way to help the poor man is to make the rich man richer still.

The men who are working for such a return are known to us all. I warn them that these of us who believe in the man, the woman, and the child ahead of the dollar are prepared to resist them to the bitter end.

The question no longer is what party leaders can get out of the people, but what political parties can give to the people. Humanity is coming into its rights.

Measures Passed and Defeated.

Of the more important measures I recommended to the General Assembly it approved:

The Federal Child Labor Amendment; old age assistance; certain improvements to the Workmen's Compensation Law; pensions for the blind; stopping the unfair use of labor injunctions; outlawing the Yellow Dog Contract; new Banking and Building and Loan Codes; a new Corporation Code; permanent registration in Pittsburgh and Scranton; assistance to disabled and neglected ex-service men; bonus to war veterans; set-up of a State Liquor Control system; creation of a Milk Control Board; stay of execution and tax sales; restoration of full appropriations to institutions and Departments by a $25,000,000 bond issue, largely to replace funds taken for unemployment relief.

Among the more important measures which I recommended and which were not passed were:

Unemployment insurance; better State child labor laws; minimum wage law for men, women, and children, maximum hour law for women and children; abolition of company-paid deputy Sheriffs; repeal of the Industrial Police Act; better workmen's compensation laws; compensation for occupational diseases; authority for the State to collect unpaid wage claims of workers; limited dividend corporations for workers' low cost housing; long range provision for public works; cooperation in enforcing NRA code provisions on hours, wages, and conditions of labor; authority for local governments to set salaries of their appointed officials; limitation of the size of trucks and busses; putting private banks under the direction of the State Bank Department; a new school code; a new insurance code; and laws to give the Public Service Commission greater control over public utilities and prevent rate increases without previous approval.

These are progressive measures in line with modern thought. They march with the will of the people, and of that we have complete proof in the last election. It is well within the truth to say that if the General Assembly had enacted these measures as they were laid before it, or a majority of them, the next Governor of Pennsylvania would have been a Republican and not a Democrat.

To relieve the taxpayers, and especially the real estate taxpayers from the needless and unjustified burden they are carrying now, this Administration recommended many measures.

The following were passed:

Adoption of a 20,000 mile road program; emergency appropriations of $6,250,000 to needy school districts; provision for uniform temporary cut in teachers' salaries; maintenance of township roads temporarily, not permanently as I recommended.

Those which were not passed include:

Abolition of the unfair fee system of paying public officials; permanent taking over by the State of the 53,000 miles of the second-class roads; consolidation of third and fourth class school districts; the County Unit Plan of poor relief; State collection of personal property tax; and an income tax for school purposes.

The saving to taxpayers which would have been made by these six measures and by the uniform cut in teachers' salaries is more than $44,000,000 a year. That means a saving of nearly 12 per cent of the total local or real property taxes levied annually, or, excluding Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties, more than 17 per cent.

Other measures recommended to the General Assembly but not passed include:

Relief for financially distressed mortgagors, taxpayers, and other debtors; expansion of the borrowing powers of State and local governments in time of depression; relief of small inheritances from inheritance tax; cigarette and billboard taxes for relief; provisions allowing local governments to borrow on delinquent taxes; provision for building and loan associations and closed banks to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; monthly payments of taxes and water rents; constitutional amendment to allow Pennsylvania to take advantage of Federal loans; collection by the Department of Revenue of mercantile and inheritance taxes; and creation of a Tax Equilization Board to distribute the tax burden justly.

What these measures would have saved to the people of Pennsylvania cannot be determined in dollars and cents, but no one can doubt they would have helped to make the lot of the average citizen far easier than it has been in these trying times.

The Duty of Republicans.

I wish to say a word about politics. The Republican Party is for the time being the minority party, but that does not relieve any Republican lawmaker from his obligation to support the Republican platform, and do his best to enact it into law.

Speaking for the people of Pennsylvania, and as a man whom they have twice honored with the highest office in the Commonwealth, I call most solemnly upon the legislators of both parties to join in enacting the measures promised the people in both platforms. For the two platforms, so far as State affairs are concerned, are almost the same.

And I urge upon Republican and Democratic legislators alike not to oppose sound legislation needed by the people merely because it has been introduced by a member of the other party. The essential thing is not the political label, but the welfare of the people. That should control.

Things Done for the People.

What has been done for the people by this Administration can best be set forth under the various Departments of the State Government. There is time for only the briefest mention, but more detailed information will be found in the report of each Department and Commission printed in the appendix to this message.

Unemployment Relief.

In view of its overwhelming importance to the people of Pennsylvania, both those who were on relief and those who were not, I shall take up relief and its resulting financial problem first.

The only solution for unemployment is work, but it has taken us a long time and much hard thinking to learn it.

The connection of this Administration with unemployment relief began, so to speak, before the Administration itself. On October 10, 1930, while still a candidate, I appointed a Pennsylvania Committee on Unemployment. After it reported, as Governor I appointed another.

In August of 1931, first of all the States, Pennsylvania, through its Governor, demanded Federal relief. I spare you a description of the long fight to secure Federal relief against the opposition of many influential Pennsylvanians. Most fortunately it was successful.

On November 9, 1931, the first of four special sessions called to provide State relief convened in Harrisburg.

The State Emergency Relief Board, to which the General Assembly delegated the difficult task of unemployment relief, was created by the Act of August 19, 1932. In twelve days it organized County Relief Boards throughout the State and began the distribution of relief on September 1st.

The amount of relief granted was from the start necessarily inadequate. From less than $3.00 per family per week in October, 1932, it has risen to approximately $35.00 per month per family in December, 1934, but it is still below a proper standard of living.

Only about half of the unemployed are on the relief rolls at any one time. The peak load came in May of 1933 when 450,000 families, or 2,000,000 persons were dependent on State and Federal aid for their living. In January of 1934 the number of families had sunk below 290,000, largely because many were supported by funds of the C. W. A., which at its height gave work relief to more than 300,000 persons.

Relief at first was distributed in food orders and through commissaries. It was supplemented by food gardens, of which nearly 300,000 were in operation at one time, and by distribution of fuel, clothing (676,000 dozen garments), shoes (2,300,000 pairs), by medical care and by some contribution to rent.

At first there was strong opposition to cash relief. Today the overwhelming weight of experienced sentiment is for it. It is now in effect in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Cash relief will cost a little more, but the increase in cost is little to pay for avoiding the demoralization which inevitably follows direct relief. Less than three per cent of the total income of the United States is spent for the relief of the fifteen per cent of our people who require it.

The State Emergency Relief Board is, I believe, unanimous in its preference for work relief over direct relief. It recognizes the right to work as amng the fundamental rights of human beings.

The Board has been most fortunate in its Executive Director in Eric H. Biddle, to whose ability, energy, and common sense the Governor, the Board, and the unemployed of Pennsylvania owe a debt that can never be paid.

State Finances.

In my first term the chief financial difficulty was to pay off the $32,000,000 of unpaid bills left by the previous Administration. That was done.

The financial problem of my second term was far different and much harder. The fiscal history of this Administration is in two parts. The first part covers running the State Government in all its regular departments under the tremendous strain of the worst depression this country has known.

The second part consists of an entirely new and separate function of the State Government and must be considered by itself. Unemployment relief, the bare necessities of life, had to be furnished to two million Pennsylvania men, women and children. This meant that $87.000,000 had to be provided by the State for a need that no other Administration had ever faced.

Up to the beginning of this Administration what relief needs existed were handled by local agencies. In my last three years the State had to furnish, in times when revenues had fallen off seriously, entirely new appropriations amounting to nearly 40 per cent of the usual State budget. Without the unprecedented demand for State relief, which reached the huge sum of $87,000,000, this Administration would have had available for other purposes, or to leave as a surplus to its successor, $41,000,000 beyond the surplus now estimated.

Present Financial Condition.

The present financial condition of the State Government on the basis of receipts to November 1, estimated revenue, expenditures to November 1, and legislative appropriations, is that the budget is balanced as of May 31, 1935 and carries a surplus of $5,500,851.

The first fiscal year of the Administration began June 1, 1931, with cash balances of $65,529,364.89 on hand in the operating funds, of which approximately $39,000,000 was unencumbered and available for appropriation in all funds.

For the three fiscal years already completed, and the fourth now current, the actual and estimated receipts total $657,227,848.97. Cash balances on hand and receipts total $722,757,213.86.

Appropriation for all functions of Government including obligations incurred before June 1, 1931, are $717,256,362.00. If the income and outgo for the current year approximate the estimates, the total unappropriated cash balances in all funds on May 31, 1935, will be $5,500,851.86.

This statement is made on the basis of appropriations as they now stand on the books. It includes all expenditures for relief which were made out of the General Fund. Action taken by the Legislature which has now met, five months before the end of the present fiscal biennium, will undoubtedly alter the estimates and the actual receipts and expenditures.

Financial Problem to the End of the Biennium.

The budget is balanced on the assumption that all estimated revenue will be collected in this biennium.

While the budget is balanced as stated above, nevertheless great financial problems confront the incoming Administration. Included in the estimate of revenue which must be collected to keep the budget in balance on the basis of appropriations already made there is $13,287,273 of liquor floor tax, of which amount only $2,500,000 has been collected to date. The whole amount is payable finally December 31st of this year and therefore must be carried as receivable.

Included in the estimate of revenue also is $3,500,000 of inheritance tax still due from the Dorrance Estate. This amount is held up by litigation and must, therefore, be carried as receivable.

Delay in collecting these items has entailed current financial difficulties in the Treasury, and so long as the delay continues the difficulties will continue also.

Relief from January 31st to the end of the biennium, if the present rate is continued, will require $20,000,000; and old age pensions and pensions to the blind $3,200,000.

The amount of relief Pennsylvania will be required to furnish after January 31 will be determined, however, by the policy of the Federal Government, and cannot be predicted now.

The State Government during my four years cost the taxpayers $347,000,000 in General Fund appropriations as compared with $355,000,000 under the previous Administration. This in spite of increases of $4,000,000 in departments not under my direction.

The appropriations to the departments and institutions under my direction, including appropriations for construction and land purchase, for the four years of this Administration, are $37,000,000 less than for the previous Administration.

Of the increase during this Administration of nearly $4,000,000 in departments not under my control, the Lieutenant-Governor, Auditor General, and Treasurer spent over $2,000,000, but a great part of this increase must be attributed to the tremendous burden of handling relief moneys through the financial departments.

The money spent by the Legislature increased about $1,000,000, mainly because four special sessions to provide for relief had to be called. They were called when and only when they could not be avoided. These special sessions cost the taxpayers far less than if the previous regular session had appropriated for relief two years in advance on the basis of then existing needs.

Money for public schools, colleges and universities, hospitals and homes, mothers' assistance, and other necessary subsidies increased by nearly $25,000,000.

This means that our State-aided educational and welfare institutions have received better treatment than ever before in spite of the great depression and in spite of decreased revenues. One of the first duties of the Government is to provide for these needs. I am proud that we have increased our expenditures for such purposes.

The regular revenues from all General Fund income sources which were in effect at the beginning of the Administration yielded $309,570,830. The same sources for the previous Administration brought in excess of $350,000,000. Thus in the four years the revenues from such sources shrank $40,000,000 in the present Administration as compared with 1927 to 1931.

Relief Financing.

The great problem during this Administration has been to provide funds for the relief of the unemployed. Since April , 1932, when the Supreme Court declared contributions by the State to unemployment relief to be constitutionally valid, $87,255,400 has been appropriated for relief from State funds.

From April, 1933, to March, 1934, the Federal Government carried 50 per cent of the relief burden. Since then it has carried 77 per cent, a share to which this State was properly entitled in comparison with other states. This increased contribution from Federal sources has saved the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, after deducting the cost of all the special sessions, $32,000,000 in new taxes in the last eight months.

The Federal Government began its contributions in September, 1932, and to date has contributed $153,896,939.

The total of State and Federal relief—$241,152,339—is staggering, but it is not all. To get the total cost of direct relief in Pennsylvania in approximately 2½ years another $20,000,000 from local districts must be added.

The great financial problem of this Administration has been to provide $87,000,000 for relief, plus $3,600,000 for relief debt service. This is how it was done:

The Legislature passed an emergency sales tax, the proceeds of which amounted to $9,966,229. A bond issue netting $25,066,000 was approved by the people to repay funds necessarily taken from the General Fund for relief. The Legislature temporarily transferred $14,591,376 from certain state funds to be used for relief.

These three items total $49,623,605.

The State contribution to relief of $87,225,400 with $3,625,000 for debt service on the relief bond issue makes the total relief bill for my Administration and to January 31, 1935, amount to $90,850,400.

If we take $49,623,605 from this sum, there remains $41,226,795, which is the amount of relief money, unprovided for by special revenue, which had to be taken out of the General Fund and current revenues.

Had there been no necessity to use $41,226,795 of ordinary revenues for relief, the amount, plus the present estimated General Fund surplus of $4,623,621, or about $46,000,000 would have been available for other purposes or left as a favorable balance at the end of this Administration. In other words, except for the unprecedented drain of unemployment relief, amounting to $90,000,000, this Administration would have left to the next Administration a balance in the Treasury $12,000,000 greater than the balance left to me when I took office.

It is clear that relief has been the great load on the General Fund.

The General Fund surplus so used for relief is the result of the drastic economy practiced during these four years, and it exists in spite of the $40,000,000 reduction in revenue, and in spite of the fact that no new taxes other than liquor taxes have been imposed upon the people of Pennsylvania for regular governmental expenses. This may fairly be called a notable achievement.

General Fund Problems Ahead.

A total of $157,500,000 in General Fund appropriations will carry on the work of the State Government for two years, in spite of the rising cost of food and supplies, if the same rigid economy which has been enforced by the present Administration is continued.

The debt service on the $25,000,000 bond issue of 1933, and the $50,000,000 soldiers' bonus issue of 1934, will require $14,000,000 for two years.

Old age pensions and pensions for the blind will require an estimated $25,350,000 for two years.

Of the $14,400,000 borrowed from other funds by the 1934 Special Session for relief, $13,650,000 is required by law to be repaid by December 31, 1935.

These four items total $210,500,000, and does not include relief.

To meet these needs it is estimated now that all sources of revenue to the General Fund will yield $128,500,000 for 1935-1937. To this may be added $10,000,000 estimated profits from the operation of the State Liquor Stores, or $138,500,000 in all of the revenue to the General Fund.

If $138,500,000 is subtracted from $210,500,000, it appears that there remains to be found $72,000,000 of new revenue for the coming biennium, not including unemployment relief.

Public Debt.

The public debt of the Commonwealth (Road Bonds) which existed at the beginning of the Administration has been reduced by $12,381,048. Outstanding bonds less sinking fund were $78,943,867 on January 1, 1931. On December 1, 1934, the bonds less sinking fund amounted to $66,562,819.

During this Administration the voters approved a bond issue of $25,000,000 for general governmental purposes, but used principally for relief, and another of $50,000,000 for soldiers' bonus. Two million five hundred thousand dollars of the $25,000,000 bond issue has been repaid leaving $22,500,000 now outstanding.

The total public debt less sinking fund is today slightly in excess of $139,000,000. This includes all bond issues, and is insignificant as compared with many other States.

The Problem of Taxation.

The real problem of taxation [illegible] State but local governments. The State Government is an efficient operating unit. It compares favorable with the best modern business organizations. The inefficiency lies mainly in the local units of government.

In 1932 total revenue receipts of all counties, cities, boroughs, and other local units amounted to $455,000,000, of which $340,000,000 came from general property taxes. For the same year total revenue receipts for the State amounted to $158,000,000. Thus the local units collected three and one-half times as much as the State.

But there is more to tell. In addition to the $455,000,000 collected by local units, what the State collected went largely to local governmental functions.

Out of a total General Fund for 1933-35 of $158,000,000, or $79,000,000 for one year, 58 per cent, or $91,460,000 for the two years, went for subsidies, which in reality are in aid of local districts, and reduce local taxation by just so much.

In addition to 58 per cent for subsidies, 19 per cent of the total State budget went to State welfare institutions. Here again State funds were spent to lighten the load on local districts.

These two together make 77 per cent, or $127,000,000 of the total General Fund budget of $158,000,000, which go to local units and would fall on local governments if the State did not provide it.

The fact is that three-quarters of the General Fund taxes levied and collected by the State are turned back to aid in meeting local governmental expenses. It is clear that the problem of the tax burden lies almost entirely with the local units of government.

Department of State.

Inadequate as Pennsylvania's election laws are, it has been the usual practice for the Department of State in previous administrations to ignore in a large measure the enforcement of these laws.

During the last four years the Department has made every effort to see that the parts of the election machinery under its jurisdiction should be strictly supervised. Election expense accounts were demanded in all cases and carefully scrutinized.

The voting machine act, by which voting machines were required in certain sections to prevent vote frauds, was vigorously enforced.

When I came into office the number of machines delivered in the State was slightly over a thousand, with nearly 60 per cent of the voting population using or ready to use machines.

Large sums of money have been saved the taxpayers by this Department in eliminating useless legal advertising and by strict enforcement of the fictitious names act.

Department of Justice.

During this Administration the Department of Justice, under Attorney General William A. Schnader, was taken out of politics and put on a business basis. Improved and more economical methods were adopted in every direction, and the service of the Department to the people was greatly improved.

Rigid economy was put into effect and large sums of money were saved. The Department took an indispensable part in dealing with the problem of unemployment relief.

The burden upon the Department during these four years nearly doubled. The volume of litigation increased from 570 cases in the previous four years to 1,201, and the appelate cases from 84 to 159. Opinions rendered grew from 518 to 642. More than 200 bills were prepared for the General Assembly.

Collections by the Department reached the huge sum of $29,000,000, or four times those of the previous four years, and the cost of collection was remarkably low, or only 1.1 per cent. They included $14,000,000 from the Dorrance Estate, without which the Commonwealth's finances would have been in serious difficulty.

The Department also collected about $6,200,000 from surety companies on bonds, and won every case it brought.

The banking crisis was the hardest and one of the largest and best handled tasks of the Department. The old fee system for attorneys engaged in liquidation was replaced by salaries, with the result that legal services for closed banks cost less than one-third of one per cent of the assets. At least half a million dollars were saved to depositors.

The Department struck a telling blow at a great evil when it secured one of the first, if not the first, conviction for third degree practices in Pennsylvania.

The entire procedure of the Board of Pardons was revised and simplified. Only 53 pardons were granted as against 406 in the previous Administration, but the Board granted 3,724 paroles. Every person paroled was provided with a job.

The Department prepared for the General Assembly the new Corporation Code, and the Banking and Building and Loan Code. It also prepared a draft of an Insurance Code and a School Code, which were not enacted.

The Department of Justice has never been more effectively and economically administered.

Department of Public Instruction.

During this Administration not a single school in Pennsylvania has closed for lack of funds, although more than 20,000 schools have closed in other states.

We have ten per cent of the Nation's schools. Keeping all of them open was possible only because emergency funds of six and a quarter million dollars were provided for the purpose, and because of rigid economy enforced by the Department.

Economies recommended by it saved school tax payers more than $20,000,000 in 1933. This represents a ten per cent reduction in one year.

The cost per pupil for 1933 was $15.00 below the cost for 1932, and $21.00 below that for 1929. Moreover, the teachers of Pennsylvania themselves contributed food and clothing to the value of several million dollars to keep children in school.

A temporary reduction of ten per cent in teachers' salaries had to be made to protect the teachers against greater loss. It put an end to vicious practice under which many teachers were being required to make rebates to school boards.

During this Administration State subsidies to public schools administered by the Department reached $126,000,000 compared with $109,000,000 in the previous Administration. Four years ago only 90 per cent of our 62,000 teachers had received full professional training. Today 99 per cent have had it. There is also an increase of more than seven per cent in teachers who are college graduates.

More than 90,000 additional pupils are now enrolled, compared with 1930. The increase in high school pupils was 130,000.

The Department organized, in cooperation with the State Emergency Relief Board, a system of adult education which enrolled 175,000 persons and gave work to 1,800 unemployed teachers. A program now under way will give work to three times as many.

The Department within eighteen days after the law was passed examined 59,000 applications and held Civil Service examinations for 33,000 applicants for positions under the State Liquor Board. Eight days later 1,300 employes were notified of their appointment. This almost impossible feat deserves high commendation.

The Department of Public Instruction was reorganized throughout during this Administration. It handled its departmental and institutional work with nearly 300 less employes and a decrease in annual salaries of nearly $800,000, and did far more and far better work than ever before.

Department of Military Affairs.

The Pennsylvania National Guard is the best in the United States. It has long been a source of great pride to Pennsylvania and to me. I shall never forget the great review at Indiantown Gap last summer, or that it was the first time the 28th Division had been together since the War.

The Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, acquired during this Administration, is the finest in the Eastern United States.

In July, 1933, I sent the 2nd Battalion of the 112th Infantry to Fayette County to protect the constitutional rights of bituminous coal miners against the Steel Trust. The strong friendship which the people of Fayette County developed for the Battalion is the best tribute to the way, without a blow struck or a shot fired, that difficult and dangerous duty was performed.

The Department distributed the $50,000,000 soldiers' bonus with an efficiency unequalled in any other State. More than $42,000,000 was given out to more than 300,000 veterans in record time, and the work of distribution was done by veterans.

Through the Veterans' Commission the Department has paid out over a million dollars in veterans' relief, and the State Athletic Commission has continued its careful supervision of boxing and wrestling. Its work is supported by the fees it collects.

The Department of Military Affairs was reorganized throughout in 1932. It has done much more work than ever before with no increase in force.

Insurance Department

Pennsylvania's insurance companies came through the depression with flying colors. There were only 14 failures —most of them small concerns—in the past four years.

This reflects capable and sound business management of the insurance business in Pennsylvania. And it also bears testimony to competent supervision by the Insurance Department.

The insurance companies, associations, and exchanges operated in Pennsylvania pay into the State Treasury approximately $6,500,000 a year in taxes. In addition to that, half a million dollars is collected in fees from agents, brokers, public adjusters, and others. In contrast, the entire cost of the insurance department has been only about $1,150,000 for this entire administration.

In the past four years the Insurance Department has taken action on 19,160 complaints and has been able to adjust 18,510 of them without recourse to the courts. The claims adjusted involved $1,092,601.65. This compares with 7,099 claims settled in the previous four years, involving $372,701.45.

The Department examined 49,394 agents and brokers compared with 46,674 in the previous four years.

It is clear that the Insurance Department has had more work to do than ever before. This work has been done with an increase of five employes, but at a lower total cost in salaries.

Department of Banking.

The regular duties of the Banking Department include supervising 467 open banks and trust companies, the trust departments of 265 national banks, 27 private banks, and 3510 building and loan associations, with total assets approximating $13,000,000,000.

In addition during the present Administration the Department was responsible for managing and liquidating the assets of 147 closed banks with $500,000,000 book value appraised at $227,000,000. Of this sum the Department has so far realized $164,000,000.

The Department was also charged with the management of 30,732 fiduciary accounts with total assets of $189,000,000.

By the exercise of sound business-like methods it converted frozen assets appraised at $227,000,000 into cash to meet bills payable of $52,000,000, secured and preferred claims of $11,000,000, and cash payments to depositors totalling $101,000,000. Of the $101,000,000 in dividends only $16,000,000 was obtained in loans from Washington.

The task of saving the banking structure of Pennsylvania from complete collapse drove the Department night and day and threw on it far more work than it had ever handled before. When this Administration began the banking system of the Commonwealth was on the verge of collapse. Immediately the condition of all banks was carefully examined and the Department proceeded to strengthen the weak points. Among other things it initiated a new system of evaluating investment securities which has been accepted throughout the country. Banks which clearly could not stand the stress were weeded out. Mergers were pushed and assistance was given to worthy institutions.

As a result Pennsylvania banks were in a relatively strong position when a breakdown of the banking system in other States led me to declare a banking holiday on March 4, 1933, to protect Pennsylvania banks against runs from outside the State. The national bank holiday followed on March 6th, and after that a gradual reopening of sound banks under the supervision of the Federal Reserve Bank officials and the Secretary of Banking. As a result of these moratoria 147 banks with assets of $500,000,000 book value came under the direct supervision of the Secretary of Banking. The assets of these banks are being liquidated to secure the highest possible value without depressing the market. Every possible cent is conserved for the depositor, liquidation expenses are pared to the bone, and receivers are paid by salary instead of fees.

Rigid scrutiny of banks by the Department has uncovered more fraud in the past four years than in all other Administrations put together. Nearly 300 banking and building and loan officials have been arrested and prosecuted.

I regard the protection of depositors in Pennsylvania banks through the work of this Department as one of the greatest achievements of this Administration. Never in the history of Pennsylvania has the Banking Department faced a more difficult task and never has so difficult a task been better met.

Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture costs the people of Pennsylvania nothing. It collects as much as it spends.

It assists the farmer in production and sees that the consumer gets clean and healthy food.

Because of the depression the work of this Department has increased enormously, but its work, often doubled and trebled over the previous four years, has been carried with sixteen per cent fewer employes.

The Department has brought Pennsylvania to the very front among the poultry breeders of the world.

Its work in eradicating tuberculous cattle, first begun on a large scale during my first Administration, now shows 96 per cent of our cattle, and 63 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties, entirely free from bovine tuberculosis.

This enormous benefit to farmers also means clean milk for Pennsylvania children.

The Department has doubled its meat inspection and its grading of fruits, vegetables, and canned products over the previous four years. Pennsylvania now stands first among the States in these respects.

The Department has brought the European corn borer and the potato wart under control, and is exterminating the gypsy moth. Its increased activity in dog control has done much to aid the sheep industry among Pennsylvania farmers. It conducts the State Farm Show, the greatest of its kind in America.

Cooperative marketing associations have gained 10,000 new members during this dministration, and the work of the Department in crop and live stock reporting, in live stock diagnosis, and in giving information to the farmers has doubled.

It has immensely increased the use of Pennsylvania wheat, especially among State institutions, and it has brought Pennsylvania apples to the top of the world market.

Department of Forests and Waters.

Pennsylvania now has by far the best regulated and protected State forests in America.

The Department has carried forest protection to the highest point in State or Federal forests. It has controlled, through its organized forces of 50,000 trained fire fighters, an unusual number of forest fires, so that less acres in all were burned over and the average area per fire was reduced.

It has built 489 more miles of new forest roads, made 462 more miles of forest trails, in these four years than all other administrations put together.

It preceded all other States in cooperating with the Federal Government through the Civilian Conservation Corps, and has organized work for 20,000 young men.

Thanks to this cooperation, it has built 1,500 miles of fire-breaks, 1,200 dams to improve fishing, and 21 for recreation—the first ever built in our State forests.

Among its greatest services to the people is the construction of the Pymatuning Reservoir, to the immense advantage of the industries and the people of the Shenango and Beaver Valleys, and of fishermen and hunters for all time to come.

As compared with the previous four years, the Department has planted twice as many trees on the State Forests, built five times as many State forest roads, and six times as many forest trails, and has constructed nearly 600 buildings and 50 miles of new telephone lines.

It has expended five and a half million dollars of Federal funds in addition to its regular appropriations, and has carried this enormous increase of work, often amounting to five or six times the ordinary load, with less cost and fewer people.

Department of Mines.

The Department of Mines is responsible for a steary decrease in the number of mining accidents in both the anthracite and bituminous regions. For the four year period ending in 1930 there was one fatality in the anthracite field for every 158,373 net tons mined, and for the present Administration a fatality for every 191,000 net tons. In the bituminous field there was one fatality for every 343,045 net tons mined, and in this Administration a fatality for every 513,000 net tons.

This is a notable improvement. It has been accomplished in spite of a reduced force of mine inspectors and the unwillingness or inability of many operators to keep their properties safe.

The Department was aided in its good work by the new Bituminous Code which went into effect on October 2, 1933, and by the amendment in the mining laws effective January 2, 1934, which put all mines employing two or more men under the law instead of only mines employing ten men or more.

In the anthracite region there have been no major accidents in which five or more men were killed since May 29, 1931. In the bituminous region there has been only one such accident from March, 1929.

With that one exception there has not been a major gas explosion for 76 months, or since August 13, 1928. For more than thirty years before 1929 the bituminous field had not operated more than 22 months without a major accident.

The bituminous region set a new record during this Administration when it mined 500,000,000 tons of coal in a period of 61 consecutive months without a major accident from explosion of gas.

Department of Highways.

The greatest road building achievement in the history of the world has been accomplished in Pennsylvania in the last four years. The Department of Highways has built or rebuilt 13,364 miles of highways. Nearly 3,000 miles of this huge total were on the old highway system, and over 10,000 are rural roads, to take the farmer out of the mud.

More good roads have been built in this Administration than in all other Administrations put together. Enough road has been built in Pennsylvania to stretch from New York to Los Angeles four times.

The State Highway System now has 35,387 miles, or more than double the total of four years ago.

The Department is maintaining 84,000 miles of roads, including township roads temporarily taken over. It keeps up more than 11,500 bridges. The township roads are now in better shape than ever before.

By taking over local roads the Department has saved local or real property taxpayers nearly $14,000,000 in road taxes since 1931. The State has also taken over more than 600 miles of borough streets, 260 borough bridges, and 138 miles of city streets.

Many townships have been able to eliminate road taxes entirely, while others have greatly reduced them. The average road tax in second class townships was formerly about 10.7 mills on the dollar.

The Department is the outstanding work relief agency in Pennsylvania. It has at all times employed nearly 80,000 hourly workers. All common labor on the highways was employed through the relief agencies and the State employment offices.

The Department has used as much common labor and as much local material as possible. More than 12,000,000 tons of local paving material has been laid down, with a large saving in cost and much local employment.

The Department has developed a low-cost road construction that has been copied throughout the country. These roads are built with local labor and local materials for $6,000 to $9,000 a mile. They are surfaced with an inexpensive bituminous macadam, and they have withstood far better than certain more expensive roads the severest tests of traffic and weather. They cost little to maintain, they are good throughout the year, and they are pleasant to ride on.

The Department has completed 137 grade crossing projects, eliminating serious danger to drivers. 18 new crossings are now under construction.

It has put up a new and modern system of warning and direction signs, unequalled in any other State, and more than 1,000 miles of modern types of guard rails.

Ten new brick and stone highway garages have been built in this Administration, and eight more are under construction.

The Department keeps open all winter nearly 12,000 miles on the old highway system, in addition to the most important rural roads. As soon as ice begins to form or snow falls to a depth of two inches, day or night, the maintenance forces are ordered out to plow and cinder the roads and make them safe for driving. More than 1400 miles of snow fences are in place to protect the roads from drifts.

The Department has a widespread system of road repair, which keeps the roads in first class condition. It maintains one of the best equipped material laboratories in the country for testing highway material, and has developed a thorough safety system for protecting its workers on the road, so that compensation insurance rates for highway workers have been cut more than 35 per cent during this Administration.

The Department is active to beautify and protect the highways by plantings and by opening views. It issues accurate road maps, weekly detour bulletins, and general information to make the lot of every driver safer and pleasanter.

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways, thanks to its energetic Secretary and highly trained staff, is beyond question the best in America.

Department of Health.

In spite of widespread poverty and hardship, the present health of Pennsylvania's citizens is better than has been for years.

The average death rate in Pennsylvania has dropped nearly nine per cent during the present Administration. Credit must be given in good measure to the educational campaigns and other efforts of the Department.

Communicable diseases, such as typhoid fever, diptheria, and small pox, have been cut down amazingly. Through the cooperation of the State Emergency Relief Board and the Emergency Child Health Committee, the Department has greatly increased its distribution of medical products for the control of contagious and other diseases.

The Department's sanitary engineers have given careful supervision to the CCC Camps, National Guard Encampments, construction camps, and other temporary dwellings.

The people of Pennsylvania owe it to the Department that they are drinking purer water than they ever did before. The water supplies of nearly 4,000,000 Pennsylvanians are now protected by filtration or chlorination.

A project most important to industries and public health along the lower Delaware River was the study of the salinity of the river, undertaken by the Department.

A preliminary report on this study shows that Pennsylvania industries and water supplies will be protected under the plan which Pennsylvania succeeded in having approved by the Supreme Court of the United States for impounding the water of certain upper reaches of the Delaware River.

Pennsylvania now has the basis to make certain that her industries and her people will not be injured by any new projects affecting the Delaware.

The Department has taken over the inspection of public bathing places, and has succeeded in purifying many streams from industrial pollution by the sealing of nearly three hundred mines and other measures to preserve our streams for health and enjoyment.

It has cooperated actively with the Emergency Child Health Committee to the great advantage of Pennsylvania's children, more than 26,000 of whom have been examined for correctable defects in Summer-Health-Car Campaigns during this Administration, and for a time it distributed to children one million quarts of milk per week from the Emergency Milk Fund.

Emergency Child Health Committee.

The worst sufferers from the depression have been the children. About 42 per cent of all persons on relief are children— 700,000 of them—under sixteen.

With the hearty and most welcome cooperation of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania and many other public-spirited citizens, the Emergency Child Health Committee was set up early in 1933. This Committee, under the direction of Doctor Samuel McC. Hamill, has set up local committees in fifty-odd counties of the State, has made approximately 73,000 health examinations of children, has secured the correction of innumerable defects, has conducted a State-wide campaign to teach mothers how to feed their children, and generally has inaugurated and carried on a piece of work of the utmost value both to the present and the future of Pennsylvania.

I know of no other State in which the medical profession has so liberally and unselfishly attacked the great human problem of lifting the physical level of our children and therefore of our whole people.

State Police.

In morale and efficiency, in intelligence and courage, the Stote Police force of Pennsylvania is unequalled anywhere.

During the past four years, the officers and men of the force have worked day and night, tirelessly and faithfully, under an unprecedented burden of work. Besides the enormous amount of duty required by industrial disputes (in which the State Police have won the confidence of all sides), business depression, marches of the unemployed, and increase in crime, the requests for investigations and help have nearly doubled over the last Administration. Thiry per cent more investigations have been made and six thousand more arrests.

In spite of the wide epidemic of vicious kidnapping throughout the country, Pennsylvania has not had a single case. The chief reason is that criminals have a wholesome respect for the Pennsylvania State Police.

The State troopers are all carefully trained at troop schools, and at the central school, in all the branches of crime detection and the handling of criminals.

The efficiency of the force has been greatly increased by the use of experts and scientific instruments in crime investigation.

A teletype system has been widely expanded during the past four years so that a network of police information can now be spread over the State in a few seconds.

Experiments with police cars directed by radio are now being carried on with a view to fighting crime through the air.

I think it has been more clearly proved than ever in these past four years that centralized, non-political police forces are the best possible protection against crime.

Department of Labor and Industry.

The Department made the first State survey of unemployment in America. Pennsylvania is still the only industrial State with accurate information on unemployment. Its figures show that in January, 1932, 27.3 per cent of the working population were totally unemployed, in March, 1933, 37.1 per cent, and in October, 1934, 24.6.

In 1930 the State Employment Offices had over 100,000 registrations and placed 30,000 workers in jobs. In eleven months of 1934 these same offices handled nearly 570,000 registrations and placed 290,000 workers.

All positions in these offices have been put on the merit system, and are now filled by competitive examination.

Industrial accidents do not decrease as less workers are employed. Protection against accidents is more necessary in a depression. The Department discovered that the depression at its height closed only five per cent of Pennsylvania's industrial establishments, and that two-thirds of Pennsylvania's workers worked in industrial danger zones.

In spite of the outstanding record of the Department in settling strikes during 1931 and 1932, the Legislature abolished its mediation work in 1933, at a time when ten times more persons were involved in industrial disputes than the year before. This action was well-nigh disastrous.

Later the mediation service was restored. In eleven months of 1934 it settled 224 industrial disputes, involving 114,000 workers, as well as thousands of cases of employes who had been unable to collect their wages. Employers and employes alike are vitally concerned in keeping the Bureau of Mediation at work.

Sweat Shops.

The breakdown of industrial standards in the depression hit women and children hardest of all. Many women were found to be working 50 and 54 hours a week for one, two, and three dollars, and large numbers of fourteen and fifteen year old children were employed when one-third of the adult workers were seeking work.

Cornelia Bryce Pinchot first called State and Nation-wide attention to the terrible conditions of Pennsylvania sweatshops by her investigation of the needle trades. Her work brought on a legislative investigation which pointed out the crying need for minimum wage and maximum hour laws and the complete elimination of child labor. The General Assembly failed to act on the report of its own committee.

A commission of experts appointed to study occupational diseases in Pennsylvania industry submitted a very noteworthy report, which will be laid before the General Assembly. In that connection a laboratory was set up to ascertain the poisonous quality of industrial gases, fumes and dust.

Both the difficulty and the necessity for the rehabilitation of the disabled were increased by the depression. The registered case roll grew from 1,776 in January, 1931, to 4,223 in January, 1934, and more than 4,500 disabled persons from the rolls of the County Emergency Relief Boards were added in 1933.

During this Administration the Department has guaranteed to assist many thousands of injured workers and dependent widows to secure their compensation benefits. Its check of 25,000 small employers showed that over 12,000 have been violating the Workmen's Compensation Law.

In spite of the great increase in the Department's work, the amount of money appropriated to it has steadily decreased.

The burden upon the Workmen's Compensation Board and referees has increased about one-third.

The State Workmen's Insurance Fund was completely reorganized. It has withstood the depression without a dangerous depletion of surplus and expects to declare a substantial dividend on the business of 1933 and 1934.

Investigation of Industrial Police.

Last spring I appointed a committee to investigate industrial police in Pennsylvania. They made a thorough-going study of company-paid deputy sheriffs and of the Ambridge riots. Their report rightly condemns all private police, and recommends the abolition of company-paid sheriffs, the repeal of the old Industrial Police Act, and more authority for the State Police in time of serious trouble. The Commonwealth is in the debt of this able and fearless committee.

Strikes.

A new method has put Pennsylvania at the head of all the states in dealing with industrial disputes.

During this Administration Pennsylvania has had less industrial violence in proportion to the number of her workers than any other state in the Union. The new method consists in recognizing the constitutional rights of the workers and cooperating with them to keep the peace, instead of the attempt, hitherto so common, to assist the employers in beating them into submission.

During this Administration the forces of the Commonwealth have been used not only to protect the property of the employers against violence as heretofore, but also to protect the workers against violence from the employers.

When, during the summer of 1933, the United States Steel Corporation, in its captive coal mines in western Pennsylvania, undertook to force the miners into submission by shooting them down with company-paid deputy sheriffs, for the first time in the history of the United States a Governor sent the National Guard to protect workers in their rights, and to keep peace.

Both the National Guard and the miners conducted themselves in a way to deserve the highest praise. Violence ceased at once, even though the Steel Corporation persistently refused to recognize the rights of the workers guarantted to them by the laws of the United States.

The same principle was used in the streatened steel strike. It was finally averted by State and Federal mediation, and a National Steel Labor Relations Board was set up to give the workers their rights.

During October of this year 150,000 textile workers in more than 10,000 plants in Pennsylvania went out on strike. In other states, in that strike, at least 14 persons were killed. In Pennsylvania there was but one killing, allegedly by a deputy sheriff.

Throughout these labor disturbances there has been, so far as I know, not a single killing by a union worker. The only killings were by company-paid deputy sheriffs.

During these four years I have sent the State Police into regions of industrial disturbance only on the request of the sheriff. I have had far more calls for the State Police from the workers than from the employers.

The State Police, of whose conduct I cannot speak too highly, have enforced the right of the workers to peaceful picketing. They have commonly had the cooperation of the workers in keeping the peace. The workers used to call the State Police "Cossacks." Now they know them to be impartial.

Industrial disturbances in Pennsylvania have often been the very worst in the Nation. The policy of cooperation with the leaders of the workers for keeping the peace resulted in an almost incredible absence of violence during this highly critical time. It has proved itself sound.

Department of Welfare.

On no Department has the depression laid a heavier burden than on the Department of Welfare. Its assistance in dealing with the problem of unemployment relief at the beginning of this Administration was invaluable, and it has been in close touch with it throughout the four years.

The central purpose of the Department is to promote social security in Pennsylvania, and it has made real progress toward that great end.

The Department supervises the work of the Mothers' Assistance Boards, which received $8,230,000 during this Administration, or $2,730,000 more than in any previous Administration. It is a high compliment to the Mothers' Assistance Boards that old age assistance and pensions for the blind are administered under their direction.

The first payment of old age assistance will be made tomorrow, and approximately 38,000 aged indigent Pennsylvanians will be entitled to receive assistance in 1935. Pensions for the blind became effective last June and nearly 4,000 blind persons are now receiving more than $90,000 a month from the State.

The Department has handled the institutions under its charge in a way to deserve the highest praise. The increased service demanded from these institutions, chiefly because of the depression, is 11 per cent, but the Department has succeeded in reducing the per capita cost by 13½ per cent. It is an achievement of real importance.

The Department has met and handled an increase of 5,000 patients in mental hospitals. Its community service, unique in the field of national public welfare, has had supervision of over 60,000 inmates of child caring institutions, almshouses, hospitals, and homes.

In dealing with prisoners the Department's purpose is "to convert convicted violators of our laws into self-respecting productive citizens who will represent as asset rather than a liability to the taxpayer and the State." It does not regard a prison as an institution maintained merely for punishment but sets the reconstruction of its inmates as the primary task. It has made every effort during this Administration to educate and prepare inmates for good citizenship upon their release.

Probation.

In the summer of 1933 I appointed a committee of experts to study probation in Pennsylvania, and to recommend a desirable program for the State. That committee has done great service in its study of the problem, in promoting public discussion, and in recommending educational and legislative measures to make probation a really effective measure in preventing and combating crime. The committee's report will be submitted to the General Assembly, and I recommend its careful consideration.

Department of Property and Supplies

During my first Administration the Department of Property and Supplies was reorganized, modern business methods were introduced, and politics were eliminated. The same policy was revived and continued in this Administration, and still further economies and efficiencies put the purchasing and construction work of the State on a high plane.

The Bureau of Standards was organized to secure for the Commonwealth the best quality of goods at the lowest prices.

Savings in salaries amounted to $266,000 a year for the four years, and in rents to $153,000 for the past year and a half.

The Department has conformed to the requirements of NRA. and by my order has refused to purchase outside of NRA. The cost of purchasing has been reduced to a little over half a cent per dollar expended.

During the present Administration State cars have been confined to State business. They have been driven a total of nearly 50,000,000 miles, or 50 per cent more miles than in the previous Administration. They were operated at an average cost of two cents a mile while under the previous Administration the cost was two and six-tenths cents a mile.

An actual saving of some $135,000 was achieved, in spite of an increase of some 3,000,000 miles traveled, in the first biennium of my Administration. Barely half the money was spent for new cars and trucks in the first two years of my Administration compared to the previous biennium. A similar saving is being made in this present biennium, both in operating costs and the purchasing of cars and trucks.

The Bureau of Publications, with the cooperation of the Budget Bureau and the various departments, has cut down printing costs by standardizing forms throughout the Departments, and has saved nearly $150,000 by strict supervision of printing and by cutting out costly reports.

State Art Commission.

The State Art Commission has done great work in raising the standard of designs of public works in Pennsylvania, and cutting down the proportion of unsightly buildings and projects.

Nearly 2,000 designs of buildings, bridges, and monuments, involving the expenditure of nearly $79,000,000, have been handled by the Commission.

I know of no other State which takes such care of the artistic side of its projects as does Pennsylvania.

Department of Revenue.

The Department of Revenue has made a most remarkable record in tax collection during these years of depression. It is the rule that in hard times tax delinquencies increase rapidly and the cost of collection rises. In the past four years, however, the Department has reduced tax delinquencies to less than one-third of the amount when this Administration began, and the cost of collection has been unbelievably low.

It has practically eliminated tax evasions and bootlegging in the collection of the liquid fuels tax, including over a billion gallons of gasoline sold yearly in Pennsylvania, has added at least a million and a half to the annual revenue of the Commonwealth, and has saved legitimate business from the competition of tax evaders.

The efficiency of the Department acting under law advocated by this Administration has cut the cost of collecting this tax from 2.3 per cent to three-fourths of one per cent. This is low for any tax. The cost of collecting the mercantile tax, not under my control, amounts to nearly 20 per cent.

When the General Assembly passed the Emergency Relief Sales Tax the Department collected it at a cost of 1½ per cent. It also, through its foresight and activity, began to collect the beer tax on the very day it went into effect.

More than $560,000,000 of State revenue has been collected directly by the Department in these four years. Counting in all possible costs, each tax dollar was collected for a cost of less than two cents. Few States have approached and no other State has been able to surpass this record in the past four years.

During this Administration, thanks in part to the introduction of machine accounting, the handling of tax accounts has been so speeded up that they are under daily control, to the great advantage of taxpayers.

Without the prompt and vigorous work of the Revenue Department, the Highway Patrol, and the State Police, the set-up of the State Liquor Board and the proper licensing of liquor sales could never have been accomplished in the amazingly short time in which it was handled.

One of the greatest modern dangers is reckless and drunken driving. The Highway Patrol and the Bureau of Safety have made Pennsylvania's record among the best in the country. Real improvement has been achieved in spite of the enormous number of cars in Pennsylvania and the presence of trucks on the highways on Sundays and holidays.

The Highway Patrol is an admirable and most necessary body of men, wholly free from politics. It work has nearly doubled during this Administration.

The State Aeronautics Bureau has been turned over to this Department as a matter of economy, with no loss but an increase in its former effectiveness. It will be more and more useful as time goes on.

Fish Commission.

During these four years the Fish Commission has planted nearly twice as many fish as in the previous four years—more than two billion, to the value of over three million dollars. It has surveyed all the waters of the State. It has resumed distributing brown trout. It has learned how to grow trout at the rate of a pound a year.

The Commission has established The Pennsylvania Angler, which is of immense value in arousing the right spirit among fishermen. But its most important achievement is the inauguration of stream improvement in Pennsylvania.

The Commission has made a comprehensive study of stream improvement, and already through its efforts hundreds of miles of streams are being improved throughout the Commonwealth. On Spring Creek in Centre County it has established a complete stream improvement project where fishermen are allowed not only to study the improvements, but also to catch large trout on artificial lures and barbless hooks, although only a limited number may be killed.

The effect of the stream improvement work of the present Commission will be to multiply the producing and carrying capacity of Pennsylvania streams and thus change the steady deterioration of the past few years into steadily better fishing.

This is the greatest achievement of the Fish Commission since it began. It is of the first importance to Pennsylvania fishermen. In this work Pennsylvania leads all the other states.

Public Service Commission.

The Public Service Commission used to be the cat's paw of the corporations. It is now squarely and vigorously on the side of the people. It used to wait for complaints. Now it acts constantly on its own motion to protect the interests of the consumers.

During these four years it has secured not only the largest reduction in utility rates in the history of the Commission, but larger than any other Public Service Commission in the United States.

Most of this reduction, which amounts to more than $7,000,000 a year, was secured by the method of informal conferences with the public utilities—a method first devised and put in action by the present Public Service Commission, and since adopted by the President of the United States in his current effort to secure lower utility rates for the people.

The present Commission has established six as against seven per cent as the proper rate of return for public utilities. When rate reductions cannot be secured by the conference method it has brought suit against such utilities as the Duquesne Light Company of Pittsburgh, and the Scranton-Spring Brook Water Service Company, believed to be the largest water company in the United States.

It has reduced tolls, as in the case of the Clarks Ferry Bridge, from 25 cents to 5 cents. It has regulated the trucking business, broken the taxicab trust in Philadelphia, and successfully carried through the Supreme Court of the United States a litigation which will result in restoring to Pennsylvania a yearly business of ten million tons of bituminous coal. It has secured reductions in freight rates on coal and limestone alone worth a million dollars a year to the people.

The Commission has handled more work in the interest of the public than ever before, and the growing confidence of the public in the Commission is indicated by the fact that during the past four years the number of informal complaints against utilities received was three times the number in the previous four years.

The Commission was for many years the servant of the utilities. It is now the servant of the people. This change followed my appointment of five members of the Commission. I believe it will be permanent.

Game Commission.

Every year more than half a million Pennsylvanians go hunting. Yet in spite of this tremendous annual attack upon our game, Pennsylvania remains the best game State in the Nation.

More hunters' licenses will be sold this year than in any other year except 1931.

The Commission in this Administration has increased the acreage of public shooting grounds from 212,000 acres in 1931 to 453,000 acres today. It has added 79 game refuges, covering 24,000 acres.

The Pennsylvania Game Refuge System is everywhere conceded to be the best in America.

The Commission has waged incessant warfare on hunting accidents, so that in 1933 the accident rate was the lowest since 1913.

The State Game Farms have set in this last year production records for ringneck pheasants, bob-white quail, and wild turkeys never before attained by public or private game farms.

The Commission has established a training school for game protectors which has greatly increased the efficiency of its work. It employes three full-time lecturers to carry the message of game conservation, and it has continued its close cooperation with the hunters of Pennsylvania, the most public-spirited body of sportsmen in any State or Nation.

Liquor Control Board

The Pennsylvania Liquor Control System is recognized as by far the best in the United States.

The Liquor Control Act, thanks to the cooperation of the State Government, has been handled with unparalleled efficiency. It became effective November 29, 1933; the Liquor Control Board was organized December 1st; and on January 2, 1934, 63 stores and five warehouses had been selected, remodeled and equipped, manned with employes selected by non-political Civil Service examinations, and were in full operation. By the end of January the number of stores was 233.

There are now 270, employing 1285 persons, with 322 more in the Board's office at Harrisburg.

By December 6, 1933, the Board was ready to examine applications and issue licenses to retail dealers. Within a year nearly 12,000 licenses had been issued.

To keep politics out of the liquor business was the basic reason for establishing the State stores. Accordingly all employes of the Liquor Control Board are selected by examination. This was the first legally authorized introduction of the merit system in the State Government of Pennsylvania. It has kept the State Stores System entirely out of politics.

A $2.00 per gallon floor tax was levied upon all liquor in storage at the date of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Under an agreement necessary to avoid a lawsuit which would have held up all payments indefinitely, this tax is collected only as the liquor is disposed of through the State stores.

The revenue paid to counties and school districts from retail licenses was $2,719,112.50. The special session of 1934 transferred all money due municipalities to relief.

Liquor sales for the first year from the State Liquor Stores System were about $40,000,000, and the net returns to the State about $5,000,000 in profits and $2,600,000 in floor tax collections, or a total of $7,600,000, all of which goes to unemployment relief or to pensions for the blind.

Hereafter the State Stores may be expected to produce a yearly profit of far more than the rate of $5,000,000.

The work of enforcing the law has been heavy and hard. To date the enforcement officers have confiscated more than 25,000 gallons of liquor and have secured 426 convictions as against 91 acquittals.

The State Stores System has cut bootlegging in Pennsylvania drastically. It will be reduced still further if the Board is given more effective control over the manufacture and sale of alcohol.

It would be the height of folly to do away with a system which has produced such remarkable results in so short a time.

Milk Control Board.

The Milk Control Board is less than a year old. In that time it has stabilized the milk business, presented disastrous price cutting, averted dangerous milk wars, and increased the yearly income of Pennsylvania farmers by about $12,000,000, with no substantial increase to consumers.

The Board has eliminated many of the vicious practices produced by the domination of the Milk Trust. It has replaced the unfair "basic surplus" plan by the "base-utilization" plan, under which a dealer must pay for milk in accordance with the use for which he sells it, to the great advantage of the farmer.

In other words, milk bought for fluid use must bring the farmer the higher fluid price. Milk used for other purposes must bring the farmer the corresponding price. That is fair all around.

The Milk Control Board requires milk dealers to post bonds as security for payments to milk producers, and now holds such bonds to the amount of $2,246,608.

More than 80,000 Pennsylvania farmers produce milk for sale. Of these about 50,000 receive more than 40 per cent of their whole farm income from milk. The total farm investment in dairying is more than a half billion dollars.

The Milk Control Board has saved the dairy industry of Pennsylvania from the collapse that was imminent when the Board was created. It is doing its difficult work well.

Planning Board.

At the beginning of this Administration the Greater Pennsylvania Council was appointed to study Pennsylvania, her resources, and her development. Its purpose was to plan the way to a healthier, happier, and more secure existence for every man, woman, and child in the State. The Legislature killed the Council in 1933.

Last summer Federal cooperation made possible a State Planning Board without State appropriations. Similar action has been taken by 40 other States. The appendix to this message contains an account of the Board's preliminary findings and recommendations. The full preliminary report will be transmitted to you under separate cover. This report should lay the foundation for long time planning in Pennsylvania. I recommend strongly that you give it your careful attention.

Twelve of our counties had a smaller population in 1930 than in 1900. Changes in the standards and conditions of living even within the last four years show beyond question that the orderly progress of our State is impossible without intelligent planning.

I am gratified to see that many of the measures I have advocated for the welfare of Pennsylvania are contained in the recommendations of the Board.

In Conclusion.

This is the seventh time in my present term I have had the honor of delivering the Governor's message at the opening of a legislative session. It is the seventh time I have had the real pleasure of welcoming the General Assembly to the State Capitol.

This time, however, I shall not be able to enjoy the association with you which has usually been so delightful, always so interesting, and sometimes so exciting, in the past. I cannot help but regret it deeply. The Constitution of the Commonwealth, however, wisely stands in the way.

I would like to express to you, and to the Senators and Representatives who were formerly but are no longer here, my very warm appreciation for many courtesies and much cooperation.

If the last four years have been the most strenuous, they have also been the most fascinating of my life. I leave the Governorship, its duties, its trial, and its associations, with profound regret.

I would like you to know that I complete my service with malice toward none, with charity for all, and with a deep sense of gratitude, affection, and respect for the people of Pennsylvania that will endure as long as I live.

As I retire from public office at the end of my second term as Governor, I earnestly desire that the people of Pennsylvania may realize from the incoming Administration all they hope from it; that the next four years may be spent by the people of this great Commonwealth in peace and renewed prosperity; that the black cloud of domination by monopoly and concentrated wealth may be lifted from their lives; and that the depression, which has darkened our way for the last four years, may vanish altogether. May it be replaced by more happiness, more comfort, and a brighter outlook than the men, the women, and the children of Pennsylvania have ever known before.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SHANNON. The Chair wishes to express the thanks of the General Assembly to the Governor for the splendid address he has presented, and to wish him God speed when he leaves Harrisburg.

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to again be permitted to introduce a resolution

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rule that requires unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the rule for the information of the House:

The SPEAKER. That is a proper request. Was the gentleman within the Hall of the House when his name was called?

Mr. BRUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I was.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for sufficient time within which to send a written challenge to the desk as to certain persons marked on the affirmative roll.

The SPEAKER. Time will be granted.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, for the reason that the number of challenges that I would send to the desk would not affect the result of the vote I will withdraw the request to send the written challenges to the desk.

REPORT FROM PHILADELPHIA SAVING FUND SOCIETY.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Philadelphia Saving Fund Society as of January 1, 1934.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES.

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time wishes to make a few announcements.

The first announcement is the personnel of the Committee on Committees. The following members were recommended by the Democratic Steering Committee and will be appointed by the Chair: Messrs. Melchiorre, O'Keefe, Brownfield and Harry N. Boyd.

The following members were recommended by the Republican Steering Committee and will, therefore, also be appointed by the Chair: Messrs. Blumberg and Turner.

The Committee is to meet in the Speaker's office immediately after adjournment so that a date may be arranged for the further transaction of business.

MEETING OF INAUGURAL COMMITTEE.

The Chair wishes to make another announcement. There will also be a meeting of the Inaugural Committee in the Speaker's Office immediately after adjuornment.

COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS.

The Chair has an important announcement to make and would ask for absolute order while it is being made, so that there may be no misunderstanding among the members.

The Chair requests that the members write their preferences for committee assignments on the form prepared for that purpose, a copy of which is now in each member's mail box. Put them in an envelope addressed to the Speaker and drop them in the House Post Office before you leave Harrisburg tonight. If you do not have a form, the Chief Clerk will supply you with one.

The Chair notes one exception to that and that is that the Republican members shall send in their formal requests to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg. Is that correct, Mr. Blumberg?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Republican members instead of sending their requests to the Speaker's Office, will send their requests to Mr. Blumberg as a member of this committee.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS TO BE DEFERRED.

The Chair has a further announcement to make. Bills are not to be introduced in the House until after the standing Committees are appointed.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY THE CHIEF CLERK.

The CHIEF CLERK. The members of the House may receive their checks for the first month by calling at the Chief Clerk's Office. Every member is asked to sign the oath book, and will receive a badge identifying him as a member of the House.

CAUCUS OF REPUBLICAN STEERING COMMITTEE.

The CHIEF CLERK. There will be a meeting of the Steering Committee of the Republican Caucus immediately after the close of today's session to the right of the Speaker's rostrum.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday evening, January 14, 1935 at 9.00 o'clock.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4.50 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until Monday, January 14, 1935, at 9.00 o'clock P. M.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Oh, blessed Lord God, we know Thou art powerful because Thou hast created the world and the universe. We know Thou art wise because the laws governing the world and the universe emanate from Thy mind. We know Thou are loving because Thou hast bestowed upon us so many wondrous blessings.

For all Thou art unto us we humbly thank Thee. Bestow upon us Thy power, Thy wisdom and Thy love. Lead by Thy hand the members of this Senate, so they may do Thy will and cause it to be done in our Commonwealth and our Nation.

Forgive us our sins and strengthen us for service to the honor and glory of Thy great name. Amen.

Whereas, In the course of the Revolutionary War and at a time when the American forces were in great need of assistance, there arrived in this country, among others, a nobleman of Polish birth, to wit, Casimir Pulaski; and

Whereas, The service rendered by him was of great value and assistance to the cause of American independence and of such high importance that on September 15, 1777, he was appointed Brigadier-General of the Continental Army and Chief of Dragoons, and on March 28, 1778, he was designated commander of an independent corps known as "Pulaski's Legion"; and

Whereas, It is the sense and feeling of the members of the Polish Union of the United States of North America, a fraternal benefit society, with headquarters in the City of Wilkes-Barre, and with a membership of over 50,000 members, that proper permanent recognition should be given to the memory of Brigadier-General Casimir Pulaski, whose illustrious service in the war for American independence is well-known to all who are familiar with our history; therefore be it

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

REPORT OF BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith in conformity with the law the report of the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. To promote uniformity between the laws of the various states becomes more and more necessary year by year. The need to prevent wide variation in State practice appears in the various State statutes on taxation, crime, labor, and many other subjects of profound importance.

I commend to your careful attention the report of this Commission.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

STUDY OF STATE AID TO PRIVATE WELFARE AGENCIES

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the study of State aid to private welfare agencies in Pennsylvania, made by the Welfare Commission.

State aid to local institutions, in order to justify the expenditures, must be properly handled by these institutions. The opportunities for abuse are great.

The Welfare Commission has made a careful study of the entire problem, and has made recommendations which will be of basic importance in the proper handling of State aid.

I commend the findings of this committee to your careful consideration.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PENAL PROGRAM OF PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the report and recommendations of a committee on the penal program of Pennsylvania.

This committee, composed of the outstanding Pennsylvania experts on prison management, has made a careful study of penitentiaries and prisons, and has presented to me an admirable report.

Many of its recommendations have already been put into effect. Other recommendations remain to be carried out.

In view of the disorders at the Eastern State Penitentiary during the past year, recommendations regarding Cherry Hill and Graterford are of particular importance.

I commend the report of this Committee to you for careful study.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

STUDY OF POOR RELIEF ADMINISTRATION IN PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith for your consideration a study of poor relief administration in Pennsylvania.

This report, prepared by the Department of Welfare, shows conclusively that poor relief in Pennsylvania is being conducted on a 17th century basis.

Nothing demonstrates more clearly the need of a thorough overhauling of our poor board system than the fact, disclosed in this report, that tax levies for poor relief purposes ranged from nothing at all in some districts to the legal limit of 10 mills in others.

Another astonishing fact is that a rise in poor tax levies from 1928 to 1932 was accompanied by a steady decline of average collections from 78.5 per cent of levies in 1928 to 67.9 per cent in 1932. Thirty-four poor districts collected less than 50 per cent of their levies in 1933.

The report also indicates that many poor boards have no standards for granting relief and none for discontinuing relief. Once relief is granted it often continues automatically until the recipient moves from the district or dies.

The inevitable conclusion from this report is that our poor board system is wasteful. That it disregards human values and that it is neither well organized nor well administered.

STUDY OF TAXATION OF REAL PROPERTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 10, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the study of taxation of real property in Pennsylvania by Dr. Edward B. Logan, Budget Secretary.

This study proves conclusively that the small property owner is being taxed much more heavily in proportion to the value of his property than the large property owner.

It shows that our present real estate taxes—not one cent of which goes to the State Government—operate like a graduated income tax in reverse. In other words, the smaller the property, the larger the rate of taxation, which is utterly and shockingly wrong.

Another shocking conclusion of this tax study is that rural property is being taxed more heavily than city property of the same value.

The tax on real property is the largest and most important tax in our whole tax structure. It amounts to $300,000,000 a year—nearly three-fourths of the total paid by the taxpayers to State and local governments.

If the Legislature had accepted my recommendation to establish a State tax commission to equalize our whole system of assessment of property, much progress toward a fairer system would doubtless have been made.

Too much of the burden of government rests upon real property. It should be distributed fairly among those who are best able to pay.

This study was made possible by the Civil Works Administration. It was carried out through the fine cooperation of the presidents and faculty members of 24 colleges throughout the United States.

Simple justice demands prompt action to correct the conditions set forth in this study.

I earnestly commend this highly important tax study to each member of the Legislature in the hope that our whole system of real estate taxation may be overhauled, and that the inequalities of present methods of assessing property may be wiped out.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

FINAL REPORT OF GOVERNOR'S COMMITTEE ON WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the final report of the Governor's Committee on Workmen's Compensation, together with supplementary reports prepared under the direction of the Advisory Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

For convenience this admirable report was published as part of the quarterly Bulletin issued by the Department of Labor and Industry and is transmitted to you in that form.

I urge your earnest consideration of the much-needed amendments to our present law as recommended by this report.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

REPORT OF NEEDLE TRADES COMMISSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to submit herewith for your consideration the report of the Commission I appointed to investigate conditions in the Needle Trades Industry in Lehigh and Northampton Counties.

Although this report was completed some time ago, nevertheless the conditions which it discloses grew up under laws which are still in effect.

While the codes of these industries have doubtless wiped out much of the child labor in sweatshops, that is no reason why Pennsylvania should fail to enact legislation to strengthen our laws covering the employment of women and children in industry.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

REPORT OF FOREIGN TRADE ZONE COMMITTEE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith a report of the Pennsylvania Foreign Trade Zone Committee, appointed by me on August 16, 1934.

The Committee recommends that the Commonwealth set up a Foreign Trade Zone in the Port of Philadelphia in conformity with legislation passed by the United States Congress in June, 1934. Such a zone is an area set apart in a port of entry. It consists of docks and warehouses in which foreign goods entering the country may be stored or, if destined for export, may be transshipped without going through the customs.

Within the zone goods may be shifted from vessel to vessel, or between warehouse and vessel without being subject to customs duty.

No goods, however, may leave the zone without being subject to the regular tariff.

The Committee has submitted a bill to carry out its recommendation.

I commend the report and the bill to your careful consideration.

REPORT ON THE PROBATION OF OFFENDERS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith for your consideration a report on the probation of offenders which was submitted by Hon. Philip Sterling, chairman, and the members of the Probation Program Committee.

Probation is a most hopeful means for the prevention and control of crime. In its study this committee has done a fine job. After much research and study it has drafted a proposed act, submitted herewith, which embodies the committee's major recommendations. They are as follows:

1. The maintenance of accepted standards in probation work.
2. Establishment of standard qualifications in the appointment of probation officers.
3. Definition of the duties and functions of probation officers.
4. Uniformity of probation records.

I recommend the proposed act and the recommendations of the committee to your favorable consideration.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF DELAWARE RIVER SALINITY SURVEY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the preliminary report of the Delaware River Salinity Survey, conducted under the direction of the Sanitary Water Board of the Department of Health.

This survey was a result of the controversy between Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York concerning the impounding of certain of the upper waters of the Delaware River to augment the water supply of the City of New York.

In order to protect Pennsylvania industries and water supplies dependent on the lower reaches of the Delaware River, Pennsylvania authorities asked that certain specified releases of water be made from the impounding of the Delaware waters, to prevent salt water from the lower Delaware from inflicting great injury on Pennsylvania industries and water supplies, especially at or near Philadelphia.

This survey has determined that releases of water already arranged for under a decision of the United States Supreme Court will prevent damage from salinity to Pennsylvania interests.

It establishes standards for the protection of Pennsylvania in any future handling of the waters of the Delaware.

The value of this survey as a basis for guarding Pennsylvania's water supply and industrial interests, now and in the future, is immeasurable.

REPORT OF COMMISSION ON SPECIAL POLICING IN INDUSTRY.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the highly important report of the Commission on Special Policing in Industry, appointed by me on February 9, 1934, to investigate the disorders at Ambridge on or about October 5th, and other disorders growing out of the company-paid deputy sheriff system.

The tyrannies of the industrial police and the company-paid deputy sheriffs have been such as to demand the elimination of these private armies.

I have repeatedly recommended to the General Assembly the repeal of the Industrial Police Act and the abolition of company-paid deputy sheriffs, but without success.

At the beginning of this Administration I revoked all commissions for Industrial Police and refused to issue others. The careful study of this Commission proves conclusively that these private police armies threaten lives of Pennsylvania citizens and prevent justice and industrial peace.

The report, on the basis of extended hearings and field study of actual conditions, recommends legislation prohibiting any private person or corporation from paying directly or indirectly the salaries of deputy sheriffs or the cost of their uniforms or equipment. It recommends careful regulation of county-paid deputy sheriffs, the repeal of the Industrial Police Act, and that in cases of serious industrial disturbances the Governor should be authorized to put State Police in charge.

I commend this study to each of you for careful examination and I hope for speedy enactment of its recommendations.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Which was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT BANK PAYOFF BILL

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, thousands of Pennsylvania citizens are directly and acutely interested in the passage of a "bank payoff bill," and

Whereas, such a measure will shortly be pending in the Congress of the United States, and

Whereas, this "bank payoff bill" will provide that the Federal Government take over the assets of all closed banks in the country, immediately pay in full the depositors and liquidate the assets in the closed banks in an orderly way during a period of twenty years, and

Whereas, such a method of orderly liquidation will greatly enhance the value of frozen assets and will stop deflation of values in real estate and many other bank holdings, and

Whereas, the Federal Government, by thawing out the impounded life saving of ten million Americans, will promote business confidence and activity, will diminish relief payrolls and will be dealing justly with the depositors in closed banks; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation authorizing the Federal Government to take over the assets of all closed banks and immediately pay depositors in full, and especially requests Pennsylvania's Representatives in the Congress of the United States to use every effort consistent with honorable practices to secure the enactment of such legislation;

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officer of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR WARDS OF THE STATE

Mr. HART offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, It appears that existing appropriations for mothers' assistance, old age assistance, blind assistance and to State-aided hospitals is insufficient to fully care for all of the wards of the State who come within this specialized form of care; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that those intrusted with the program for the raising of revenues and the making of appropriations at this session of the General Assembly, take into full consideration the amount necessary to care for the wards of the State referred to in the preamble hereof, in order that they may be adequately protected and maintained through sufficient appropriations.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution lies over for printing under the rules.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT BONUS LEGISLATION

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Many of those who are today unemployed and destitute are those who yesterday bravely and courageously and unselfishly risked life and everything that life held in the service of their country, both here and on the battlefields of France; and

Whereas, This Nation, for which they were willing to make the supreme sacrifice in order that democracy might be preserved, has done naught for them but give its promise to pay an extra bonus for that service at a future time; and

Whereas, If such bonus is due these patroits, as has been admitted by the government's promise to pay, it is far better to give to them when they need as they gave to us when we needed, than to delay until such time as they may not need or may not be here to enjoy; and

Whereas, The payment to these men of the moneys due them would release for circulation several billions of dollars, and would bring not only much needed relief to them, but would greatly stimulate business and give to business the impetus and encouragement that is necessary to insure the return of prosperity to the Nation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to immediately pass the necessary legislation and make the appropriation of moneys required to pay to these heroes of yesterday that which is so badly needed today; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consen is not granted.

RE-ORGANIZATION OF INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Those connected with the insurance busines in this Commonwealth are dissatisfied with the manner i which the Insurance Department is organized, and are o the opinion that the insurance business cannot be properl supervised by the State until the Department is properl manned and bureaus created to handle the supervision o the various kinds of insurance; and

Whereas, The correction of these defects are purely mat ters of administration if sufficient appropriation is mad available; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense o the General Assembly that the Insurance Departmen should be reorganized and that the Insurance Commi sioner, with the approval of the Executive Board as pr vided in the Administrative Code, should provide in sa Department, in addition to other necessary bureaus an divisions, a life insurance bureau, a fire insurance burea and a casualty insurance bureau;

Resolved, That it is the sense of the General Assembl that sufficient appropriation be made in the General A propriation Bill to the Insurance Department in order th this recommendation of the General Assembly may be ca ried into effect.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous co sent for the immediate consideration of the resolutio Is there objection?

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and conse is not granted.

DEPARTMENT OF BANKING TO BE ADEQUATELY MANNED

Mr. STOTT offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

One of the lessons the economic depression has taught us is that our State and Federal examination of banks and other financial institutions has been wholly inadequate, and that government has not insisted on the extreme care and prudence which should be exercised by those intrusted with the savings of our people;

Deposits made with financial institutions were invested by the managers of these institutions in securities which in depression days have little or no value whatever;

When the return of deposits was requested these assets could not be negotiated, with the result that banks were forced to close;

This condition should not be permitted to recur in the future, and it becomes the duty of the State to assure its people that the financial institutions it authorizes to receive deposits of money will be prudently managed in the future; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly requests the Governor and the Secretary of Banking to adequately man the Department of Banking with skilled examiners, that in its examinations the Department insist on the utmost care in the investment of depositor's moneys, that if institutions are found to be negligent, immediate steps be taken to halt improper practices, and to change management, and if this is not done that such institutions be forced to close before deposits are endangered and capital entirely impaired;

Resolved, That the Secretary of Banking be requested to inform the General Assembly of any change needed in the Banking Laws of this Commonwealth in order to accomplish the purposes of this resolution;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor and the Secretary of Banking by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The Speaker. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objections?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The Speaker. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT LEGISLATION FOR LIQUIDATION OF ASSETS OF NATIONAL BANKS

Mr. TURNER offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

The economic depression has bought many calamities to our people not the least of which has been the wiping out of the savings of many of our people through the collapse of banks to which such savings were intrusted for safe keeping and investment;

Within the last several years the National Government, under authority of Congressional action, has credited numerous agencies to administer new functions of government, brought into being to accomplish a single purpose—to break the continuation of the National economic disaster and to restore our former prosperity;

Billions of dollars have and are being raised to care for our people through charity, by a bonus for restricting agricultural production, by employments on public works, by advancing the interest of forestry and through countless other activities, while the savings of the employed and unemployed lie idle in frozen assets of closed National banks established under the supervision of and inspected by agents of the National Government;

Meanwhile many thinking citizens inquire whether such could not be accomplished to restore prosperity of the National Government found ways and means of reimbursing those whose savings have been endangered in institutions fostered by the National Government; therefore be it

Resolve, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact appropriate Federal legislation designed to provide suitable ways and means of taking over or liquidating the frozen assets of National banks as speedily as possible, in order that depositors may be reimbursed to the greatest extent possible and these deposits made available for legitimate channels of trade and commerce;

Resolve, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give it unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objections?

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections and consent is not granted.

REQUESTING RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION TO COOPERATE WITH DEPARTMENT OF BANKING

Mr. GATES offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

The economic depression has resulted in the closing of many of our State banks and trust companies, causing distress to countless trusting depositors;

Progress in the liquidation of these institutions has necessarily been slow since a market could not be found for so-called frozen assets, which in normal times were considered entirely safe investments;

The Federal Government, realizing the necessity of granting assistance in freeing capital invested in such frozen bank assets, empowered the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to take over such of these assets as were considered valuable and to advance cash in order that depositors might be reimbursed to a reasonable extent;

This Federal action deserves the commendation of everyone, but the desired results have seemingly not been accomplished or have been extremely slow of realization as frequently happens in matters of governmental administration; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania respectfully requests those in charge of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to cooperate to the fullest extent possible with the Department of Banking of this Commonwealth in the transfer to it of the assets of closed Pennsylvania State banks and trust companies, to the end that the deposits of our people may be freed and made available for the channels of trade and commerce;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

RELIEF LEGISLATION TO BE ENACTED BEFORE ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CANNON offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Again we here assembled for legislation to benefit this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Very few if any man made laws satisfy every one; and

Whereas, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT has stated no one would starve has placed his best efforts to remedy the situation; and

Whereas, Big business still seeks to run our government invisibly for selfish interest of a minority; and

Whereas, Conditions prevailing demand active legislation of merit for the Protection, Welfare, Health, and Happiness, a program beneficial to HUMANITY are much sought; and

Whereas, Evictions still continue, foreclosures on mortgages prevail, many persons destitute, distress in institutions, improvements are sought, the welfare of those employed in industry should be considered, jobs, work and positions should be created; and

Whereas, The diligence previously rendered has brought upon this Commonwealth and many of its citizens unhappiness, expense, and burdensome taxation.

Therefore Be It Resolved, (should the Senate concur), The majority in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expressed their desire for a continuation of the New Deal, active legislation considered early in as short a period of time as possible and no adjournment should be sought until this task before us is completed; and

Be It Further Resolved, We think deeply and bravely we are still Pennsylvanian's who should realize relief should come from many sources, including a job for all, that they have the opportunity to earn many month's pay to provide domestic happiness, purchasing power from which business shall benefit prior to the coming Christmas of this year and each year hereafter.

AMENDING LEGISLATION PREVENTING PROPER FUNCTIONING OF STATE GOVERNMENT

Mr. CANNON offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, This Commonwealth of Pennsylvania needs rehabilitation noted by the form of Government the majority decided on by the change that shall eventually take place; and

Whereas, In this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania much eventually shall be said regarding the Constitution of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, It appears fundamentally necessary to remedy the situation in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania humane legislation sought action for the same should be granted the new administration under the guidance of George H. Earle Jr.; and

Whereas, A majority of the people in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania placed confidence in his Excellency the Governor elect to secure domestic happiness; and

Therefore Be It Resolved, (should the Senate concur), Any legislation previously enacted preventing this State Government from properly functioning by any previous set-up or part thereof should be amended; and

Be It Further Resolved, Any legislation or set-up that prevails proving inconsistent for the welfare of the people and their State government repeal should be in order to remedy the situation beneficial to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

INVESTIGATION OF ADMINISTRATION OF STATE EMERGENCY RELIEF

Mr. CANNON offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, In this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania there prevails a State Emergency Relief Board who constitute the authority to allocate funds to the various counties set-up for the purpose of direct relief or work relief; and

Whereas, The County Relief Board of the County of Philadelphia constitutes the authority in Philadelphia to render decisions by the set-up they term beneficial; and

Whereas, Direct relief sought from many angles by those in distress, food orders, coal, clothing, shoes and many other necessities made available and disposed of through the set-up termed by many in authority that were compensated by wages or salaries for their services rendered and

Whereas, Work relief created by projects authorized in local communities by which employment created came under the jurisdiction of the State Emergency Relief Administration, Local Works Division and County Relief Board.

Therefore Be It Resolved, (should the Senate concur) A complete investigation by a committee of four members of the house appointed by the Speaker of the House and a committee of three members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tempore be granted power to constitute the authority for conducting hearings to obtain any evidence they seek regarding relief and the distribution or disbursing of

Resolved, Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths or affirmations to witness appearing before it, any person who shall wilfully neglect to appear and testify before said committee or refuse to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by law of this Commonwealth.

Resolved, That an item be inserted in the General Appropriation bill to pay the expenses of said committee.

URGING INFLATION THROUGH PRESIDENTIAL ACTION

Mr. CANNON offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In The House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Recovery is worth all it costs the New Deal is at crossroads and

Whereas, Instead of States trying to dominate the Federal Government, we have private bankers trying to dominate our Federal Treasury; and

Whereas, The framers of the United States Constitution in Article 1 Section 8 very wisely said, "Congress shall have the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof,"

Whereas, We do not desire to and will not destroy our monetary system; and

Whereas, Our Government under the leadership of our great President Franklin Delano Roosevelt is making a determined effort to restore prosperity to the people, much has been done toward helping wage earners, laborers, farmers, home-owners, business, industry and commerce and

Whereas, Debts have been scaled down, extended and interest charges reduced, the issuance and distribution of money is a governmental function; and

Whereas, The Federal Reserve Banks should be taken over by the Government and operated in the interest of the people, Banks, Industry and Commerce. No private Corporation or Corporation Owned by private Corporation should have the right to issue money. The Government should issue currency when in need of money instead of tax exemption interest bearing bonds; and

Whereas, A billion dollars a year can be used by the Federal Government to a better advantage than paying it as interest on Government Bonds that may be used as a basis for the issuance of currency.

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the President of the United States to move at once for a substantial and effective inflation for creation of at least ten billion of dollars in new credit for its immediate distribution and for its control through a government operated central banks, which shall provide vast new appropriations for the Public Works Administration to be expended liberally and swiftly in addition provide the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with funds to pay off the depositors who trusted the Governments call for faith in their banks.

Resolved, Copies of this resolution be transmitted by the clerk of the Senate of the President of the United States to both Members of the United States Senate and each Member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

URGING CONSIDERATION OF NEEDS OF HOSPITALS

Mr. JONES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, The attention of the members of this House has been called to the fact that the Commonwealth is up to six months in arrears in appropriation payments to more than one hundred and sixty State-aided hospitals; and

Whereas, The State Treasurer has announced that all such payments have been suspended on account of a lack of sufficient State funds; and

Whereas, The continued withholding of the payments to these hospitals of the amounts due them under the provisions of appropriations heretofore made will force them to drastically reduce their service which will in turn mean untold suffering and misery; and

Whereas, It is necessary in order to avert this suffering and misery and to sustain the honor of this Commonwealth to, at once, raise sufficient revenue to pay to these hospitals the amounts due them; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the wish of this House that the Ways and Means Committee thereof shall immediately consider the urgent need of these hospitals and determine upon some method of raising the funds required to make the payments due, and report to this House the necessary bills to provide therefore in order that they may continue to furnish to those in need such hospitalization as may be necessary for their health and welfare; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be handed to the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee for immediate consideration by that Committee.

RELIEF TO BE IN CASH

Mr. JONES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Vast numbers of unemployed persons are now forced to accept charity from the Commonwealth through no fault of their's, and

Whereas, This necessity to receive help when they are able, willing and anxious to work is humiliating and embarrassing to those who have heretofore amply provided for the needs of themselves and their dependents; and

Whereas, The present method of affording relief to these unfortunate persons as practiced by the Commonwealth and the Federal government through commissaries and store orders but adds to their natural embarrasment and humiliation; and

Whereas, Much of the food and clothing furnished by relief agencies is wasted and dissipated by those who receive it on account of not being adapted to their needs; and

Whereas, The payment to these unfortunates of the money necessary to sustain life would not only relieve them of the embarrassment and humiliation now suffered, but would effect a great saving in the distribution of relief by those charged therewith; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That hereafter all relief distributed by the Commonwealth from funds appropriated for that purpose shall be in the form of cash, that all commissaries now operating shall be closed, that the practice of furnishing store orders shall be discontinued, and that the legislation necessary to bring about this end shall be speedily passed by this General Assembly.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PAY BONUS

Mr. JONES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, the Federal government has from its immense resources found it possible to expend large sums of money for the relief of the farmer and many who heretofore have found agriculture pursuits to be most unprofitable are now comfortably existing on moneys received for slaughtering pigs or plowing under various crops or for not planting their usual acreage in corn or wheat or cotton; and

Whereas, Relief in some form has been provided for large utilities, for banks, and for communities, and no great difficulty seems to have been met in obtaining the funds necessary for this most necessary and beneficial form of relief; and

Whereas, In spite of this unusual outlay, those valiant sons of yesteryear who so willingly and cheerfully and bravely undertook the great adventure to secure and insure for us the peace of the world, remain uncared for; and

Whereas, Those heroes who crossed the seas and fought on foreign soil in order that we might be safe, have, for their sacrifices received only the promise that years from now their just claims will be satisfied; and

Whereas, It is now, when their need is the greatest, that those defenders of our national honor should receive full payment from the government that recognized their rights and promised compensation; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize and urge the Congress of the United States to consider and pass the legislation necessary to appropriate and immediately pay to those engaged in the World War the amount of the bonus still due; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the House of my predecessor, the former Speaker, and I am sure that every member of this House will be glad to hear a few words from him. The Chair wishes to introduce the former Speaker of this House, Mr. Grover C. Talbot of Delaware county.

REMARKS OF HON. GROVER C. TALBOT.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, the House will be in order and in the words of the lady from Philadelphia, Miss Brancato, who presided over your deliberations on your opening day, "When I say 'Order' I mean order."

It is a real privilege and honor to be called to the rostrum once more in this legislative hall. Were it not early in your session, I would hesitate to take any of your time because after having served ten years in this legislative hall, it is the most natural thing in the world that I shall probably be here a great part of the time during your session.

May I congratulate the majority of the present constituted House in your selection of your Speaker, the honorable gentleman from Berks county. I had the pleasure of serving with him during the ten years that I was a member, and I believe that you have chosen wisely and well, because he is a man that has both feet on the ground. The office of Speaker is rather a trying one, because one to be elected must be a partisan, and yet after assuming the duties of Speaker must immediately become non-partisan and give his decisions with justice to all.

We thought that in the session of 1933, over which I had the honor of presiding, we were faced at that time with problems that had been unheard of since the time of the Civil War, and I am inclined to believe that that is true. The members of the House having the interests of ten millions of people of this great Commonwealth, holding their interests above everything else, passed legislation that did assist them and, happily, with all its appropriations of large sums of money for the unemployed so that not one soul, man, woman or child; need go hungry in this great Commonwealth.

You are presented and confronted with problems of even more moment than the session of 1933, but I am satisfied as true Pennsylvanians you will face your duties in a non-partisan manner and will legislate for the benefit of all the people of Pennsylvania.

I again thank you for having given me this opportunity of speaking once more from this rostrum.

The SPEAKER. The Chair takes this occasion to thank the gentleman from Delaware county, our former Speaker, most sincerely not only on behalf of the Chair but on behalf of the membership of this House.

The Chair has always entertained a very high regard for the gentleman from Delaware county. During the many years that the Chair has served in this House no better Speaker has presided over this House, and no fairer one, than the gentleman from Delaware county, and the Chair will feel highly gratified if he can reach the high mark set for him by his predecessor, the gentleman from Delaware county.

Again I thank you.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS PERMITTED.

The SPEAKER. The members are now privileged to introduce their bills by filing them with the Clerk, and in doing so be certain that all three copies are signed, keeping the unbacked copy for your personal file.

The chairman of the various committees of the House will consult with the Chief Clerk for assignment to rooms for the purpose of holding committee meetings.

It is important that announcements be made in advance at the close of each session and when possible by the chairman of the committees. Send your notice of time and place of meeting to the reading clerk and see that they are posted on the blackboard at the House postoffice. This must not be neglected by the chairmen of the various committees.

INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to ask the Chairman of the Inaugural Committee, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, whether he has any announcement to make at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, all of the members of the House have received in their boxes the order of the day giving the inaugural program. All members of the House would do well to wear their badges tomorrow and save themselves inconvenience in getting into the Capitol building after ten o'clock.

Members of the House who have been in the habit of parking their cars out in front will not be able to park them out in front tomorrow.

All members of the House should have received three tickets. I have found that three of the members, including two members of the Inaugural Committee, have failed to receive their tickets. I am taking this matter up with the chairman of the Senate Inaugural Committee and with the chairman of the local committee, who is primarily responsible for the failure of the members to receive their tickets. I will try to get the missing tickets before ten o'clock tomorrow.

The members of the Inaugural Committee are requested to meet in the ante-chamber of the Governor's office at 11:30 tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the chairman of the Inaugural Committee for his announcement.

CHAIRMAN OF INAUGURAL COMMITTEE INTERROGATED

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, for the benefit of the members of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHUGARTS. Mr. Speaker, in our mail this evening every member of the House received an additional ticket. I understand that each member has already received his two former tickets. Now, there is a question among the members of the House as to whether or not this ticket has to be used by the member personally, and I would like to have the gentleman from Cambria explain that for the benefit of the members of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, my understanding is that the ticket that the members received this evening is for the member personally. The other two tickets are for the members of his family or his friends.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the members of the House, the Chair wishes to inform them that the Chief Clerk has just informed the Chair that the tickets in the postoffice are not needed by the members of the House.

The members of the House will march to the inaugural stand in a body and they will not need any tickets for themselves.

The Chair further informs the members of the House that those tickets are merely souvenirs.

The members of the House will be admitted by their official House badge after 10:00 a.m. tomorrow, and employees must be admitted by cards furnished by the Chief Clerk after 10:00 a.m. tomorrow. All admissions will be at the door at the rear of the Capitol after 10:00 a. m. tomorrow. The front of the Capitol will be closed.

The Chair has an important announcement to make at this time. Members are requested by the Chief of Police to remove their cars from the plaza at or before midnight and to park them back of the main building. Members' cars will be parked all day tomorrow in the place provided for them in the rear of the main building.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time wishes to announce the following appointments: Clerk of the Speaker, Mr. Cliff J. Ryan of Allegheny County; Stenographer to the Speaker, Miss E. Mae Sarig of Berks County; Page to the Speaker, Paul A. Fickes of Dauphin County.

COMMITTEE ON RULES APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time wishes to announce the membership of the Committee on Rules: Messrs. Ruth, Cohen, Andrews, Thurman and Sinwell.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair has a very important announcement to make at this time. The Chair will adhere strictly to the rules of this House relating to decorum. No one but members themselves will be permitted to occupy the seats of the members, nor have chairs at the members' desks, nor interrupt during the sessions of the House. The Chair asks the cooperation of the whole membership in this regard.

The Chair further wishes to add that he has had a number of complaints from members in the rear part of the House that they cannot hear the proceedings at the desk because of the conversation and the noise that has been carried on by a number of the visitors.

There has never been a time in the history of Pennsylvania when public officials were under such close scrutiny by the general public as they are today, and every member of this House is entitled to be heard and furthermore is entitled to hear clearly the proceedings at this desk.

The members of this House will be held responsible by their constituents for their vote, and every move made in this House, and it is only fair to the membership of this House that strict order and decorum shall be maintained, and the Chair proposes to maintain it.

The Chair does not wish to be understood as being impatient or harsh, but the Chair is determined to maintain order at all costs, even if he has to go to the extreme of removing all visitors in back of the rail and from the side of the house. The Chair is determined that the members' rights must be respected by those who have the privilege of coming here as visitors. The Chair is glad to have them, but hereafter will insist that they must preserve strict order and decorum while this House is in session. This is not only fair to the membership but it is due in justice to the members. It is not the privilege but it is the duty of the Chair to maintain order and to protect the members in their rights, first to hear, and, second, to be heard.

The Chair hopes that a word to the wise is sufficient. If necessary the Chair will be ready to resort to drastic measures to maintain order and decorum hereafter.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT OF DELAWARE RIVER SALINITY SURVEY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the preliminary report of the Delaware River Salinity Survey, conducted under the direction of the Sanitary Water Board of the Department of Health.

This survey was a result of the controversy between Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York concerning the impounding of certain of the upper waters of the Delaware River to augment the water supply of the City of New York.

In order to protect Pennsylvania industries and water supplies dependent on the lower reaches of the Delaware River, Pennsylvania authorities asked that certain specified releases of water be made from the impounding of the Delaware waters, to prevent salt water from the lower Delaware from inflicting great injury on Pennsylvania industries and water supplies, especially at or near Philadelphia.

This survey has determined that releases of water already arranged for under a decision of the United States Supreme Court will prevent damage from salinity to Pennsylvania interests.

It establishes standards for the protection of Pennsylvania in any future handling of the waters of the Delaware.

The value of this survey as a basis for guarding Pennsylvania's water supply and industrial interests, now and in the future, is immeasurable.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The Communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

STUDY OF POOR RELIEF ADMINISTRATION IN PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith for your consideration a study of poor relief administration in Pennsylvania.

This report, prepared by the Department of Welfare, shows conclusively that poor relief in Pennsylvania is being conducted on a 17th century basis.

Nothing demonstrates more clearly the need of a thorough overhauling of our poor board system than the fact, disclosed in this report, that tax levies for poor relief purposes ranged from nothing at all in some districts to the legal limit of 10 mills in others.

Another astonishing fact is that a rise in poor tax levies from 1928 to 1932 was accompanied by a steady decline of average collections from 78.5 per cent of levies in 1928 to 67.9 per cent in 1932. Thirty-four poor districts collected less than 50 per cent of their levies in 1933.

The report also indicates that many poor boards have no standards for granting relief and none for discontinuing relief. Once relief is granted it often continues automatically until the recipient moves from the district or dies.

The inevitable conclusion from this report is that our poor board system is wasteful. That it disregards human values and that it is neither well organized nor well administered.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT OF BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith in conformity with the law the report of the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. To promote uniformity between the laws of the various states becomes more and more necessary year by year. The need to prevent wide variation in State practice appears in the various State statutes on taxation, crime, labor, and many other subjects of profound importance.

I commend to your careful attention the report of this Commission.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

STUDY OF TAXATION OF REAL PROPERTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 10, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the study of taxation of real property in Pennsylvania by Dr. Edward B. Logan, Budget Secretary.

This study proves conclusively that the small property owner is being taxed much more heavily in proportion to the value of his property than the large property owner.

It shows that our present real estate taxes—not one cent of which goes to the State Government—operate like a graduated income tax in reverse. In other words, the smaller the property, the larger the rate of taxation, which is utterly and shockingly wrong.

Another shocking conclusion of this tax study is that rural property is being taxed more heavily than city property of the same value.

The tax on real property is the largest and most important tax in our whole tax structure. It amounts to $300,000,000 a year—nearly three-fourths of the total paid by the taxpayers to State and local governments.

If the Legislature had accepted my recommendation to establish a State tax commission to equalize our whole system of assessment of property, much progress toward a fairer system would doubtless have been made.

Too much of the burden of government rests upon real property. It should be distributed fairly among those who are best able to pay.

This study was made possible by the Civil Works Administration. It was carried out through the fine cooperation of the presidents and faculty members of 24 colleges throughout the United States.

Simple justice demands prompt action to correct the conditions set forth in this study.

I earnestly commend this highly important tax study to each member of the Legislature in the hope that our whole system of real estate taxation may be overhauled, and that the inequalities of present methods of assessing property may be wiped out.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The Communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT ON PROBATION OF OFFENDERS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith for your consideration a report on the probation of offenders which was submitted by Hon. Philip Sterling, chairman, and the members of the Probation Program Committee.

Probation is a most hopeful means for the prevention and control of crime. In its study this committee has done a fine job. After much research and study it has drafted a proposed act, submitted herewith, which embodies the committee's major recommendations. They are as follows:

1. The maintenance of accepted standards in probation work.
2. Establishment of standard qualifications in the appointment of probation officers.
3. Definition of the duties and functions of probation officers.
4. Uniformity of probation records.

I recommend the proposed act and the recommendations of the committee to your favorable consideration.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

FINAL REPORT OF GOVERNOR'S COMMITTEE ON WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the final report of the Governor's Committee on Workmen's Compensation, together with supplementary reports prepared under the direction of the Advisory Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

For convenience this admirable report was published as part of the quarterly bulletin issued by the Department of Labor and Industry and is transmitted to you in that form.

I urge your earnest consideration of the much needed amendments to our present law as recommended by this report.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

STUDY OF STATE AID TO PRIVATE WELFARE AGENCIES

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the study of State aid to private welfare agencies in Pennsylvania, made by the Welfare Commission.

State aid to local institutions in order to justify the expenditures, must be properly handled by these institutions. The opportunities for abuse are great.

The Welfare Commission has made a careful study of the entire problem, and has made recommendations which will be of basic importance in the proper handling of State aid.

I commend the findings of this committee to your careful consideration.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT OF PENNSYLVANIA FOREIGN TRADE ZONE COMMITTEE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith a report of the Pennsylvania Foreign Trade Zone Committee, appointed by me on August 16, 1934.

The Committee recommends that the Commonwealth set up a Foreign Trade Zone in the Port of Philadelphia in conformity with legislation passed by the United States Congress in June, 1934. Such a zone is an area set apart in a port of entry. It consists of docks and warehouses in which foreign goods entering the country may be stored or, if destined for export, may be transshipped without going through the customs.

Within the zone goods may be shifted from vessel to vessel, or between warehouse and vessel without being subject to customs duty.

No goods, however, may leave the zone wtihout being subject to the regular tariff.

The Committee has submitted a bill to carry out its recommendation.

I commend the report and the bill to your careful consideration.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT OF COMMISSION ON SPECIAL POLICING IN INDUSTRY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the highly important report of the Commission on Special Policing in Industry, appointed by me on February 9, 1934, to investigate the disorders at Ambridge on or about October 5th, and other disorders growing out of the company-paid deputy sheriff system.

The tyrannies of the industrial police and the company-paid deputy sheriffs have been such as to demand the elimination of these private armies.

I have repeatedly recommended to the General Assembly the repeal of the Industrial Police Act and the abolition of company-paid deputy sheriffs, but without success.

At the beginning of this Administration I revoked all commissions for Industrial Police and refused to issue others. The careful study of this Commission proves conclusively that these private police armies threaten lives of Pennsylvania citizens and prevent justice and industrial peace.

The report, on the basis of extended hearings and field study of actual conditions, recommends legislation prohibiting any private person or corporation from paying directly or indirectly the salaries of deputy sheriffs or the cost of their uniforms or equipment. It recommends careful regulation of county-paid deputy sheriffs, the repeal of the Industrial Police Act, and that in cases of serious industrial disturbances the Governor should be authorized to put State Police in charge.

I commend this study to each of you for careful examination and I hope for speedy enactment of its recommendations.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

RECOMMENDATIONS ON PENAL PROGRAM.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the report and recommendations of a committee on the penal program of Pennsylvania.

This committee, composed of the outstanding Pennsylvania experts on prison management, has made a careful study of penitentiaries and prisons, and has presented to me an admirable report.

Many of its recommendations have already been put into effect. Other recommendations remain to be carried out.

In view of the disorders at the Eastern State Penitentiary during the past year, recommendations regarding Cherry Hill and Graterford are of particular importance.

I commend the report of this committee to you for careful study.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The Communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REPORT OF COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE NEEDLE TRADES INDUSTRY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 14, 1935.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to submit herewith for your consideration the report of the Commission I appointed to investigate conditions in the Needle Trades Industry in Lehigh and Northampton Counties.

Although this report was completed some time ago, nevertheless the conditions which it discloses grew up under laws which are still in effect.

While the codes of these industries have doubtless wiped out much of the child labor in sweatshops, that is no reason why Pennsylvania should fail to enact legislation to strengthen our laws covering the employment of women and children in industry.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the accompanying report will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following appointment to compute from the date of confirmation:

Mrs. Ida Bailey Heilman, of Manorsville, Armstrong County, as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund of Armstrong County, vice Mrs. Nettie Stockdale, deceased, until June 1, 1935, and until her successor is duly appointed and qualified.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I note with keen satisfaction that a distinguished fellow Lancaster Countian, General Shannon, has been appointed Chief Military Aide to Governor-elect Earle, and I know this will be shared by all the members of this Senate over which he has presided with such marked courtesy during the last four years.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON JUDGE RHODES

Mr. Huffman offered the following resolution, which was twice read considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 15, 1935.

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait on the Honorable Chester H. Rhodes, Judge of the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and escort him to the Senate Chamber for the purpose of administering the oath of office to Honorable Thomas Kennedy, Lieutenant-Governor-elect.

RESOLUTION IN REFERENCE TO ADJOURNING TAX SALES

Mr. MALLORY offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid upon the table:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 15, 1935.

Whereas, Under existing law the county treasurers of the various counties will be required to hold tax sales of returned seated lands during the month of February, 1935; and

Whereas, When the act which fixed said time as the latest date to which tax sales could be adjourned was adopted, the General Assembly presumed that the effects of the economic depression would be spent and the necessity for further adjournment no longer urgent; and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before said date fixed for said tax sales to authorize further adjournment; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the county treasurers of the various counties of this Commonwealth, if the county commissioners and the court of common pleas of such counties consent thereto, to further adjourn any tax sale which under existing law is required to be held during the month of February, 1935, and the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to validate any such adjournment of a tax sale, and to provide by law for the holding of such adjourned tax sales at a future date, saving the lien of all taxes assessed against real estate which was to be sold at such sales.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT

The PRESIDENT. It is possibly fitting at this time, gentlemen of the Senate of Pennsylvania, to express to you my appreciation of this experience I have had with your body in the last four years. It has been rather a novel experience to me, because prior to that time I had had no experience with a legislative body. Outside of earning a living, my business was that of being a soldier of the State and Nation, and to have had this opportunity in these last four years to preside over this dignified body, the Senate of Pennsylvania, is an honor that comes to few men, and to me in particular I believe has been a wonderful education.

We have had two regular and four special, or extraordinary, sessions during that period of time; there has been legislation enacted here to the benefit of mankind, and there is more to follow; and I want to take this opportunity, before my successor arrives to take the oath, to tell you how much I appreciate the courtesies you have extended me and the kindnesses I have had at your hands, and the fine way in which we have worked here together. It has been a happy family.

There have been times when partisan politics existed, but in a very, very mild form. It has been one of the happiest four years in my rather long life experience, and I take away with me from here today the satisfaction of having served with a body of gentlemen which is an honor to themselves and to the great Commonwealth of which we are all citizens. I thank you very much for the courtesies you have extended me.

The Lieutenant-Governor-Elect was then escorted to the space in front of the Clerk's desk.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT

After which the oath of office was duly administered to the Honorable Thomas Kennedy, by the Honorable Chester H. Rhodes, Judge of the Superior Court.

GENERAL EDWARD C. SHANNON. Gentlemen of the Senate, it is a great pleasure for me this morning to present my successor, the Honorable Thomas Kennedy, a man who came up from the bottom and has proceeded along life's highway to the top. I present to you your new President, the Honorable Thomas Kennedy, Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania, to whom I turn over the gavel and the authority of office.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR THOMAS KENNEDY

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. General Shannon, members of the Senate and friends:

Permit me to avail myself of this opportunity to express to the citizens of Pennsylvania my sincere thanks and appreciation of the great distinction and honor that they have conferred upon me in electing me to the office of Lieutenant Governor, the second highest office in the Commonwealth.

We are at the threshold of a new administration in the affairs of this great State. It is not only safe to assume, but right to say that the people of this Commonwealth on November sixth last charted a clear, definite course of action for the legislative and executive branches of our government to follow.

Economic security and social justice constitute the vital factors in the program not only approved by the people, but demanded by them to be made effective and applied fairly and honestly. It is the duty of all of us under our representative form of government to be truly representative and responsive to the needs of the changing economic and social order.

Slavery to tradition, or blind adherence to obsolete theories, or service to vested interests as against human rights were voted out of the picture and have no place in either the foundation or the superstructure of the new order calculated to bring to our people a greater measure of security, justice and happiness.

In the application of this program we have a great opportunity for service. This program of pledges is now beyond party lines. It is a sacred covenant with the people. Its adoption by the legislative branch of government and its honest administration by the executive branch will do much to restore confidence in government and hope for continuing progress in the solution of our difficulties.

These pledges referred to, when consummated, will help to bring about a readjustment of our glaringly unfair distribution of wealth and will not only build for greater purchasing power but will lighten the load on labor, which is heavily laden by the burdens, sorrows and hardships as residual sufferers of the collapse of our economic system.

In a legislative way we can do much to bring about security for the people of this state. Security for the home. Security in a job. Security in an income to provide the proper standard of living. Security in employment, in old age, in sickness and from want. Security is the new Keystone for Pennsylvania.

This security for the people will mean security in government, in democracy and in our institutions. Let us invest in security and we will draw as dividends the greatest wealth of all—the wealth that flows from a free, happy, prosperous and contented people.

As president of the Senate it shall be my great privilege to assist in every way possible to bring about the necessary and needed legislation to consolidate our gains and progressively push forward to the just solution of our economic and social problems. I shall at all times be fair and just in my decisions, with full opportunity for debate and proper consideration of all matters before the Senate. In this connection I believe that I voice the sentiment of the people of this State when I say that all pieces of legislation are entitled to be passed upon by the membership of the Senate, and that we shall never again in Pennsylvania hear of proposed legislation being pickled, killed or sidetracked by those subservient methods so well known in the past.

Means must and shall be found to prevent and/or expose such methods.

On the common ground of service and democracy we can all unite for orderly, fair and proper consideration of all matters. We can and must subscribe to the principle of majority rule. In the final analysis we represent the people, and the greatest tribute that can be paid to us is the knowledge that the people can properly and will proudly say "well done, thou good and faithful servants," and we shall indeed be proud that we played our part in making Pennsylvania a better place in which to work and in which to live.

I thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

Earle, of Haverford, Montgomery County, as Governor of the Commonwealth for the ensuing four years was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate, as follows:

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS TO BE PRINTED IN LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Inaugural Address of Governor Earle be printed in full in the Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE H. EARLE

In this oath I have pledged myself to serve the people of Pennsylvania as best I can. These are desperately trying times, bitter times. You are asking "Where are we going? Where do you want to lead us?"

Solemnly, with the echo of the oath still upon us, I answer that we are going, along with the rest of this nation, to new ground. Politically and economically a change is necessary. The misery of millions, the insecurity of all, bids us vacate the too easy tolerance into which we were lulled during the past decade.

America in its pioneer days was hardy and barefooted, shirt-sleeved, sharp-eyed. America was then ready for whatever came, always striving for a better pasture over the hill. We're going back to that spirit today. Not literally, not seeking new land, but seeking into the future for the security and freedom that makes all land, all property, all life worth while. America is going pioneering across the mountains of special privilege and predatory wealth that fancies itself securely founded. Pennsylvania, in my administration, is going with America. The further we are toward the fore, the better.

Every now and then history sits down and rests. The short-sighted say "Now the last frontier is closed. No change is ended." But the last frontier is never closed. This summons cannot be ignored or evaded with impunity.

The punishment of history has descended again and again on those who closed their eyes to the summons. Disintegration, decay, extinction are the inevitable fate of a nation which refuses to change when the times command change. The jungle creeps back upon the untended clearing, the sea finds a way through the once adequate ke. When the old enemy is stamped out, a way must found to defeat the new.

We can no more shirk our pioneering task than the men ho first landed on these shores could turn their backs the wilderness in front of them.. We must plunge into d cut away the undergrowth and build. We must exore and experiment; be watchful and not content to rest ntil our security is attained.

Our ancestors fought their way forward with axes and ows. Today's pioneering calls for the subtler, but no ss necessary tools of the mind. The obstacles and angers around us are not the work of external nature, t creations of our ancestors and of ourselves.

Our dangers consist of institutions, practices, fulcrums political and economic power which exist to the detrient of the people as a whole.

We were building a vast technical machine in these last 0 years. We were improving the methods of agricul-re. revolutionizing the processes of industry. We broke rough one material frontier after another. But we for-t that no nation is stronger than the law and the moral-y that bind it together. We forgot one of the oldest ssons of history—that changed physical conditions call r new political institutions.

I do not mean, of course, that we must try to wipe out e past by revolution or too hasty change. There are ndamental institutions which I believe, will endure in e fields of economics and politics for thousands of years. emocracy and private property, for instance, may no ore be successfully replaced today than the ancient prinples of the lever and the wheel have been displaced by r progress in the field of mechanics.

But the right of private property does not mean to me mething exactly and precisely defined down to the last tail and the definition graven on stone and buried somehere in the vaults of antiquity.

It means this: Individual ownership of material goods terms adapted to serve best the needs of any given mmunity at any given time. When private ownership s been a successful institution, it has meant just that. hen private ownership, or any other institution, has set elf against fundamental changes, it has been found wantg. This I believe to be the liberal position, the attitude cessary for permanent recovery.

I believe in the profit motive. I believe in private nership. They provide the only basis for our present ilization and its future progress. But we cannot espe the fact that today private ownership means the wnership" of nothing by the majority of our citizens. cept through charity, they have not even obtained sufient of the product of private ownership to keep alive. uld any situation be more calculated to undermine faith private ownership than this?

The timorous cry of mistaken self-interest quavers that slightest modification of the present political attitude ward business foreshadows the doom of capitalism.

f the reactionaries would turn their eyes in the opposite ection they would have more justifiable cause for alarm. nger does lie ahead for capitalism and for democracy, less we are ready to change many of our institutions l practices. Russia is the proof. All Europe today is panorama of the decay of nations which will not face necessity for sane, sensible progress.

From Austria I watched that disintegration with my own eyes and I returned to be your candidate for Governor with the question in my heart "Will my nation be strong enough, intelligent enough, courageous enough, to avoid that fate?" I believe the answer is "Yes" but I believe the victory will take some fighting and work. It is worth it.

I want to be a part of this fight. I want to share this work. My program was stated fully and I hope clearly during the campaign. As I restate it now, you will not find it changed. My convictions have not altered. Rather they have strengthened as the depression continues and the enemies of reform give stronger evidence that they intend to block recovery.

My fundamental conviction is that life must be made more secure for those millions who, by the accident of birth, are left at the mercy of economic forces. I see no just reason for the relative present security which I personally enjoy, by the grace of chance, while most of my fellow citizens are never at any time separated by more than a hair from want and misery. The gulf is too wide, the contrast too sharp. I have long felt in my heart that there is something basically wrong with this disparity. And with my eyes I have seen what is wrong during this depression.

The benefits of all our progress have gone to a few, though it was the masses that made the progress possible. The few cannot go further without the many. The few who enjoy wealth are chained, not only by bonds of humanity, but by bonds of cold economics to those who now falter by the wayside through no fault of their own.

What is our material wealth? It is made up of factories, farms, stores and mines in which the needs of men are made and distributed. When that distribution stops, when production stops, wealth vanishes. No man is so rich that his fortune can long endure without that foundation of all business—customers. Customers—in this mass production age—means the whole body of labor.

For a long time past, labor has not received its proper share of the profits of industry. The farmer is not getting his proper share of the profits of the farm.

By "proper" I do not only mean fair and just—I mean the share which is called for by the iron necessity of the business setup of this country.

I mean that America needs new markets for the products of her machines and farms. We cannot find them abroad. We cannot find them on Mars. We must create new markets by increased purchasing power to the customers of industry, the masses who labor in field, factory and store.

As Governor of this State, which is truly the keystone of America's industrial system, I shall wage a determined fight to re-adjust the balance of purchasing power. Minimum wage laws, abolition of sweatshops, protection of the right of unionization, decent workmen's compensation laws and unemployment insurance are but a few of the lines on which this fight must be won. Child labor must never return.

Pennsylvania has lagged behind in legislation and executive policy in this vital field. Some of our so-called better citizens have boasted that labor was weak in Pennsylvania, that this was a "good" State for employers. That boast sticks in their throats today if they have intelligence enough to realize that the depression has been intensified here precisely because Pennsylvania lagged in labor legislation.

Nor am I going to forget the veterans of industry and the veterans of agriculture, who have just as much claim upon the State as the veterans of our wars. In settled rural communities of a century ago, old age brought its recompense. It brought rest and the security in which the younger members of the family carried on in the well-loved fields to earn the living by which they supported their parents.

That is gone now. Filial devotion has not died. Sons still want to care for their parents. But often they cannot. The shift and strain, the insecurity has become too great. If they can save a penny, they need it for their own wives and children. No man knows today what economic misfortune tomorrow will bring. So the aged, who, in their prime, built the present are shunted out into economic and social oblivion.

This army of worthy old men and women is beaten into exile from the economic system at every crisis, just as aged inhabitants of besieged cities were once sent to die outside the walls so they would not deplete the rations.

We who revert to this barbarism have not even the excuse of necessity. We have the machines, the tools, the materials to produce enough for all without sacrifice. We can feed these aged.

Then in the name of humanity and hard-headed sense, let us feed them. Let us give them a decent life in their own homes when their work is done. An old-age pension system is not a sentimental gesture. It is as much a necessity of modern life as steel and electricity. It fits into the jigsaw puzzle the world is trying to reconstruct from the aftermath of the industrial revolution of the nineteenth century.

A moment ago I spoke of the ancient security of rural communities. They are no longer secure. Not only does the weight of an unjust taxation and monetary fluctuation bear them down, but they have fallen into the control of big business which has impoverished them with one hand while it exploits the consumer with the other.

I refer in particular to certain of the large milk distributors, operating in this and other States. When I look at the recent history of these companies in their relation to the farmer and to the public, I am driven to one conclusion—that the men in charge of them hope to clean up personal fortunes in a few years and get out before public indignation catches up with them. They cannot be looking far ahead. After all, the human worm will turn. And if ever there was occasion for public resentment, these certain milk distributors have given that provocation.

Milk is the most vital of all necessities that can be dealt in commercially. The public is at the mercy of its milk supply. Moreover, in this part of the nation, dairying is the backbone of agriculture.

Yet these men have had the effrontery to attack the roots of both our rural and urban existence. Briefly, they kept up the price of milk through the depression so that fewer and fewer persons could buy enough. With the consumption of milk fallen below half the amount necessary for minimum healthful diet standards, they turn to the farmer and cut his income on the plea that a milk "surplus" exists.

Surplus, indeed. I know where that surplus is—and so do they. It is in the fat salaries that these men who dominate the milk trust receive. It is in the watered stock of some of these companies. That's the only surplus in the milk business.

These companies maintain a virtual monopoly. They fix prices to the consumer. They fix prices to the farmer. And the difference between the two returned some of the larger milk companies a profit of thirty per cent consistently through the worst years of the depression.

This administration will end that in Pennsylvania. There is going to be a milk control law with teeth in it. Since prices are already being "fixed" for this public necessity, then the public is going to have the controlling voice in the milk business of this State.

Such regulation is the only alternative to public ownership. The big milk dealers are not the only ones who do not recognize this danger. Their brothers of the utilities seem quite as blind to the impending storm. They won't shorten sail although the hurricane warnings fly from every jack-staff on the political coast.

But the utilities do not yet realize that the golden goose is in his death throes. I want to save the utility companies. I want to protect the thousands of investors in utility companies in Pennsylvania. These investors will suffer if public ownership competition comes. The movement for municipal light and power plants is growing throughout the country.

I know we are supposed to have utility regulation in this State at present. But that is not the sort of regulation I'm talking about. This administration will introduce a public utility law so stringent that no Public Service Commission can stultify it without full public knowledge.

Relations between utility companies and their holding companies should be under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

Further, all expenditures of utility companies should be subject to public scrutiny and control.

It has been the practice for many years to use a part of the surplus profits squeezed from the public, to fight the public. Candidates have been bought with utility company campaign contributions, usually in secret. Lobbies have been maintained here at Harrisburg by these funds. So great has been the power of these extra-legal groups that not a bill passed, not a move could be made without their consent.

We propose to root out the lobby evil. First, to destroy the utilities lobby by cutting off its source of revenue. Second, by striking at all lobbies.

There must be an end to the invisible government by lobbies and lobbyists in Pennsylvania. The legislation of Pennsylvania must be written in the State Capitol and not in the private parlors of Harrisburg hotels where special privilege lobbies have held forth so many years.

I intend to give the people a day by day account of the activities of these lobbyists if the necessity arises. And legislator influenced by them will have to make his explanations to his constituents. It is time that this vicious system, which makes a mockery of representative government, be dragged out into the open and into the light of publicity. Only in that way can it be ended.

I have another word of warning, not unconnected with the utilities, for it refers to their real masters—a little group of all-powerful bankers. These bankers are the backbone of the reactionary opposition to the New Deal. These bankers have a fondness for masking their activities behind the phrase "protection for the widows and orphans."

Strike at excess milk profits and they cry out that widows and orphans are the shareholders of the milk companies. Strike at high utility rates and the same wail rends the skies. It is these bankers themselves who are endangering the funds of widows and orphans by driving the consuming public to desperation.

Wall Street sent fourteen billions of American funds abroad in the last ten years, exclusive of the war debts. How much of those foreign loans are coming back? Precious little. We all know that now.

But these bankers knew it then. And whose funds were THESE? Widows' and orphans' and the ordinary American small investor. Do you hear them deploring this betrayal of the widows and orphans?

This administration will do its utmost to protect the investors of Pennsylvania. But it will take neither direction nor advice from this powerful banking clique which in the past has had so much to say about the operation of this State Government. For the next four years, and I hope I speak loudly enough to be heard in Wall Street—it's "Hands off Harrisburg."

I am deeply concerned over the plight of those thrifty men and women who, through no fault of their own, have suffered because their savings are tied up in closed banks. Liquidation of these deposits has been slower in Pennsylvania than in any other state. There is no excuse for this. We are going to speed up the process of returning these funds to their owners.

The banking lobby here has blocked certain legislation designed to strengthen the banking system of the state. If this legislation had been in effect, I am convinced the banking collapse would have been far less severe. Let us remember that lesson. We must enact restrictions which will make it more difficult for bankers to dissipate the funds of their depositors.

Building and loan associations have an almost unique and, in the main, honorable history here in Pennsylvania. But in recent years practices have crept into some of them which should be stamped out so that these splendid institutions may regain their real place in the financial life of the community.

Pennsylvania plutocracy reflects itself also in our tax situation. Although sixty per cent of the wealth within the state is in the form of stocks, bonds and other personal property, ninety per cent of local taxation is derived from real estate. This grossly unfair situation is a perfect example of the dead hand of the past crushing the present, which I mentioned earlier. When our present State Constitution was written in 1874, real estate amounted to ninety per cent of the wealth and should have borne that portion of the tax. But is there any reason why a situation which existed sixty years ago should crush our home owners and farmers today?

The remedy lies in a graduated state income tax. The soundest tax is that based on the principle of ability to pay. We are going to bring that principle to Pennsylvania.

Revision of the State Constitution is absolutely necessary. Pennsylvania simply cannot continue further with the absurdly antiquated Constitutional provision which restricts its borrowing capacity to $1,000,000, an infinitestimal part of our annual expenditures.

No business could operate soundly on that basis. In times of stress such as these we ought not increase taxes drastically to meet the necessity for increased relief expenditures. The sound way, the business way, is to borrow when expenditures must be increased and pay back in days of increasing income. This fossilized restriction causes the State Treasury to face today a grave financial crisis which would not have arisen under a modern Constitution.

I will discuss the serious financial problems which confront the Commonwealth in detail in a budget message which I will address to the Legislature in the near future.

Constitutional revision is one of the most immediate needs of Pennsylvania. We can all see it is no academic subject if a very ill-timed tax increase is made necessary in order to meet the needs of relief.

Can we reduce state relief expenditures? There is no escape in that direction as long as the Federal Government does not bear the full burden. As long as Washington does not assume entire responsibility, there can be no talk of cutting relief expenditures.

It is quite likely that we can effect some administrative savings by co-ordinating the various relief agencies which now duplicate each other to some extent. But such savings we must not keep. They must be passed along in increased benefits to the unemployed whose present subsistence level is shamefully low.

I know there is a sneering mention of Santa Claus whenever any public official advocates an increase in relief. Such propaganda fails to impress me. I know from whence it emanates.

The same banking group that shudders at a Federal expenditure of four billion dollars is the one that sent your fourteen billion dollars over to Europe and down to South America never to return. What of the eighty billions of inflated 1929 valuation which withered away? What are the expressions of contrition from Wall Street for that debacle? Are they hiding their faces in shame? Not they. From behind the backs of the widows and orphans these brave grenadiers of high finance are firing their propaganda of so-called economy and budget-balancing against the unemployed, the helpless, the downtrodden.

I believe in work relief rather than the dole. Work is in this nation's blood and sinews. Americans do not want to idle about half-starved on Federal doles. We want to make, to build, to earn a living wage. We cannot in a day or a decade stop the trend of centuries which instituted the necessity of work. It we try, beware of disastrous psychological consequences. We will care for the unemployed, but let us beware of creating unemployables. This is a nation of workers. Please God it may not be saved from being a nation of economic slaves only to become a nation of drones. My administration will co-operate to the utmost in an intensified relief program. Above all, let the expenditures be concentrated so that business can feel a real impact of purchasing power. Only thus will confidence be restored. Only thus will business begin to re-employ our idle millions. We cannot use trench warfare tactics against the depression. We must strike with the full-focused strength of all our financial resources.

Do not misunderstand me. Because I believe in spending money for recovery, it does not follow that I do not appreciate the importance of economy in governmental administration. I intend to conduct the State Government on strictly businesslike lines. It is not supposed to be good politics to cut down on payrolls. But that is exactly what I intend to do.

Local communities, particularly Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties, can save money for their taxpayers by reorganizing their governments. Consolidation to meet modern conditions should be a part of the program of the State Constitutional convention.

In closing, let me explain that I know well that I have said things in this address which the timid souls will consider politically unwise. I have attacked powerful groups, well-established institutions. I am ready to take the consequences. This office of Governor is the realization of my political ambitions, not the stepping stone. I will make mistakes, I know, but they will be mistakes of the head and not of the heart. I will never do anything or refrain from doing anything because of considerations of my future political career or the future political career of any of my friends. This administration is going to live and work in the present. That task is large enough.

I will be more than content if four years from today I can feel that I have played a small but willing part in the saving of this Nation from the dangers that encompass it; that I have helped it push forward to new economic and political frontiers.

We know in which direction the salvation of democracy and American ideals lies. Let us go forward!

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

PRESENTATION OF GAVEL TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR KENNEDY

REV. FATHER HAROLD E. KELLER (Harrisburg). Mr. President, I thank the Senate for its action in taking time during a very busy evening, a very busy session, for this presentation. I have here this evening a gavel made from the keel of Perry's flagship Niagara. This was part of the original wood, once an oak tree which grew on the lake shore at Erie.

A Pennsylvanian was responsible for the building of that fleet—Daniel Dobbins, a man born on the banks of the Juniata River, who later moved to Erie and established, with Seth Reed, a sailing service at Erie. It was owing to his advice that President Madison, in a cabinet meeting, proposed to build a fleet on Lake Erie; and it was only after Dobbins had started the fleet that Perry was sent to take command.

I take great pleasure in presenting to you this gavel. I represent tonight, as I represented before, the Niagara Association. It is presented with that Association's best wishes, and in the hope that you likewise, in the conduct of the business of the State, will have as much success, and bring as much glory—not only to Pennsylvania but to this nation—as Perry did in his famous victory.

The PRESIDENT. I thank Father Keller very much for presenting this historic gavel to the presiding officer of the Senate; and I assure him it will be used with discretion and with the single purpose of conducting the affairs of the Senate in a manner which will redound to the best interests of the Commonwealth. I thank him very much.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

RESOLUTION NO. 1

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 1, Printer's No. 1.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Thousands of Pennsylvania citizens are directly and acutely interested in the passage of a "bank payoff bill," and

Whereas, Such a measure will shortly be pending in the Congress of the United States, and

Whereas, This "bank payoff bill" will provide that the Federal Government take over the assets of all closed banks in the country immediately, pay in full the depositors and liquidate the assets in the closed banks in an orderly way during a period of twenty years, and

Whereas, Such a method of orderly liquidation will greatly enhance the value of frozen assets and will stop deflation of values in real estate and many other bank holdings, and

Whereas, The Federal Government by thawing out the impounded life savings of ten million Americans will promote business confidence, and activity will diminish relief payrolls and will be dealing justly with the depositors in closed banks, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation authorizing the Federal Government to take over the assets of all closed banks and immediately pay depositors in full and especially requests Pennsylvania's Representatives in the Congress of the United States to use every effort consistent with honorable practices to secure the enactment of such legislation.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officer of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE LOBBYISTS

Mr. TAHL offered the following resolution which was twice read, and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, it has been stated by his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, that there is being maintained a lobby in Harrisburg and that not a bill is passed, not a move could be made without their consent, and

Whereas, there must be an end to the government by lobby and lobbyists in Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, has further stated that it is essential that this vicious system which makes a mockery of representative government be dragged out into the open and into the light of publicity.

Therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that an investigation committee is hereby constituted to consist of five members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the speaker thereof, whose duty shall be thoroughly and impartially to inquire into and investigate the existence of lobbies and lobbyists and make a report and recommendation to the House of Representatives so that the House of Representatives may take such intelligent and appropriate steps as is necessary to end the evil which may be found to exist, and be it further

Resolved, that the committee constituted by this resolution shall organize immediately upon approval hereof, and the committee shall hold meetings each week commencing not later than Monday, January 28 and continuing thereafter as many days as may be necessary to ascertain the facts which will enable it to make the report required by this resolution, and be it further

Resolved, that the committee hereby constituted shall have the power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, documents and reports as may be deemed necessary. Such subpoenas may be served by any sergeant-at-arms or assistant sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives in the same manner and with a like effect as subpoenas issuing from the courts of this Commonwealth. The chairman and any member in the committee shall have the power to administrate oaths to any witness appearing. Any person or persons who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear to testify before the committee when so subpoenaed or any person or persons who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to produce any books, papers, documents, or reports when so subpoenaed shall be guilty of contempt and shall be subject to the penalties provided by the law of this Commonwealth in such cases, and be it further

Resolved, that the committee hereby constituted shall make a report to the House of Representatives containing such recommendation as it deems advisable.

RESOLUTION NO. 3

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 3, Printer's No. 3.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Many of those who are today unemployed and destitute are those who yesterday bravely and courageously and unselfishly risked life and everything that life held in the service of their country, both here and on the battlefields of France, and

Whereas, This nation for which they were willing to make the supreme sacrifice in order that democracy might be reserved has done naught for them but give its promise to pay an extra bonus for that service at a future time, and

Whereas, If such bonus is due these patriots, as has been admitted by the government promise to pay it, is it better to give to them when they need as they gave to us when we needed than to delay until such time as they may not need or may not be here to enjoy, and

Whereas, The payment to these men of the moneys due them would release for circulation several billions of dollars and would bring not only much needed relief to them but would greatly stimulate business and give to business the impetus and encouragment that is necessary to insure the return of prosperity to the Nation, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to immediately pass the necessary legislation and make the appropriation of moneys required to pay to these heroes of yesterday that which is so badly needed today, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs for further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR THOMAS KENNEDY IN THE CHAIR.

The SERGEANT AT ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you the Committee appointed to escort His Excellency the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. Members of the General Assembly it is a very great privilege and honor at this time to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE H. EARLE

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I greet you in a spirit of friendliness and cooperation. We share a common responsibility toward the public. The problems before the State of Pennsylvania are so grave that only the united efforts of all branches of the government can accomplish the necessary tasks. You realize this, no doubt, as keenly as I do.

In less troublous times it is possible—though not defensible—for a Governor or for members of the Legislature to obstruct, to bicker, to seek personal credit for legislation which depends on all, to give free play to petty jealousies and lay up the ammunition of partisan propaganda.

Such an attitude, however, is made unthinkable by the circumstances in which we find ourselves today. Public emergency is too great to permit jockeying for private purposes among public officials.

Deeply imbued with the recognition of this situation, I give this Legislature my pledge that it will find me always open to suggestion, ready to cooperate. On fundamentals, of course, I will not compromise because I cannot. I was elected on certain pledges. I owe it to the people of Pennsylvania to do my utmost to carry out those pledges. Your obligation is the same.

The credit for whatever we accomplish here will go to those, irrespective of name or party, who make that accomplishment possible. The blame for what we fail to accomplish will fall on those who obstruct the wishes of the people. There will be no chance to snatch undue credit, no opportunity to escape blame where blame is due. The people are aroused to vigilance by their present plight. The light of public appraisal beats on us all as never before in recent Pennsylvania history.

First, we must have Constitution revision. This is not a party measure. In the last campaign both party platforms favored revision and most of you recognize the overwhelming sentiment in favor of it throughout the Senate.

On November 24, 1934, I appointed a committee to study and report upon the procedure for calling a Constitutional Convention, a committee composed of men thoroughly qualified to make such a survey. After examining into every aspect of the problem it embodied its recommendations to me in the form of a bill, which is being submitted to your Honorable Body for consideration.

It should hardly be necessary for me to recount for you the many urgent and overwhelming reasons why we should hold such a Convention.

The present Constitution is the fourth since the Declaration of Independence and the third since the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. New constitutions were approved by the people in 1790, 1838 and the last time in 1874.

Of course there have been many amendments to the 1874 Constitution and it is likely that the changes which present conditions demand could ultimately be affected by such procedure.

But the present grave situation existing with reference to the state's fiscal affairs and the opportunity presented for quickly accomplishing other needed and imperative changes in our basic law, leave no alternative than to take the most expeditious method of obtaining such relief.

Revision is many years overdue. It is the falsest sort of "consistency" to believe we can remain unchanged while the world moves around us. It is the weakest statesmanship that will try to apply solutions worked out for one set of conditions to an entirely different set.

The Constitution of 1874 is not appropriate to the Pennsylvania of 1935.

A sweeping change in our tax system that only can be brought about by constitutional change is urgent and justified by every consideration.

The cost of government must be more equitably divided and a larger share of the burden placed on those who hitherto have entirely escaped or paid but a fraction of their share.

The limitation of the state's borrowing capacity to a million dollars has tied the hands of its administrative officials and prevented them from meeting the problem of relief efficiently, logically and in keeping with the dignity of this great state.

One of the largest of all commonwealths, with resources greater than all but one other state, were it not for the emergency relief assistance granted by the Federal Government, our citizens might have starved.

This absurd limitation of the state's borrowing power must be removed as soon as practicable and a new limitation set, in keeping with our resources and a sound fiscal policy. Otherwise the state's share of the costs of relief during the emergency must be met entirely by direct taxation, which to my mind is impracticable and unthinkable.

There are other changes in our constitution which can be effected at such a convention and which would materially reduce the burden of taxation.

For example the elimination of over-lapping governmental functions and obsolete public offices would amount to annual savings of millions of dollars.

And it is equally important that Pennsylvania shall have a constitution which would permit beyond any question legislation such as Old Age Pensions and other measures providing for social justice and economic assurance for our people.

No one appreciates more than I that there is real justification for requiring long and mature consideration before constitutional amendments may be adopted.

But the changes we now demand have had long and mature consideration. They should have been, and would have been, made part of the Pennsylvania Constitution many years ago were it not that men in high places, within and without our government, for selfish reasons prevented their adoption.

I urge speedy action on the part of your Honorable Body on this legislation so that at the earliest possible moment the people may receive the relief and benefits which can only be obtained through such a Constitutional Convention.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to express the thanks of the General Assembly to the Governor for the splendid message delivered to us this evening. Thank you very much.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly was convened having been transacted the Joint Session is adjourned, and the Senators will please assemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The SPEAKER. (WILSON G. SARIG) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will proceed with the calling of the roll on the motion of Mr. Ruth to refer Resolution No. 3, to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The Clerk continued to call the roll as follows:

Kelso,	Moomaw,	Powers,	Stank,

RESOLUTION NO. 6

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 6, Printer's No. 6.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

The economic depression has brought many calamities to our people not the least of which has been the wiping out of the savings of many of our people through the collapse of banks to which such savings were intrusted for safe keeping and investment.

Within the last several years the National Government under authority of Congressional action has created numerous agencies to administer new functions of government brought into being to accomplish a single purpose to break the continuation of the National economic disaster and to restore our former prosperity.

Billions of dollars have and are being raised to care for our people through charity by a bonus for restricting agricultural production by employments on public works by advancing the interest of forestry and through countless other activities while the savings of the employed and unemployed lie idle in frozen assets of closed National banks established under the supervision of and inspected by agents of the National Government.

Meanwhile many thinking citizens inquire whether much could not be accomplished to restore prosperity of the National Government found ways and means of reimbursing those whose savings have been endangered in institutions fostered by the National Government; therefore be it,

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact appropriate Federal legislation designed to provide suitable ways and means of taking over or liquidating the frozen assets of National banks as speedily as possible in order that depositors may be reimbursed to the greatest extent possible and these deposits made available for legitimate channels of trade and commerce;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, and the gentleman will confine himself to the motion to recommit. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TURNER. There are a great number of people in the State of Pennsylvania who have banded themselves together in organizations known as depositors' committees or associations, who have great sums of money tied up in closed national banks.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I renew my point of order. The gentleman is not discussing the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion to recommit. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to raise any question as to the ruling of the Chair, but I am not discussing the merits of the bill when I say that there are a large number of people who are banded together in organizations known as depositors' committees—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, hasn't the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, the right to speak upon the necessity for immediate consideration of this resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read Rule 54: "A motion for postponement shall preclude commitment. A motion for commitment shall preclude amendment or decision on the original subject." The gentleman from Delaware will proceed and confine himself to the motion.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Chair to answer the inquiry directed to the Chair, to wit, whether or not the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, cannot discuss the necessity for immediate consideration of this resolution at this time, without undue delay?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman can give reasons why the resolution should not be committed, and confine himself to that. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will proceed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I say that I am confining myself to the reasons why I feel that this should not be recommitted or committed, and I am not discussing anything that is within the resolution when I say that I feel that there are a tremendous number of people in the State of Pennsylvania who are today urgently asking Congress to take steps towards the liquidation of the assets of closed banks and the paying off of depositors.

Congress is now in session and these measures are coming up repeatedly before Congress, and these citizens of Pennsylvania are vitally interested in quick action upon these measures, and therefore it seems to me that on a question of this kind that we all understand and that has been before the body for sometime, there is no reason to send it to a committee where it must be delayed, but rather that this House should speed it on its way in order that these people in Pennsylvania who are suffering today because of the loss of their deposits in the banks will have some remedy from the Federal Government.

I, therefore, ask you to vote "no" on this motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth, explain to the House the reason for making such a motion?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, the reason for making this motion is to refer the resolution to the Committee on Banking for further consideration.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, don't you think that if we don't hurry with this resolution that all the money at Washington will be spent?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman by saying that with the present make-up of the administration at Washington I do not think that will happen.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Witkin and Mr. Ederer and were as follows:

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT LEGISLATION TO EQUALIZE TAXATION BETWEEN RIVER AND RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION

Mr. STEVENS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, In many cases boats on rivers are operated in open competition with railroad transportation; and

Whereas, Boats so operated are not compelled to maintain rights of way in the manner required of railroads and as a consequence can offer lower rates for transportation; and

Whereas, The belief prevails that river transportation is not subjected to a burden of Federal and State taxation equal to that imposed on railroads; and

Whereas, Railroad transportation is essential to the development of the commerce and business of the United States; and

Whereas, River transportation is in most instances a matter of interstate commerce over which the Federal Government has control; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly memorialize Congress of the United States to enact legislation which will equalize the burden of taxation between river and railroad transportation in order to enable railroads to secure a fair share of the business;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

RESOLUTION NO. 5

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 5, Printer's No. 5.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

One of the lessons the economic depression has taught us is that our State and Federal examination of banks and other financial institutions has been wholly inadequate and that government has not insisted on the extreme care and prudence which should be exercised by those intrusted with the savings of our people.

Deposits made with financial institutions were invested by the managers of these institutions in securities which in depression days have little or no value whatever.

When the return of deposits was requested these assets could not be negotiated with the result that banks were foced to close.

This condition should not be permitted to recur in the future and it becomes the duty of the State to assure its people that the financial institutions it authorizes to receive deposits of money will be prudently managed in the future therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly requests the Governor and the Secretary of Banking to adequately man the Department of Banking with skilled examiners, that in its examinations the Department insist on the utmost care in the investment of depositors' moneys that if institutions are found to be negligent immediate steps be taken to halt improper practices and to change management and if this is not done that such institutions be forced to close before deposits are endangered and capital entirely impaired.

Resolved, That the Secretary of Banking be requested to inform the General Assembly of any change needed in the Banking Laws of this Commonwealth in order to accomplish the purposes of this resolution.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor and the Secretary of Banking by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Banking for further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentlemen from Berks county, Mr. Ruth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlemen from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentlemen from Berks whether he is familiar with the contents of the resolution.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I am and I believe that the condition will be speedily remedied.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks the purpose for sending this resolution to the Committee on Banking?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, as stated in my motion, for further consideration.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks whether there is anything contained in this resolution that requires any further consideration on the part of this house.

Mr. RUTH. I think there is, Mr. Speaker, and the Banking Committee will take care of it.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks whether he is not familiar with the fact that this is a very short resolution containing but two hundred and eighty words and that this resolution has been before this House since January 14, a period of one week, and I would ask him, Mr. Speaker, whether in his opinion that one week's time has not been sufficient for the members of this House to consider this resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I would answer that, that this resolution was only before the members for this day, because none of the members were here in the meantime and it was placed on their desks this evening.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks if in his opinion tonight is an insufficient time for the consideration of this resolution by this House, whether if I withdraw the desire to place this resolution before this body tonight and renew it tomorrow, the gentleman will tomorrow feel that sufficient time has been given this House to consider this 286-word resolution?

Mr. RUTH. I refer that, Mr. Speaker, to the Committee on Banking.''

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman to answer my question, whether or not if this resolution or my motion to consider this resolution at this time is withdrawn, it will be the opinion of the gentleman from Berks tomorrow that the House still shall not have had sufficient time within which to consider this very short and important resolution.

Mr. RUTH. I repeat my former statement Mr. Speaker, that the Committee on Banking will decide it.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks if that is the only answer that he will give to my question if I withdraw my motion to consider this resolution at this time?

Mr. RUTH. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, it amazes me that this House should require any additional time to consider a matter that is so clearly and concisely stated in as short a resolution as it is humanly possible to prepare. The delay in the enactment of this resolution is a delay that will inure to the detriment of the depositors in closed banks in the state of Pennsylvania. Its speedy enactment into law, its prompt consideration by this House will materially aid the depositors in closed banks.

I therefore take it, members of the House, that we ought not to be dilatory, that we ought not to delay, that where a resolution or a bill is of the greatest good to the greatest number of the people of this Commonwealth and where the resolution is so simple that no one can help but understand it that we should not—to use the vernacular expression—pickle it in a committee by sending it back.

Mr. Speaker, may I ask my Democratic friends to make their laughter by their vote and to permit me to continue without their laughter. I repeat that if you will read the resolution you will find that it is a resolution that will help by its speedy enactment the poor persons who have lost their money in closed banks. A vote to send this bill back to the committee is a repudiation by you of your Democratic State platform and a vote not to send it back to the committee is to substantiate and back up your Democratic platform. The purpose of this resolution is to carry out the Republican platform as promised by the Republican party, and I ask you to vote down this motion to re-commit this resolution to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, possibly not more than an hour ago we heard his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, speak to this assembled body in these words,—a copy of his address is upon your desk,—possibly the membership has not read it or possibly has not heard. For your information I will read two paragraphs: "In less troublous times it is possible,—though not defensible,—for a Governor or for members of the Legislature to obstruct, to bicker, to seek personal credit for legislation which depends on all, to give free play to petty jealousy and to lay up the ammunition of partisan propoganda. Such an attitude, however, is made unthinkable by the circumstances in which we find ourselves today. Public emergency is too great to permit jockeying for private purposes among public officials." Gentlemen of the minority, heed those words.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I appreciate the fact that the gentleman from York wishes to bask in the sunshine of his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and may I suggest to him that those words that he has just read be studied carefully by him, applied by him and his Democratic party, and if they do that, they will pass this resolution and defeat the motion to send it back to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, speaking in favor of sending this bill to committee, in listening to the discussion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, I understand that he says that this resolution will aid materially the depositors in the closed banks. Maybe I need more study on the subject of the resolution but I cannot find anything in it that will give back to the depositors the money they now have in the closed banks.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Witkin and Mr. Peters and were as follows:

COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE PROGRAM TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Mr. OMINSKY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, In every city, village and hamlet, from the icy peaks of Alaska to the frozen wastes of Little America, from the warm sands of Florida's coast to the waving palms of the far away Philippines and Hawaii the Paradise of the Pacific, in every place throughout the world where Americans live and meet, a grateful and admiring people will, on January thirtieth, be celebrating the natal day of our President.

And whereas, It is fitting that here in Harrisburg, we, the chosen representatives of the citizenry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, should meet to do honor to the man who is leading the Nation out of a long period of misery and want, back to security and prosperity and happiness, and to raise our united voice in praise and appreciation of his achievements; therefore be it Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint a committee of three Senators to meet with a committee of five Members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, whose duty it shall be to arrange an appropriate program for a joint celebration by the Senate and House of Representatives of the birthday of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the Hall of the House of Representatives on January thirtieth, and to prepare suitable resolutions for adoption at such joint meeting to be forwarded to the President.

RESOLUTION NO. 2

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 2, Printer's No. 2.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, It appears that existing appropriations for mothers' assistance old age assistance blind assistance and to State-aided hospitals is insufficient to fully care for all of the wards of the State who come within this specialized form of care, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that those intrusted with the program for the raising of revenues and the making of appropriations at this session of the General Assembly take into full consideration the amount necessary to care for the wards of the State referred to in the preamble hereof in order that they may be adequately protected and maintained through sufficient appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means for further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, in proposing this resolution I desire to call the attention of the House to the brevity of the resolution and the clearness of it. It is so brief and clear that everybody in this House can read and understand it. There is absolutely no necessity for its being referred to any committee, and it is almost unthinkable that any member of the House would oppose this resolution, when it applies to old age assistance, the blind who are to be pensioned and mothers' aid. In view of the things which the Governor has told us tonight, there is no necessity for any jockeying, especially when the means for the relief of the poor and the afflicted are at our disposal.

The Governor has said here tonight, "And it is equally important that Pennsylvania shall have a constitution which would permit beyond any question legislation such as Old Age Pensions and other measures providing for social justice and economic assurance for our people."

With the assurance of the Governor's support in a matter of this importance, and with the assurance of all of the people of Pennsylvania, and the Democratic party in particular, to carry out the principles of its platform, it does seem to me that this is a most inconsistent attitude for any member to assume on the floor of this House. I, therefore, appeal to the Democrats in this House and the Republicans of this House and the Socialists of this House in the name of the needy of Pennsylvania to pass this resolution without this continual bickering and obstruction offered here tonight, by referring to a committee a resolution that contains the virtues that this resolution does.

I, therefore, ask for a roll call.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I will just read a few lines from this resolution: "That it is the sense of the General Assembly that those intrusted with the program for the raising of revenue." I think that the Committee on Ways and Means has been entrusted with that program and I, therefore, move that the resolution be referred to that Committee to carry out the purpose of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Hart and Mr. Witkin and were as follows:

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM STATE EMERGENCY RELIEF BOARD

Mr. HOOPES offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, the old adage that "one half the people do not know how the other half lives" is strikingly true as applied on the one hand to that small but wealthy and influential group who while living in luxury are crying out against increased taxation, and on the other, to the millions of unemployed who through no fault of their own are compelled to exist on grossly inadequate relief vouchers, and

Whereas, the so-called budgets of the S.E.R.B., provide barely enough of the cheapest foods to sustain life, allow a still lower standard for shoes and clothing, include almost nothing for medical and dental care, and absolutely nothing for shelter, and

Whereas, no provision has been made for the increased cost of foodstuffs with the result that the living standards of a large section of our population are being forced steadily downward, and

Whereas, the mechanical administration of innumerable restrictive rules and regulations with utter disregard of human necessities, has rendered the condition of these involuntary public wards intolerable and their lives burdensome, and

Whereas, it is the duty of this body to pass measures which will promote the public welfare by protecting those whom economic conditions have placed upon the relief rolls, and

Whereas, in order to perform this duty intelligently, we must have adequate information as to their needs, and the appropriations necessary to meet them, now therefore,

Be It Resolved, by the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania that the State Emergency Relief Board be requested to furnish this House not later than March 1, 1935, full and detailed information on the following matters:—

1. Number of persons in Pennsylvania receiving either direct work relief, giving figures for each.
2. Number of single persons and the number of families of each numerical class included in the above.

3. Estimated budgets showing the amounts necessary to maintain a minimum American standard of living for single persons and families of each numerical class, with allowances for variations in different parts of the State, these budgets to show in detail the amount allowed in each case for food, clothing, shoes, fuel, shelter, medical and dental care and other items and to include sample menus showing kinds, quantities and prices of foods obtainable and the basis of the estimate as to each of the other items.
4. Amount of federal appropriation available for relief purposes in this State.
5. Amount of State appropriation necessary to meet the estimated needs.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT LEGISLATION TO CONTROL MUNITION PLANTS

Mr. WASSERMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

During those days when democracy was at stake and a fevered urge of patriotism caused Americans to buy liberty bonds until it hurt, in order that this Nation might throw into the balance that weight of arms that was needed to turn the tide of victory against the Hohenzollens, there were those here at home who grew fat on the sacrifices made by their countrymen.

While American youth was shot to pieces on the battlefields of France, the fortunes of munition makers in America grew and grew.

Profits here kept far ahead of sacrifices over there, and the dangers there faced and the trials there endured and the misery there suffered but added to the vast sums that made rich and kept safe the unconscionable profiteers at home.

Late investigations of the earnings of muntion plants during the war have revealed that of which no one even dreamed.

That men and corporations could so profit on patriotism and take and take while others were giving and giving was never conceived.

If love of country will not prevent seemingly high-minded citizens from enriching themselves at the cost of their fellow men, then the government must step in and substitute its power for their utter lack of conscience; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of this General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass legislation to make impossible the profits heretofore enjoyed by munition makers by giving to the Federal Government rigid control over munition plants and the power to operate such plants, either in peace or war times, and to at once direct the undertaking and carrying on of a thorough and detailed study of a plan for industrial mobilization during periods of war in order to make excess profits to corporations and individuals impossible in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States with the request that the same be read and then be referred to the proper committees for immediate action.

AUTHORIZING ADJOURNMENT OF TAX SALES

Mr. CORDIER offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, Under existing law the county treasurers of the various counties will be required to hold tax sales of returned seated lands during the month of February, 1935; and

Whereas, When the act which fixed said time as the latest date to which tax sales could be adjourned was adopted, the General Assembly presumed that the effects of the economic depression would be spent and the necessity for further adjournment no longer urgent; and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before said date fixed for said tax sales to authorize further adjournment; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the county treasurers of the various counties of this Commonwealth, if the county commissioners and the court of common pleas of such counties consent thereto, to further adjourn any tax sale which under existing law is required to be held during the month of February, 1935, and the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to validate any such adjournment of a tax sale, and to provide by law for the holding of such adjourned tax sales at a future date, saving the lien of all taxes assessed against real estate which was to be sold at such sales.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the consideration of the resolution at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Berks whether or not he understands the subject matter of this resolution.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I understand the subject matter and I am fully in sympathy with it, but a concurrent resolution cannot repeal an Act of Assembly, and there is nothing we can do to stop tax sales before February first. I have a decision on it here.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman from Berks whether or not he knows the date on which these properties will go under the hammer unless we pass this resolution.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I know the date is February first, and I also know from a decision that you cannot repeal an Act of Assembly by concurrent resolution.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman from Berks whether or not he is in favor of the adjournment of these tax sales.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I am not in favor of the tax sales, and I would be in favor of having them abolished and taking them off entirely, but we cannot change them whether we want to or not. I would be in favor of voting for an Act to repeal them if I could.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna must understand that objections have been made and that the resolution lies over for printing under the rules.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his question of information.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chair to inform me whether or not it would be in order for me to move to suspend the rules on this particular motion.

ıe SPEAKER. The gentleman will be in order to e a motion to suspend the rules if he so desires.

r. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the rules be ended and I ask for a roll call.

n the question, ill the House agree to the motion?

r. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order to rrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna who spond this motion?

he SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna mit himself to be interrogated?

r. CORDIER. I will.

r. ANDREWS. Would the gentleman be willing to r action until his resolution can be referred to the rney General for an opinion as to whether or not it accomplish the purpose he has in mind?

r. CORDIER. In answer to the question by the gentle- from Cambria, I will say that the purpose is to get consensus of opinion of the members of the General embly as to their attitude on adjourning tax sales.

r. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order to her interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna?

ıe SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna mit himself to be further interrogated?

r. CORDIER. I will.

r. ANDREWS. As I understand, the intent of this is ply to get the view of the Assembly, but his resolu- has no legal purpose.

r. CORDIER. The purpose, as I stated, of the resolu- will be to delegate to those in authority who will e the power to stop these tax sales, and to get the consus of opinion of the members of the General Assembly hat matter.

r. ANDREWS. Would it stop the tax sales?

r. CORDIER. It might have that effect.

r. ANDREWS. But you do not say it would stop the sales.

r. CORDIER. I am not a lawyer and I cannot say. t would probably be a question for the Attorney Gento answer.

r. WITKIN. May I call the attention of this House the attention of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. rews, to the fact that we have precedent for this ac- . When the bank holiday was declared, although the lution passed by this House and by the Senate did not e the legal effect of carrying into effect what the lution called for, nevertheless it did. So, this resolu-, if passed by this House, may have the same effect those in charge, although legally we must agree it does not compel them so to do.

r. ANDREWS. I would like to interrogate the gentle- from Philadelphia.

ıe SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Witkin, permit himself to be interrogated?

r. WITKIN. I will.

r. ANDREWS. Does the pending resolution commit House to the passage of any specific legislation?

r. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that those who in favor of this resolution would be bound to vote subsequent legislation or bills which would enact into the stopping of these sales of these unfortunates se homes are to be sold.

r. ANDREWS. The gentleman does not answer the stion. I asked him whether this resolution embodies a specific declaration or intent to pass any specific legislation.

Mr. WITKIN. I would answer that by saying it undoubtedly does, because this resolution says what this House would want to happen with respect to those sales. If this House in their vote say that they want these sales stopped, when these bills which would carry into effect this resolution would come before this House, it would bind this House so to vote.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the resolution state that this House will pass certain legislation and define the type of legislation?

Mr. WITKIN. I would answer that by saying in effect it absolutely does.

Mr ANDREWS. Will the gentleman cite the portion of the resolution that so declares?

Mr. WITKIN. I will cite that portion of the resolution that says "that it is the judgment of this House that these sales be adjourned." If that language and that verbiage does not carry with it the fact that this House would go on record as voting in favor of such a resolution, then I do not quite understand what the gentleman is driving at.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cordier and Mr. Watkins and were as follows:

REQUESTING PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION TO FURNISH INFORMATION ON PHILADELPHIA TROLLEY FARES

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, Before the World War the City of Philadelphia enjoyed five cent trolley fares with passes and transfers, and

Whereas, During the World War, probably on account of increased maintenance expenses, etc., the trolley fares in Philadelphia were raised to seven and one-half cents, with less passes and transfers, and

Whereas, Many years have elapsed since the close of the World War and prices of commodities and other things have dropped and in many cases below that which existed before the World War, and a large percentage of the population of Philadelphia fail to understand what reasons exist for the trolley fares being continued at World War prices, and

Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to furnish to this House all information it possesses as to why the trolley fares of Philadelphia continue at seven and one-half cents per person instead of being reduced to the pre-war price of five cents per person, and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Public Service Commission is hereby requested to submit to this House any suggestion that it may have for the drafting of Legislation which will cause the trolley fares in Philadelphia to be reduced to the pre-war price of five cents with passes and transfers, and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Public Service Commission is hereby requested to comply with this resolution within thirty days, and a copy hereof be given to it by the Chief Clerk of this House.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO APPROPRIATE FUNDS TO HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, Owing to the unprecedented economic conditions which existed during the last period of four years and upwards, a very large percentage of the HOME OWNERS of the United States were unable to pay the interest upon their mortgage loans and the taxes and other carrying charges due upon their homes; and due to lack of new mortgage financing, the condition still exists, and unless something is done will grow worse; and

Whereas, By reason of that condition the mortgage holders and municipalities of this country suffered a great loss in income, and in order to protect their rights entered foreclosure and other legal proceedings against these unfortunate HOME OWNERS, and endangered the happiness of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the same apparently existed in Sister States; and

Whereas, Thereby sheriff sales throughout the United States, including the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, increased at an alarming rate and no buyers were present at such sales to buy the properties and the mortgagees for little or no consideration over and above their loans obtained titles to the properties and the investments of the HOME OWNERS were lost to them and they were evicted from their homes; and

Whereas, Thereby many Home Owners lost their homes representing the earnings and accumulations of a lifetime, and other Home Owners were threatened with a like loss and are still threatened with loss; and

Whereas, The President of the United States, realizing the situation due to the conditions aforesaid, recommended to the Congress of the United States, the passage of appropriate legislation which would enable H Owners to recover and retain their homes; and

Whereas, By reason of said recommendation the C gress of the United States did pass a statute which approved by the President, entitled "An act to pr emergency relief with respect to home mortgage debtedness;" and

Whereas, By the terms of said Act there was cr a corporation designated and known as Home Ow Loan Corporation, which corporation was authorize issue Bonds not to exceed two billion dollars for the pose of relieving Home Owners in need of assistance unfortunately fixed the amount at too low a figure; a

Whereas, Said corporation commenced operation the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on August 1, and

Whereas, Prior to August 1, 1933 Sheriff Sales thro out the State of Pennsylvania had reached unprecede numbers and in the County of Philadelphia alone as high as twenty-two hundred sales in one month;

Whereas, After August 1, 1933, due to the operati said corporation, Sheriff Sales in the various counti Pennsylvania began to decline in number, and in County of Philadelphia fell as low as twelve hundr December, 1934; and

Whereas, On April 28, 1934, an amendment was p by Congress to the original act providing for the issu of bonds to the extent of another billion dollars, v was unfortunately too small amount and should have at least three or four billion dollars more; and

Whereas, On or about November 16, 1934, the H Owners' Loan Corporation issued public notice that to the exhaustion of the authorized bond issue of billion dollars, no further applications for loans v be received and thousands of applications already rec could not be handled; and

Whereas, Following said announcement there wa immediate increase in the number of Sheriff throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, th causing a renewal of distress to Home Owners, a further threat of the loss of their homes and prop and the mortgagees taking their properties for litt no additional consideration with intent to hold ther a profit; and

Whereas, It is manifest that a failure by the H Owners' Loan Corporation to continue to make loa applicants will lead to great distress and misery o part of Home Owners throughout the country, wh renewal of the activity of said corporation will gr aid to advance recovery from present and past eco conditions; and

Whereas, A further operation of said Home Ow Loan Corporation in the making of loans to Home ers cannot be carried out without additional auth tion and appropriate action by the Congress of the Uni States concurred in by the President of the United St

Now, Therefore Be it Resolved, By the House of resentatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, th the President and Congress of the United States are by memorialized and respectfully requested to prom enact such appropriate legislation as will authoriz empower the Home Owners' Loan Corporation to additional bonds to the amount of at least Two Bi Dollars and if deemed advisable to the amount of Billion of Dollars for the uses and purposes set for the Act of Congress approved June 13, 1933 and the plements thereto and to otherwise correct the said so as to expidite its operation and enforcement.

And, Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this morial be transmitted by the Speaker and Chief of this House to the President of the United State Vice-President and the President of the Senate, to Sp of the House of Representatives and to the Senator Representatives in the Congress of the United States the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Whereas, Under existing law the county treasurers of the various counties will be required to hold tax sales of returned seated lands during the month of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-five

Whereas, When the act which fixed said time as the latest date to which tax sales could be adjourned was adopted the General Assembly presumed that the effects of the economic depression would be spent and the necessity for further adjournment no longer urgent, and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before said date fixed for said tax sales to authorize further adjournment therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the county treasurers of the various counties of this Commonwealth if the county commissioners and the court of common pleas of such counties consent thereto to further adjourn any tax sale which under existing law is required to be held during the month of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to validate any such adjournment of a tax and to provide by law for the holding of such adjourned tax sales at a future date saving the lien of all taxes assessed against real estate which was to be sold at such sales.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a unanimous vote in favor of this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

RESOLUTION NO. 18

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 18, Printer's No. 18.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Requesting Information from State Emergency Relief Board.

Whereas, the old adage that "one half the people do not know how the other half lives" is strikingly true as applied on the one hand to that small but wealthy and influential group who while living in luxury are crying out against increased taxation and on the other to the millions of unemployed who through no fault of their own are compelled to exist on grossly inadequate relief vouchers and

Whereas, the so-called budget of the State Emergency Relief Board provide barely enough of the cheapest foods to sustain life allow a still lower standard for shoes and clothing include almost nothing for medical and dental care and absolutely nothing for shelter and

Whereas, no provision has been made for the increased cost of foodstuffs with the result that the living standards of a large section of our population are being forced steadily downward and

Whereas, the mechanical administration of innumerable restrictive rules and regulations with utter disregard of human necessities has rendered the condition of these involuntary public wards intolerable and their lives burdensome and

Whereas, it is the duty of this body to pass measures which will promote the public welfare by protecting those whom economic conditions have placed upon the relief rolls and

Whereas, in order to perform this duty intelligently we must have adequate information as to their needs and the appropriations necessary to meet them now therefore

Be It Resolved, by the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania that the State Emergency Relief Board be requested to furnish this House not later than March first one thousand nine hundred thirty-five full detailed information on the following matters—

1 Number of persons in Pennsylvania receiving either direct or work relief giving figures for each.

2 Number of single persons and the number of families of each numerical class included in the above.

3 Estimated budgets showing the amounts necessary to maintain a minimum American standard of living for single persons and families of each numerical class with allowances for variations in different parts of the State these budgets to show in detail the amount allowed in each case for food clothing shoes fuel shelter medical and dental care and other items and to include sample menus showing kinds quantities prices of foods obtainable and the basis of the estimate as to each of the other items.

4 Amount of federal appropriation available for relief purposes in this State.

5 Amount of State appropriation necessary to meet the estimated needs

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a unanimous vote in favor of this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION NO. 22

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 21, Printer's No. 22.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, before the Worlds War the City of Philadelphia enjoyed five cent trolley fares with passes and transfers

Whereas, during the Worlds War probably on account of increased maintenance expenses etc. the trolley fares in Philadelphia were raised to seven and one-half cents with less passes and transfers and

Whereas, many years have elapsed since the close of the Worlds War and prices of commodities and other things have dropped and in many cases below that which existed before the Worlds War and a large percentage of the population of Philadelphia fail to understand what reasons exist for the trolley fares being continued at World War prices and

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to furnish to this House all information it possesses as to why the trolley fares of Philadelphia continue at seven and one-half cents per person instead of being reduced to the pre-war price of five cents per person and

Be It Further Resolved that the Public Service Commission is hereby requested to submit to this House any suggestion that it may have for the drafting of Legislation which will cause the trolley fares in Philadelphia to be reduced to the pre-war price of five cents with passes and transfers and

Be It Further Resolved that the Public Service Commission is hereby requested to comply with this resolution within thirty days and a copy hereof be given to it by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a unanimous vote in favor of this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

House Rule Number Seventy-six which reads;

"No member shall be permitted to record his vote who neglects to vote when his name is first called by the clerk."

is hereby rescinded.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for an unanimous vote on this resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. These proposed amendments to the rules are not an invention of my own, nor are they primarily an invention of the majority leaders. These rules come before you at the suggestion of the Chairman of the Rules Committee, who is the Speaker of this House. If any member of this Assembly is, on the basis of his experience, justified in suggesting changes in the rules, it is the chairman of the House Rules Commmittee, who is the Speaker of this House. I presume that the initial suggestion regarding the change in the method and manner of handling resolutions will be the only recommendation upon which there will be an extensive debate. I may be mistaken in that. There is no judging the wayward mind of the minority in this matter.

In considering the suggested change, which in effect would require a resolution to follow the same procedure in the House that bills do now follow, the first question whether the recommendation is in line with sound procedure. It is in line with sound procedure because it is identically the procedure followed since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, by the National Congress, —"All other rules, memorials and resolutions may, in like manner, be delivered, endorsed with the names of the members introducing them, to the Speaker, to be by him referred to the proper Committee." And so, in presenting these suggested amendments to the rules we are in line with the practice in the National Congress. We have precedent in the history of this House for such suggestion. Prior to 1911, the 1909 I know, and 1907 session of the Legislature, the rule to which the House adhered was this: All resolutions after they have been twice read shall be referred to an appropriate committee without debate, and if favorably reported shall be printed and lie over for one day, after which they may be called up under their appropriate order of business." And in changing this rule, after having tried a rule that is not workable, we simply return to the traditional practice in this House when there were master parliamentarians in this assembly. So, we are in line with the practice of the National Congress and with the traditional practice of this House. Moreover, Mr. Speaker, the changes we suggest in the Rules of the House are sustantially the procedure which prevail at this time in the Senate. So, I submit to you that the changes in the method of handling resolutions, which are identical with the methods, which are practically identically with the method of handling resolutions in the Senate, which are in agreement with the methods of handling resolutions in the National House and which are in line with the traditional practice in this House, are sound.

Mr. Speaker, the practical aspects of this situation must appeal to every member. I submit to the gentleman on this side of the House and I submit to the gentlemen on the other side of the House that a rule which would permit any one member, who was so disposed absolutely to tie up procedure is essentially unsound. I can introduce one resolution or ten or fifty or one hundred and fifty, and every member of this House is equally priviliged, and any group so disposed could present any number of resolutions which would inevitably have to be printed an disposed of. We could spend three months under the present rules. I have no notion that any member of the House or any group in the House would attempt any such tactics, but under the present Rules we could spend three months unless the majority absolutely steam-rollered the procedure in handling resolutions. We would have to bring in a rule barring resolutions. Mr. Speaker, when a resolution is presented it is necessary to print, I think, about from two thousand to three thousand copies. That resolution may have merit. It may have no merit and be simply the expression of an opinion by some member, who for some reason desires to get into the record. It so happens that up to the present time we have been particularly fortunate in this session in the caliber of resolutions. Practically without exceptions resolutions suggested have been in line with correct thought but that may not necessarily be the case at all times. We could have had resolutions on every side at every proposition that could be pending. We would have been lost in a morass of resolutions.

Under the changes proposed, Mr. Speaker, members, introducing resolutions will obtain full publicity. At the present time the members of the press do not obtain a copy and have not been obtaining copies of resolutions. Under this procedure a copy of the resolution will go to the gentlemen of the press. In addition, a copy of the resolution, or the text of the resolution will be printed in the House History, in addition you can find the text of the resolution in the Legislative Journal. So, there is no lack of publicity.

Regarding the other proposals: the proposal concerning House Rule 15 is simply parliamentary law as it is applied, the recognized procedure of practically all parliamentary bodies.

House Rule No. 9 simply repeats the language of the constitution. It is necessary for the House to define how many members constitute a majority for doing business, and in this manner we simply follow the language of the constitution.

House Rule No. 51 is, I believe, the commonly accepted parliamentary practice.

House Rule No. 76 represents an attempt to clear up what is, to some members at least, an involved situation.

We have House 71 as follows: "Every member shall be present within the Hall of the House during its sittings, unless excused by the House or necessarily prevented, and shall vote on each question put, unless he has a direct personaly or pecuniary interest in the determination of such questions. If a member refuses to vote, unless he be excused by the House, or unless he be interested, such refusal shall be deemed a contempt.' That is Rule 71.

Then we have Rule 76 as follows: "No member shall be permitted to record his vote who neglects to vote when his name is first called by the Clerk."

You have Rule 78 as follows: "No member shall be permitted to vote on any question unless he be present in the House when the ayes and nays are called he be present to answer to his name."

The rescinding of House Rule 76 simply removes the lawyer element on the proposition. Rules 71 and 78 protect the House.

Rule 76 says: "No member shall be permitted to record his vote who neglects to vote when his name is first called by the clerk." That is a matter of proof. How are you going to prove whether or not a man neglected to vote? He said he does not hear, or he didn't hear his name called. You may be sitting beside him or behind him and know that he neglected to vote, that he did not hear his name called, but that is a matter of proof. He says he did not neglect to vote.

So, gentlemen of the House, these Rules are so commendable in and of themselves that I must apologize to you for having taken so much of your time in debating them. I thank you for your patient hearing.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of information.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, shall we vote upon this resolution as a whole or shall we vote upon it by taking it up rule for rule, because on some of the rules we are in conflict of opinion and on some others we are not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be very glad to divide the question.

We will take up Rule 84 if that is satisfactory to the gentleman from Philadelphia.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment to Rule 84?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened to the gentleman from Cambria and I could not help but wonder how time changes our thought. I have no doubt the gentleman from Cambria will agree with me that if such a change had been introduced during the session of 1933 in lieu of 1935 that my friend of the Democratic party would not have been so much in favor of the passage of such a change in our rules. But we are all cognizant of the fact that time does make changes. We must allow for that.

I direct your attention to the fact that the gentleman from Cambria has stated that if the rule remains the same we would be here for three months just on considering resolutions. In reply to him may I say that I am fortunate enough to have been a member of this House since 1925, attending those numerous sessions and special sessions since that time. They were all Republican controlled Houses. We had the rule pertaining to resolutions as it now reads, and yet every one of those sessions, was a speedy, short and businesslike session. So that you need not concern yourselves with the thought that if the rule is permitted to stay and not be changed that we will have any such deluge. Whether or not my friend is fearful of the change of the membership of this House and is fearful of his own Democratic members, introducing so many resolutions that it will clog up the machinery of this House, I don't know.

My friend has also referred to the fact that we should adopt the amendment to the rules, because the Senate of Pennsylvania has such a rule. Ordinarily that would seem like an argument that could not be answered. But the answer is very simple. The House is a more representative body than the Senate. It is a body that is supposed to be and is closer to a greater number of people. We have a great many more members. Our power of expression, our desire to express our thoughts, ought necessarily to be closer and nearer to the hearts of the people, because we are a much larger body, and the Senate, which is a smaller body, can certainly act in their own manner.

My friend has also stated what he considers to be the practical effect of the adoption of this change. I differ with him in the practical effect. The practical effect, members of this House, is quite plain; it is quite patent. The effect is to gag those resolutions which do not meet with the favor or approbation of the majority party of this House.

Why not call a spade a spade? Why not say, "We are in a majority, we have a right to rule, we do not want you Republicans in the minority party to embarass us with numerous resolutions, we do not want you, to use the common vernacular, 'to put us on the spot' from time to time'. There would be no better argument in the whole world if that argument emanated from my learned friend over there. That argument would be a logical one. But w Republicans are in the minority. We do not want to be gagged. We do not want to be stopped. We do not want you to take a resolution that we produce, and if you do not like it, pickle it in your controlled committees, there to die a natural or an unnatural death. Therefore, from a practical viewpoint, we appreciate what you are trying to do, but we are going to try to the best of our ability to stop you from so doing.

May I also say that the gentleman has referred to the printing? I think you men in this House when you introduce a resolution want to send it back home, and whether you be a Democrat or whether you be a Republican you want your constituents and the people back home to know what you are doing. To the Democratic members of the House, as well as to the Republicans, this even gags you from doing that, because your resolution will not be printed except in the House Journal; your resolution will not even be printed unless the Committee reports it out. So that if you are requested by some group in your own community to present a resolution and to send them a copy, you won't even be able to do that, because you will have to wait until the Committee reports it out. I am frank to admit that my Democratic friends will have a better chance of sending a bill back home than we will. That is another reason why we are trying to stop you from gagging this Republican minority.

Now, members, I ask you in all fairness to vote rule 84 down. You members of the Democratic party have always said you were in favor of freedom of speech, you have always advocated the fact that you were a liberal party, you have always said and advocated the fact that nothing should be done to stifle the voices, either of the people or their representatives. You can prove that you were honest, and I use that word "honest" not in any improper fashion, but I mean that you in your convictions can prove that you were not exactly dishonest in your convictions,—when you were in the minority you thought one way, and now that you are in the majority, you feel the other way. If you still feel as you always said you felt, members of the Democratic party, you will join with the Republicans in leaving rule 84 just as it is, and I can assure the gentleman from Cambria that if the Democratic majority carries out the policy of this House the same as the Republican majority did in the last ten years, we will have a speedy, business-like and short session.

Mr. RUTH. I have been a member of this House prior to this session and I have experienced the condition when bills became clogged like they were last night and like they were last week. Rules were brought in that barred all resolutions. The Democratic majority does not want to do that. We want to give every member of the House who so desires an opportunity to present resolutions. The Democratic majority believes that if the members of this House wish to carry on the propoganda with their constituents, they should pay for it themselves by having the resolutions mimeographed and sending them back, and not to ask the tax-payers to foot the bill. I therefore ask for a unanimous vote in favor for the adoption of this rule.

Mr. HOOPES. As the spokesman of a small minority of two in this House and also of a small minority of the same number in previous sessions I can afford to be consistent. I have opposed all gag rules ever since I have been a member of this House, and I will continue to oppose them, no matter who proposes them. I am rather surprised that the majority of this House would set up such a model to be followed by the members of the House. I realize that they have had considerable provocation. I realize that a dictatorship is more efficient than a democracy. We in America, thus far at least, have always professed to believe in a democracy. It is generally admitted that a dictatorship can get things done, but the effect upon the people is not always what we consider desirable. We are in favor of democracy, but, members of the House, the rule as it is now, as has been pointed out, has been in effect for many years, and with few exceptions, as has been said, abused. I do not believe that the majority is justified in assuming that there is going to continue to be a flood of legislation throughout the session such as we have already had. A lot of the members returning and finding themselves in a minority for the first time, introduced resolutions. We did not have anything on the calendar last night with the exception of one bill that was brought out from Committee. I do not think it hurts anything to sit around and discuss a few resolutions. The trouble in attempting to gag what they consider bad resolution is that they also gag the good ones. They say that the good ones will come out of Committee. If the majority permits them, they will, no doubt about that. I have heard that certain members of this majority rave about Committees killing bills at previous sessions. They killed the bills because they did not want them to come out. You are now putting, as the gentleman from Cambria has ably said, the resolutions in exactly the same position as bills. You are giving the majority the right to kill resolutions, if they do not want them considered. I do not think that is good tactics. I do not think it is even good tactics for the majority of this House. I think the reaction that might arise from the flood of resolutions would not be the one anticipated. I think if it continues, the reaction, not only to the members of the House but to the people of the State of Pennsylvania would have been very definite and would have been against the continuance of such a practice.

I think it would have been better to give the Republican minority enough rope and let them hang themselves rather than try to gag them by this sort of tactics. I think it would have been much better to leave the rules as they are. Let us have some method of blowing off steam. A safety valve is a very useful thing on a boiler. It is also a very useful thing in a Legislature. Let us have some method of giving an expression of opinion, even though the majority for the time being may not agree to it. It may be that some members of the majority may not go along throughout the session as regularly as they are now. I think it is well to give us a chance to express opinions. It doesn't hurt anybody. I do not believe that it will be abused. When the calendar reaches the point where we cannot afford the time and puts in a position where every resolution must follow the course of a bill, by sending it to committee, and then you try to get it out. "Oh," they say, "Everything that is desirable will come out." That is what the majority states. They determine what is desirable. What does not suit their purposes is not desirable usually.

I therefore, in all sincerity, ask the members of this House. and I am now appealing to those members of a majority who were in the minority last session, to be consistent. Let us leave the rules in a form that is offering us a safety valve. Let us be able to give an expression of opinion on questions which are of interest to members of this House.

If they are of interest the members of this House it logically follows that they must be of interest to some of the citizens of this State. Let us get an expression of opinion in this quick and easy fashion instead of sending them to Committees and then trying to dig them out. Let us leave the rules go as they are. Let us have the safety valve. I appeal to you to vote no on the proposed amendment to rule 84.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the analysis of the situation made by the gentleman from Berks. I am sure that the entire membership appreciates the position of the majority of this House, and I just gathered a few facts from the House history of the session of 1933. The gentleman from Berks intimated that he did not think that the minority would continue to abuse their privilege. I am sorry to say that since this House has been in session the Republican minority has continued to abuse the privileges that have been offered.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is indulging in personal references in referring to the entire group of the Republican party and I object to his remarks.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken and the gentleman will confine his remarks to the resolution.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in the history of the House bills and resolutions of the 1933 session, extending from January to sometime in May there were presented for the consideration of the members of the House 157 resolutions. Out of the 157 resolutions 47 were presented by the Democratic minority of that time and the balance were presented by the Republican majority of that time. Today, at the present time we have on the calendar resolutions up to No. 22 The session has just begun, and out of those resolutions that have been presented the ratio is just the opposite. In fact, the Republican minority out of the 22 has presented 14, while the Democratic majority has presented possibly 8. I have not tabulated those figures accurately but I think that proportion bears out. It is clearly indicative of a concerted effort on the part of the minority to present resolutions and hamstring the peaceful and orderly procedure of this House.

The Democratic majority at the first instance in the organization of this House extended to the Republican minority every courtesy, extended to the Republican minority every consideration that the Republican minority could wish. The seating of the House was to their satisfaction, the appointment of the committees — —

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not talking on the question.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is amending Rule 84. The gentleman from York will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in presenting the change of the rule we were further substantiating our practice of fairness. We were fair in the seating of the House, we were fair in the appointment of committees.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York is not obeying the ruling made by the Speaker upon my previous point of order in confining himself to the question under debate.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will confine himself to the resolution before the House.

Mr. COHEN. The resolution before the House, Mr. Speaker, is another indication of fairness on the part of the Democratic majority. We were fair in the appointment of committee assignments — — —

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, on two occasions within the past few moments I rose to a point of order and directed the Speaker's attention to the fact that the gentleman from York was not talking upon the question. The Chair has twice ruled that he should so do. Contrary to the wishes of the Speaker and contrary to the ruling upon the point of order, the gentleman from York is again violating the Rule by talking on something that is not on the question and I ask the Speaker again to sustain the point of order and again rule that the gentleman confine himself to the question and not go on any extraneous subject.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled on the point of order raised, and the gentleman from York will confine himself to the resolution before the House.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in showing the analogy between the fairness of the Democratic party in presenting this resolution and the fairness of the Democratic party in their other activities in the organization of the House, would it be within the subject matter to present that analogy to the membership of this House in discussing Resolution 84 or in discussing the resolution now before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read for the information of the member Rule No. 3 of the House: "He (meaning the Chair) shall preserve order and decorum and in debate shall prevent personal reflection, and confine members to the question under discussion. When two or more members shall rise at the same time, he shall name the one entitled to the floor." The Chair therefore rules that he has no other alternative than that the gentleman from York should confine himself to the question now before the House.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this resolution under discussion is just a series of overtures on the part of the Democratic majority to be fair. We try to exemplify that in all our activities. We have tried to establish a precedent for this House, irrespective of what the nature of its political alignment might be in the future. We have tried to establish a foundation of fairness so that the deliberations of this House may continue in a proper and orderly manner. As I have indicated a flood of resolutions has been presented that has been nothing more than a subterfuge on the part of the minority to obstruct the orderly procedure of this House. We are presenting this resolution only as a resort to prevent excessive printing bills, to prevent excessive delays, to prevent entire disruption of our peaceful method of procedure.

We have first by the change in the rules indicated the practice for the discharge of committees. That is open to the Republican minority or any minority. That takes full advantage or fully covers all the objections that the Republican minority might have to the passage of this Resolution and I urge upon the entire membership of this House the passage of the resolution before the House.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that they try to discuss actions and thoughts under disguised names. I cannot find anything in this rule or in this resolution to change the rules, that it should be interpreted as a gag rule. I personally would never vote for a gag rule, but I understand that the minority with less than its membership can retract or recall a resolution or a bill from a committee. Therefore this rule or resolution is absolutely not a gag rule and should not be called a gag rule.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York has mentioned the fact that a number of resolutions had been offered and drew the inference that they were just for delay. Now let us take the first resolution, resolution No. 1 offered by Mr. Andrews: Does the gentleman from York think that that was offered for delay or to interfere with the orderly procedure of this House?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I might say that the subject matter covered in Mr. Andrews' resolution was as he intimated, covered in four or five subsequent resolutions which by inference one would gather were intended for delay.

Mr. SOWERS. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York is of the opinion that Mr. Andrews' resolution is a proper one, is that right?

Mr. COHEN. I don't know. I do know this, Mr. Speaker, that the subject matter covered by Mr. Andrews' resolution was repeated by two or three subsequent resolutions.

Mr. SOWERS. Doesn't the gentleman really think that occurred because Mr. Andrews—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order. The gentleman must confine himself to the question before the House, the amendments to the resolution now before the House.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from York whether he is of the opinion that the offering of a resolution recommending to the Congress the immediate payment of the bonus is trivial and interferes with the orderly processes of this House?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, is not confining himself in his remarks to the question before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled on the point of order, and the gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the question now before the House, namely, to amend Rule 84.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Rule 84 as amended and as now before the House seeks to change a well-established practice of bringing before this House resolutions that request Congress and other bodies for information and request them to act in certain ways.

The Constitution of the United States in its wisdom provided that the people as well as the legislatures of various states of the union would have the right to memorialize Congress upon any subject. To pass this amendment is in effect to nullify the rights that the Constitution of the United States gives to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver will state his point of order.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not speaking on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled on the point of order. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the amendments to Rule 84.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I thought that I was speaking on the motion before this House. If we adopt this rule, then this House may be delayed in memorializing Congress until it is too late. We may read in tomorrow's paper that such and such a bill is before Congress. We may have the opinions upon that subject and it may be our duty to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to express those opinions quickly and without delay, and I submit that our right to memorialize should not be abrogated by a rule of this kind.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Flinchbaugh, Tumelty, Piole, Pearson, Stank, Harmuth, George E. Downey, Pfaff, Cliff Patterson, Furman, Schwab, Panton, Caputo, Melchiorre, Nagle, Cochran, Welsh, Brownfield, Arnold, Decker and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments made to Rule No. 84?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Witkin and Mr. Shreiner and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not take up the amendments to Rules 15 and 51.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Rules 15 and 51?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in designating the proposed changes that are covered by the two rules which the Rules Committee suggest we amend, I want to designate these two proposed changes as blatant exercise of an attempt to use the well-known gag.

My friend from Westmoreland may not agree with me in reading the report, because he won't see the word "gag" used in the report of the Rules Committee, but it is there very cleverly disguised, and if the adoption of the rule as to resolutions is an attempt to use the gag, it is only a partial attempt as compared to this proposed change.

We have now provided that resolution will not be adopted on the floor of the House except in so far as they meet with the favorable reaction of the majority in the House.

The proposed change now relates to bills, the work was only half done. Now we will complete the job. These amendments provide that when a bill has been referred to this House from committee that all debate, all discussion upon the merits or demerits of the bill may be stopped, may be gagged by a motion to lay on the table which shall always be in order and which shall not be debatable.

I must confess that when the Rules Committee proposed its first change in the rules to the effect that a vote of 85 members of this House could discharge the committee from further consideration of a bill. I was very pleasantly surprised because that action was consistent with the action of the Democratic contigent in this House during the session of 1933. The effect of the adoption of that amendment provided that whereas theretofore a vote of 105 members could bring a bill on the floor of the House in this session a vote of 85 members would produce that effect, and I will admit that that was a very splendid gesture on the part of the Democratic majority. It seems that for once they decided to carry into effect all of the ravings and rantings of the previous session about free and untrammeled discussion on the floor of this House, and while I did think of the old adage that one should be beware of the Greeks when bearing gifts, I had no right to be suspicious until the present moment. The effect of the proposed changes brings us squarely back to where we were before, that there shall be no discussion of a bill on the floor of this House unless the majority decides that there shall be.

I do not expect my Democratic friends in so clearly a party measure to be influenced by anything I say, and I do not expect to make any votes, but I do want to drag into the open the real reason for the proposed change. If a committee is discharged from the consideration of a bill and the bill is before the membership of this House it is presumed that that bill is the property of this House and open to free discussion.

If the proposed change is carried into effect, the moment that the bill is read a motion to lay it on the table is in order. When that motion is passed by a majority of those voting on the bill, not by a constitutional majority, the bill then lies on the Speaker's table. Now, in order to bring that bill back before the House it will require not 85 votes but a majority of those voting on that motion to bring it from the table and before the House. So that we have the effect that a committee may be discharged by 85 votes but the House cannot discuss the bill unless there is a majority that decides to discuss it.

Now let us understand that reason, the motive behind the proposed change, and then let us express publicly whether at this late day after all the protestations of liberality, of free discussion of a real representative House, whether you are willing to record yourselves as being in favor of a change in the rules which will stifle the minority of this House, unless you gentlemen in your generous liberality, bearing gifts, will permit us to do so.

The proposed change certainly should be defeated.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Rule 15 and 51?

The ayes and nays were required by Mr. Witkin and Mr. Tahl.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will now take up the amendments to Rules 9 and 76.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Rules 9 and 76?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Chairman, I would like to call attention to the fact that in the amended rule we have left out the word "compel." It does not read straight at all as read by the clerk or as it is printed and on the desks of the members.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that it is a typographical error. In the official copy it it correctly inserted.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, the clerk read it without the word "compel" both times he read it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments, to Rules 9 and 76?

They were agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 17

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 17. Printer's No. 17.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas In many cases boats on rivers are operated in open competition with railroad transportation and

Whereas Boats so operated are not compelled to maintain rights of way in the manner required of railroads and as a consequence can offer lower rates for transportation and

Whereas The belief prevails that river transportation is not subjected to a burden of Federal and State taxation equal to that imposed on railroads and

Whereas Railroad transportation is essential to the development of the commerce and business of the United States and

Whereas River transportation is in most instances a matter of interstate commerce over which the Federal Government has control therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly memorialize Congress of the United States to enact legislation which will equalize the burden of taxation between river and railroad transportation in order to enable railroads to secure a fair share of the business

Resolved That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Federal Relations for further consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the capacity of entertainer I have many occasions to visit the different Legion posts back home in Luzerne county. In these visits I find many, many veterans who have been gassed, who have lost different members of their bodies, who have been wrecked in health, who have no jobs and are practically on charity.

In talking with these fellows about their condition, I found that they feel that they have a friend in the Legislature of Pennsylvania. A few years ago, down at Washington, with a Republican House and Senate and a Republican President, we gave the soldiers half of their bonus. Last year we gave them a bonus here, with the House and Senate controlled by Republicans and a Republican Governor.

Those fellows back home think that both the Republicans and Democrats down here feel for them to the extent that they went over there and gave their lives—

The Speaker. Is the gentleman speaking on his resolution—

Mr. JONES. No, Mr. Speaker, under a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The resolution that he is going to call up?

Mr. JONES. No, Mr. Speaker, I am talking under a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman speaking on the resolution that he proposes to call up? We are on resolutions now.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to convey to this House what the veterans back home feel and I have to use that language to tell them why—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed, but will not discuss the resolution he is about to call up.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in their conversations they feel that the Republicans and the Democrats feel for them to the extent that they are friendly, at least that they appreciate the trials they went through in the trenches over there. They feel that we are their friends.

Members of the House, you know there is a question that is going to arise maybe this week in Washington, and these men may need the help of us members of this Legislature. I am going to ask everybody here at this time, therefore, to forget partisan politics and just let those fellows feel that they are worthy of some consideration, let them feel that we are with them and not against them, let them feel that we are their friends.

With that plea at this time I am going to call up Resolution No. 14, Printer's No. 14, and ask unanimous consent to put this resolution over.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman was not recognized for the purpose of calling up a resolution and did not have the floor at any time for that purpose.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

RESOLUTION NO. 14

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 14, Printer's No. 14.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, the Federal government has from its immense resources found it possible to expend large sums of money for the relief of the farmer and many who heretofore have found agriculture pursuits to be most unprofitable are now comfortably existing on moneys received for slaughtering pigs or plowing under various crops or for not planting their usual acreage in corn or wheat or cotton and

Whereas, Relief in some form has been provided for large utilities for banks and for communities and no great difficulty seems to have been met in obtaining the funds necessary for this most necessary and beneficial form of relief and

Whereas, in spite of this unusual outlay those valiant sons of yesteryear who so willingly and cheerfully and bravely undertook the great adventure to secure and insure for us the peace of the world remain uncared for and

Whereas, Those heroes who crossed the seas and fought on foreign soil in order that we might be safe have for their sacrifices received only the promise that years from now their just claims will be satisfied and

Whereas, It is now when their need is the greatest that those defenders of our national honor should receive full payment from the government that recognized their rights and promised compensation therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize and urge the Congress of the United States to consider and pass the legislation necessary to appropriate and immediately pay to those engaged in the World War the amount of the bonus still due and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs for further consideration.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

RESOLUTION NO. 19

Mr. WASSERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 19, Printer's No. 19.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

During those days when democracy was at stake and fevered urge of patriotism caused Americans to buy liberty bonds until it hurt in order that this Nation might throw into the balance that weight of arms that was needed to turn the tide of victory against the Hohenzollerns there were those at home who grew fat on the sacrifices made by their countrymen.

While American youth was shot to pieces on the battlefields of France the fortunes of munition makers in America grew and grew

Profits here kept far ahead of sacrifices over there and the dangers there faced and the trials there endured and the misery there suffered but added to the vast sums that made rich and kept safe the unconscionable profiteers at home

Late investigations of the earnings of munition plants during the war have revealed that of which no one even dreamed

That men and corporations could so profit on patriotism and take while others were giving and giving was never conceived.

If love of country will not prevent seemingly highminded citizens from enriching themselves at the cost of their fellow men then the government must step in and substitute its power for their utter lack of conscience therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the Senate and House of Representatives of this General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass legislation to make impossible the profits heretofore enjoyed by munition makers by giving to the Federal Government rigid control over munition plants and the power to operate such plants either in peace or war times and to at once direct the undertaking and carrying on of a thorough and detailed study of a plan for industrial mobilization during periods of war in order to make excess profits to corporations and individuals impossible in the future and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States with the request that the same be read and then be referred to the proper committees for immediate action

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Whereas, The present method of affording relief to these unfortunate persons as practiced by the Commonwealth and the Federal government through commissaries and store orders but adds to their natural embarrassment and humiliation and

Whereas, Much of the food and clothing furnished by relief agencies is wasted and dissipated by those who receive it on account of not being adapted to their need and

Whereas, The payment to these unfortunates of the money necessary to sustain life would not only relieve them of the embarrassment and humiliation now suffered but would effect a great saving in the distribution of relief by those charged therewith therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That hereafter all relief distributed by the Commonwealth from funds appropriated for that purpose shall be in the form of cash that all commmissaries now operating shall be closed that the practice of furnishing store orders shall be discontinued and that the legislation necessary to bring about this end shall be speedily passed by this General Assembly

Whereas, law and order is absolutely necessary to maintain a staple government:—Therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Federal Government be memorialized to pass such laws and take such action necessary to blot out and prohibit lynch law and mob violence, and secure to every citizen, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as guaranteed in our bill of rights:

Be it further Resolved, that copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Speaker and Chief Clerk of this House, to the President of the United States, the Vice President and President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

WORLD COURT

By Mr. SOWERS. RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, January 22, 1935.

Whereas, There is now pending before the Senate of the United States a proposition to enter this Government into the World Court, and

Whereas, It is wiser now to avoid foreign entanglements than when Washington advised against it, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania memorializes the United States Senate to vote and use its influence against the entry of the United States into the World Court, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the United States Senators from Pennsylvania and to the United States Senate.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

RESOLUTIONS AND BILLS

By Mr. WEISS. RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, January 22, 1935.

Whereas, A statement compiled by a committee selected by Governor George Earle, clearly indicates that the fiscal affairs of this Commonwealth face an acute condition;

Whereas, Both Republican and Democratic parties were committed to a liberal platform in the recent election held on November 6th, 1934;

Whereas, The mandate of the people clearly expressed to the Members of the Assembly a desire to have this liberal platform enacted into law as expeditiously as possible;

Whereas, Many Republican Members of the House have been wasting valuable time in presenting resolutions that in reality are concerned with federal problems wholly under the jurisdiction of the Congress of the United States; therefore be it

Resolved, That all Members of this Assembly, both Republican and Democratic, unite in a spirit of friendliness and cooperation in order to redeem their pledges to the people of this Commonwealth, and confine themselves to the introduction of resolutions and measures only which are within the spirit of their party platforms and will advance the welfare of the people of this great Commonwealth and trust the Members of the Congress of the United States to guide the destinies of the Nation.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

INCOME TAX

By Mr. SOWERS. RESOLUTION No. 28.

In The House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, January 22, 1935.

Memorializing the President of the United States and the Congress to approve, an Act to increase the present federal income taxes by a certain amount and distribute that increase to the States from which it is collected.

Whereas, The present financial condition of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires the imposition of additional taxation and probably the same conditions exist in many of the sister States of the Union, and

Whereas, It is deemed advisable by many citizens, regardless of party allegiance, to place an income tax law upon the Statute books of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, The power to pass such Legislation creating graded income taxes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is questionable, and

Whereas, The passing of such income tax Legislation and the administration of the same would result in placing an additional burden of overhead costs on the taxpayers by having both a federal and state income tax system in force and would result in having two different groups of officeholders performing one and the same service and would burden the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the expense of a system which the Federal Government already has and maintains, and that the United States Internal Revenue Department is now fully equiped with all of the necessary machinery to properly and efficiently collect such an additional tax,

Therefore Be It Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Federal Government be memorialized to add to the present income tax levy an additional levy, and that the additional levy be returned to the several States from which it was collected, and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be transmitted by the Speaker and the Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States and the Vice President and the President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to all the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

OLD AGE PENSION

By Mr. SOWERS. RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, January 22, 1935.

Memorializing the President of the United States and the Congress to approve an Act to fix the minimum age for Old Age Pension or Security at not over sixty years.

Whereas, Persons now past forty-five years of age find great difficulty in obtaining employment and especially so because labor saving machinery has in effect dispensed with their services in the economic system of production, and

Whereas, It is only right and proper that labor saving machinery having dispensed with their services should in turn bear the taxation necessary to secure to them the right to live, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Federal Government be memorialized to fix the minimum age for Old Age Pension at not greater than sixty years, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Speaker and the Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States, the Vice-President, and the President of the Senate, and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to all the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. REISING asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Nagel.

Mr. HARKINS asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Holland.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ARRANGE FOR CELEBRATION OF PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee to make arrangements for the celebration of the birthday of President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Messrs. Ominsky, Flinchbaugh, Munley, Simon, Rinn, Shreiner.

RESOLUTION NO. 10

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up Resolution No. 10, Printer's No. 10.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, In this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania there prevails a State Emergency Relief Board who constitute the authority to allocate funds to the various counties set-up for the purpose of direct relief or work relief; and

Whereas, The County Relief Board of the County of Philadelphia constitutes the authority in Philadelphia to render decisions by the set-up they term beneficial; and

Whereas, Direct relief sought from many angles by those in distress, food orders, coal, clothing, shoes and many other necessities made available and disposed of through the set-up termed by many in authority that were compensated by wages or salaries for their services rendered; and

Whereas, Work relief created by projects authorized in local communities by which employment created came under the jurisdiction of the State Emergency Relief Administration, Local Works Division and County Relief Board.

Therefore Be It Resolved, (should the Senate concur), A complete investigation by a committee of four members of the house appointed by the Speaker of the House and a committee of three members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tempore be granted power to constitute the authority for conducting hearings to obtain any evidence they seek regarding relief and the distribution or disbursing of

Resolved, Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths or affirmations to witness appearing before it, any person who shall wilfully neglect to appear and testify before said committee or refuse to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by law of this Commonwealth.

Resolved, That an item be inserted in the General Appropriation bill to pay the expenses of said committee.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of further consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 11

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 11, Printer's No. 11.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In The House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, Recovery is worth all it costs the New Deal is at crossroads and

Whereas, Instead of States trying to dominate the Federal Government, we have private bankers trying to dominate our Federal Treasury; and

Whereas, The framers of the United States Constitution in Article 1 Section 8 very wisely said, "Congress shall have the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof,"

Whereas, We do not desire to and will not destroy our monetary system; and

Whereas, Our Government under the leadership of a great President Franklin Delano Roosevelt is making a determined effort to restore prosperity to the people, much has been done toward helping wage earners, laborers, farmers, home-owners, business, industry and commerce; and

Whereas, Debts have been scaled down, extended and interest charges reduced, the issuance and distribution of money is a governmental function; and

Whereas, The Federal Reserve Banks should be taken over by the Government and operated in the interest of the people, Banks, Industry and Commerce. No private Corporation or Corporation Owned by private Corporations should have the right to issue money. The Government should issue currency when in need of money instead of tax exemption interest bearing bonds; and

Whereas, A billion dollars a year can be used by the Federal Government to a better advantage than paying it as interest on Government Bonds that may be used as a basis for the issuance of currency.

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the President of the United States to move at once for a substantial and effective inflation for creation of at least ten billion of dollars in new credit for its immediate distribution and for its control through a government operated central banks, which shall provide vast new appropriations for the Public Works Administration to be expended liberally and swiftly in addition provide the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with funds to pay off the depositors who trusted the Governments call for faith in their banks.

Resolved, Copies of this resolution be transmitted by the clerk of the Senate to the President of the United States, to both Members of the United States Senate and each Member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Banking for the purpose of further consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments for further consideration and further study.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. This bill has been on the calendar and every one has been able to become acquainted with it. We want the bill to pass today.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Berks advise this House when this bill was first printed for the benefit of the members of this House?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, the bill was presented in this House on Monday evening and was printed and on the members' desks yesterday morning.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Berks agree with me that this is an eleven page bill and that the first time it was on the files of the members of this House was Tuesday, January 22nd, yesterday; is that correct?

Mr. RUTH. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr Speaker, does the gentleman from Berks recall that in a previous interrogation I pointed out that a resolution that contained two hundred and eighty-six words had been in this House and printed for one week—does the gentleman recall stating to this House that he believed that sufficient time had not been given for proper study and consideration of that small resolution of two hundred and eighty-six words?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I agree that I made that statement, but I realize that the members of this House have gained considerable experience since that time and are able to understand the bill.

Mr. WITKIN. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. One more question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WITKIN. May I ask the gentleman from Berks whether he does not consider the discussion of this bill more than a facetious matter?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I think that every one has been able to study this bill and knows what the bill is about. The newspapers have published it and every one has read the bill; there is no question about that.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman from Berks refuses to be interrogated any further?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks answered "one more question."

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, with due and proper respect to my worthy opponent, I am rather amazed, astounded and astonished that the Democratic floor leader of this House on a bill of greater importance than any bill that could possibly ever be presented before any legislature should refuse to permit the minority party to interrogate him and should limit his interrogation to "one more question." However, that is his prerogative.

In support of the desire to return this bill to the committee, I have this to say: this bill is a bill changing the constitution of Pennsylvania. Is there a member within the hearing of my voice that can possibly state that it is not the most important piece of legislation that has ever been presented before any house of representatives? And yet this is the same Democratic leadership that stated on Monday night on a small, tiny, little resolution of two hundred and eighty-six words that desired more time to study it. This Democratic majority wanted more time to study small matters but on big matters they do not want any time at all.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARRY N. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of order.

Mr. HARRY N. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not confining himself to the question before the House—the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia must confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is substantiation of my statement I say to you that when you put into this House on Monday night before it is printed a bill of this importance and you hold a meeting of your Committee on Constitutional Amendments and you become so ingenious that within twelve minutes you can report out a bill that has not been printed, that you have not read, that you knew nothing about, then I say truly you have learned more than a little since Monday night, you have become the peers of all learners.

Here is a bill that was given twelve minutes consideration by a Democratic controlled committee, and it might well be said that if this bill were ever enacted into law—and, God! I hope and pray it never will—that it was created and conceived in twelve minutes then we might well call the new constitution the twelve minute baby of the Democrats.

You members talk about railroading. I say that you have failed to give us time, failed to give us more than twenty-four hours within which to consider and study this bill, failed to give the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the opportunity to confer with their representatives and to suggest amendments. The failure to lay this bill over until at least next Monday night for second reading, so that proper amendments can be made, is not railroading; it is putting a bill through this House by the New Deal route of airplaning. You are not trying to railroad this bill, you are trying to airplane it without rhyme or reason and without judgment.

Members of the Democratic party, by doing this you are violating every tradition of your party and you are becoming the mere pawns and puppets of your leaders.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, you should recommit this in justice to the people of Pennsylvania, you should recommit this bill to give us more time to study it in justice to your party, you should give this bill back to the committee so that we may read this eleven page bill intelligently and wisely, in order that you should not gag us from the opportunity of presenting amendments to this bill.

You members of the Democratic party know and I know that today is the last time that we can offer amendments to this bill. It is on second reading within twenty-four hours after receiving first reading. It is not fair—not to us—I do not argue that it is not fair to the Republican party; it is not fair to the constituents of Pennsylvania whom we all represent. What harm can there come, what hurt can there be if you let this go back to the committee until Monday night, and then if you want to railroad or airplane it out again, vote on it on Tuesday. But there are matters of importance involved here. The public press has not even had time to give you all the details of this bill. Let the people back home know what you are going to do before you have done it. You want to push this thing through, you want to railroad it and gag us improperly, and I venture to say that your actions will come back to haunt you at long range—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. May I say to the Speaker that I feel that an argument calling attention to the actions of the majority is argument on the motion to recommit?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to say in conclusion to you, be big enough, if you can, to lay aside your partisan politics when it comes to the matter of the revision of the constitution of Pennsylvania. I hope you can be, but frankly doubt it, and you will confirm my doubts if you fail to recommit this bill for further consideration.

I submit, members of the House, that this bill ought to be recommitted; no harm can come. The people want to know what is going on. It is an important matter. The responsibility of airplaning this bill through this House is yours, the majority party of this House.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, the question before this body is not the adoption of a new constitution. The question before this House is only to set up the machinery for the adoption of a new constitution. This bill provides that a constitutional convention shall be called and after the constitutional convention has acted, the constitution will then be resubmitted to the people of Pennsylvania, and in opposing this motion to recommit—

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inform the gentleman from York that the bill itself is not under discussion. The question is on the motion to recommit. The subject matter of the bill itself is not up for discussion.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in opposing this motion to recommit, we are not acting hurriedly. This question has been before the people of Pennsylvania for a number of years. The people of Pennsylvania have decisively expressed themselves in favor of a constitutional convention and in favor of a new constitution. In submitting this bill and trying to bring it before the people as expeditiously as possible. We are not opposing the traditions of the Democratic party. The Democratic party does not live today in the ox-cart age, it lives in the modern age. The people today understand and expect action from this body, and consequently I believe that the people of Pennsylvania will approve, as they did in November, the action of this House and this Democratic party in bringing this matter as speedily as possible to its ultimate conclusion. I, therefore, ask you to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Flinchbaugh.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York whether he thinks that the necessity for speed warrants the passage of a poorly drawn measure by this House.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I am not willing to agree that this is a poorly drawn measure. I believe it is a measure that has been carefully drawn by me who are able lawyers and who are fully equal to the occasion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the words "a special" and insert in lieu thereof an

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the words "fourteenth day" and insert in lieu thereof

third Tuesday

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 5, by striking out the word "May" and insert in lieu thereof

September

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Amendments?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments. I believe that the special election should be held as stated in this bill. Therefore I ask that the members vote the amendments down.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, as stated by my friend from Berks, Mr. Ruth, the purpose of this amendment is to change the date of the election from a special election in May of this year to the primary election which will be held in September. The obvious purpose of that change is not for delay but is to save a lot of money. It is estimated—I think I understood the gentleman from Berks to say in the committee meeting the other day and I believe I am not transgressing in stating that such a statement was made by him—that the election would cost about six hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

If we hold the election in May we have to have election officers, we have to have the election machinery all set up, and it will be an extra cost upon the State at a time when we need every penny of money in the treasury of Pennsylvania. If we hold this election in September at the time of the regular primary there will be no need of extra officers, it will be done by the usual machinery set up for the primary. It will save, as I was roughly able to estimate in the brief time at my disposal approximately half a million dollars to the people of Pennsylvania.

I believe that the months that will be saved by having this election in May and having the convention meet in June, as this bill provides, as against the provision which I intend of having the election in September and the convention to meet in October, is so slight that we are warranted in trying to save that half million dollars, and, therefore, on the basis, and not because of any partisan question that might enter into it or any consideration of the bill as a whole, but purely in the interest of economy I ask you to vote in favor of this amendment.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman from Delaware suggests an amendment that we withhold the election of the delegates until September, and the convention in October?

Mr. TURNER. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will please direct his question to the gentleman from Delaware instead of to the Chair.

Mr. COHEN. If the convention were held in October under your plan, when should the ratification of the convention be held?

Mr. TURNER. The ratification of the convention? In the Primary of 1936, which would be held in April of 1936. Being a Presidential year, the Primary comes in April.

Mr. COHEN. Then that would be six months later than the plan provided by Bill 147?

Mr. TURNER. The provision under this bill would be that if it is adopted and ratified the Constitution as presented by the convention would go into effect January 1, 1936, as I recall the Act. Under the plan which would have to be worked out with a September primary, it would go into effect on June 1, 1936, just five months later.

Mr. COHEN. From January first to June first is six months.

Mr. TURNER. Five months in my way of calculating.

Mr. COHEN. But that would delay the enactment or ratification of the Constitution six months, is that correct?

Mr. TURNER. Five months.

Mr. COHEN. That is all.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, might I point out to the members of the House, particularly to the gentleman from York, that if the new Constitution would go into effect on June first, that that would be the beginning of a new fiscal year in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the fiscal year runs from June first to May thirty-first, and that even if you did have this Constitution go into effect on January 1, 1936, it would hardly be, from the standpoint of fiscal accounting and for the purposes of the Commonwealth, of any effect until June first of that year.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I point out to the membership of the Republican minority, and particularly to the gentleman from Delaware, that if we do not have a convention which will ratify the new Constitution, the fixing of the fiscal year will be entirely a fiction, because the Commonwealth finances are in such a state that there will not be any fiscal year whatever unless the Constitution is ratified.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I frankly confess that I have not had enough time to study this bill, but I haven't any doubt but what my Democratic friends might answer some of the things that have caused me to hesitate on the bill. I should think that every voter in the Commonwealth ought to have a right to vote for the delegates.

As I remember it, the registration books are now closed and those voters who have moved from one precinct to another would not have, under our present law, any opportunity to register and qualify to vote. Is there anything in this bill which will enable those voters to register and exercise their right of franchise? Does not this bill deprive a great multitude of people from voting at this special election? How can you register these folks? What system will you provide to give them a chance to be heard? I would like some of my Democratic friends to tell us about that. Maybe I am wrong.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I believe that this bill is efficiently drawn, plainly understood by everyone, and we do not want to change the substance of the bill, and, therefore, I ask the members to vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I had a number of amendments to offer to this bill, some of which I have sent to the desk. In view of the position as taken by the majority party in this House in voting down this first amendment, it seems to me useless to go on with these other amendments, which I believe, however, are necessary to put this bill in proper form, whether we agree with the system or not. But, however, to conserve the time of the members of this House, I am going to withdraw the rest of the amendments.

Sections two to ten inclusive were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The constitutional convention shall consist of one hundred two district delegates three to be elected from each congressional district and twenty-seven delegates-at-large who shall be elected from the Commonwealth at large

Section 3 In choosing the delegates for each congressional district each elector shall be entitled to vote for not more than two of the candidates for delegates from the district and the three candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected In choosing the delegates-at-large each elector shall be entitled to vote for not more than eighteen of the candidates for delegates to be chosen from the Commonwealth at large and the twenty-seven candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected

Section 4 Each candidate for delegate shall have been a citizen of the United States of America for at least five years and a qualified elector of this Commonwealth for at least two years prior to the day of the special election Each candidate for district delegate also shall be a qualified elector of the congressional district from which he or she shall be a candidate

Section 5 All political parties required by law to nominate their candidates at the primary election may in the manner hereinafter set forth nominate two candidates from each congressional district as district delegates to the constitutional convention and eighteen candidates from the Commonwealth at large as delegates-at-large Such political parties shall nominate their candidates for delegates-at-large by State-wide conventions composed of the members of their State committees and their candidates for district delegates shall be nominated in congressional districts by conventions called in each congressional district which except in the congressional districts located within cities of the first class shall be composed of the members of the county committees who represent the election districts or divisions within the particular congressional district. SENATE

MONDAY, January 28, 1935.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord, we are proud of our country. We are also proud of our Commonwealth, the Keystone State of our Union. We love our land and her traditions. For the memory of the faith, fidelity and heroism of our fathers we are thankful. We covet that spirit of patriotism which spurred them on to deeds of courage, valor and self-sacrifice.

As we face the serious problems confronting us at this time, give us a comprehension of the dangers amid which we move. Give unto the men who bear the responsibilities of enacting and executing our laws, calm judgment and clear vision. May they not be too deliberate in making decisions, yet may they not be too hasty or impulsive. May they pause at times to seek the guidance of the God of Nations. He hath power to make straight the crooked paths and smooth the rough roads.

Give us Thy counsel for the work of this day. Amen.

RESOLUTION NO. 15

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 15, Printer's No. 15.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Whereas, It has been stated by his Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania that there is being maintained a lobby in Harrisburg and that not a bill is passed, not a move could be made without their consent and

Whereas, There must be an end to the government by lobby and lobbyists in Pennsylvania and

Whereas, His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania has further stated that it is essential that this vicious system which makes a mockery of representative government be dragged out into the open and into the light of publicity

Therefore, Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that an investigation committee is hereby constituted to consist of five members of the House of Representatives appointed by the speaker thereof whose duty shall be thoroughly and impartially to inquire into and investigate the existence of lobbies and lobbyists and make a report and recommendation to the House of Representatives so that the House of Representatives may take such intelligent and appropriate steps as is necessary to end the evils which may be found to exist; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee constituted by this resolution shall organize immediately upon approval hereof and the committee shall hold meetings each week commencing not later than Monday January twenty-eight and continuing thereafter as many days as may be necessary to ascertain the facts which will enable it to make the reports required by this resolution and be it further any witness appearing Any person or persons who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear to testify before the committee when so subpoenaed or any person or persons who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to produce any books papers documents or reports when so subpoenaed shall be guilty of contempt and shall be subject to the penalties provided by the law of this Commonwealth in such cases and be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereby constituted shall make a report to the House of Representatives containing such recommendation as it deems advisible.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules for further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks the reason for this motion to sending the resolution to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, as stated, for further consideration.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that this resolution has been on the Calendar for weeks and there was sufficient time to study it carefully? I would also like to ask him what particular portions of the resolution the gentleman wishes to study carefully.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I would say that this resolution could not be put into effect because it asks that this Committee meet not later than January 28, 1935. That day is almost over and therefore it cannot be acted on.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Berks be in favor of the resolution if the date were stricken out?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I cannot speak for the members of this House. I believe that the administration will do what they promise in the inaugural address without any resolution from this House.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. One more question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Ruth, you are aware of the fact that the Governor of Pennsylvania has said that there is in existence a lobby in Harrisburg that strangles proper legislation. Don't you think in view of the fact of what the Governor has said that it is the duty of every member to immediately proceed and uncover it if such a condition exists.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker. I believe that the Governor will do what he promises in the inaugural address without any further action from this House. and I also believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia will agree with me that the condition as stated by the Governor is in existence.

Mr. TAHL. In opposing this motion Mr. Speaker and members of the House I would like to say to you that this resolution is offered in good faith. It is offered for the purpose of uncovering a lobby if it exists. I believe when the Governor of Pennsylvania made the statement that there is a lobby in Harrisburg.....

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Yourishin. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of Order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne will state his point of order.

Mr. YOURISHIN. The point of order is, Mr. Speaker, that he is discussing the resolution and not the motion to commit.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the motion to commit.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, as I said before, what his Excellency, the Governor, has stated I believe he was sincere about. In further opposing this motion of the gentleman from Berks I want to say that when he said that the existence of such a lobby should be dragged into the open I believe he meant what he said. I don't see why at this time after this resolution has been on the calendar for a week, after every member has had an opportunity to consider it that it should not go to the committee unless it is the intention of the gentleman from Berks to prevent the passage of this resolution, and I do not believe that is the intention. This is not a partisan matter, members of the House; I believe every one of us is interested ———

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Yourishin, will state his point of order.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is discussing the merits of the resolution and not the motion to refer it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia must understand that the motion before the House is to commit to the Committee on Rules. The gentleman from Philadelphia will please confine himself to the resolution to commit.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, in conclusion I desire to state that this resolution is simple, plain, short and there is no reason why it should be sent to any committee. I ask you regardless of party to vote down the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 22

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time resolution No. 22, Printer's No. 23.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 21, 1935.

Memorializing the President and Congress for a further Appropriation to continue the Operation of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation

Whereas. owing to the unprecedented economic conditions which existed during the last period of four years and upwards a very large percentage of the Home Owners of the United States were unable to pay the interest upon their mortgage loans and the taxes and other carrying charges due upon their homes and due to lack of new mortgage financing the condition still exists and unless something is done will grow worse and

Whereas, by reason of that condition the mortgage holders and municipalities of this country suffered a great loss in income and in order to protect their rights entered foreclosure and other legal proceedings against these unfortunate Home Owners and endangered the happiness of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the same apparently existed in Sister States and

Whereas, thereby sheriff sales throughout the United states including the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania increased at an alarming rate and no buyers were present at such sales to buy the properties and the mortgagees for little or no consideration over and above their loans obtained titles to the properties and the investments of the home owners were lost to them and they were evicted from their homes and

Whereas, thereby many home owners lost their homes representing the earnings and accumulations of a lifetime and other home owners were threatened with a like loss and are still threatened with loss and

Whereas, the President of the United States realizing the situation due to the conditions aforesaid recommended to the Congress of the United States the passage of appropriate legislation which would enable home owners to recover and retain their homes and

Whereas, by reason of said recommendation the Congress of the United States did pass a statute which was approved by the President entitled "An act to provide emergency relief with respect to home mortgage indebtedness" and

Whereas, by the terms of said Act there was created a corporation designated and known as HOME OWNERS LOAN CORPORATION which corporation was authorized to issue Bonds not to exceed two billion dollars for the purpose or relieving HOME OWNERS in need of assistance but unfortunately fixed the amount at too low a figure and

Whereas, said corporation commenced operations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three and

Whereas, prior to August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three sheriff sales throughout the State of Pennsylvania had reached unprecedented numbers and in the County of Philadelphia alone went as high as twenty-two hundred sales in one month and

Whereas, after August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three due to the operation of said corporation sheriff sales in the various counties of Pennsylvania began to decline in number and in the County of Philadelphia fell as low as twelve hundred in December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and

Whereas, on April twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four an amendment was passed by Congress to the original act providing for the issuance of bonds to the extent of another billion dollars which was unfortunately too small amount and should have been at least three or four billion dollars more and

Whereas, on or about November sixteenth one thousand nine hundred thirty-four the HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION issued public notice that due to the exhaustion of the authorized bond issue of three billion dollars no further applications for loans would be received and thousands of applications already received could not be handled and

Whereas, following said announcement there was an immediate increase in the number of sheriff sales throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania thereby causing a renewal of distress to HOME OWNERS and a further threat of the loss of their homes and property and the mortgagees taking their properties for little or no additional consideration with intent to hold them for a profit and

Whereas, it is manifest that a failure by the HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION to continue to make loans to applicants will lead to great distress and misery of HOME OWNERS throughout the country while a renewal of the activity of said corporation will greatly aid to advance recovery from present and past economic conditions and

Whereas, a further operation of said HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION in the making of loans to HOME OWNERS cannot be carried out without additional authorization and appropriate action by the Congress of the United States concurred in by the President of the United States

Now Therefore Be it Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the President and Congress of the United States are hereby memorialized and respectfully requested to promptly enact such appropriate legislation as will authorize and empower the HOME OWNERS' LOAN CORPORATION to issue additional bonds to the amount of at least two billion dollars and if deemed advisable to the amount of four billion of dollars for the uses and purposes set forth by the Act of Congress approved June thirteenth one thousand nine hundred thirty-three and the supplements thereto and to otherwise correct the said law so as to expidite its operation and enforcement.

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION DEFERRED

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the closeness of the hour to ten o'clock, I move that action be deferred on this resolution until after the Joint Session of the House and Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR KENNEDY. It affords me very great pleasure to present our distinguished chief executive, His Excellency, The Governor of the Commonwealth.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE H. EARLE

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The foundations of American business need shoring up. Our economic structure trembles from ground to pinnacle because we have reared up a greater burden of investment that the present wages of the nation can carry. There are two ways of adjusting the balance. We can close some of our factories forever, let our farms return to wilderness—or else we can give our workmen sufficient share of the profits of industry so that they may buy the products of those farms and factories.

The nation as a whole is choosing the latter alternative, the courtageous course. It is inconceivable to me that Pennsylvania, which gave the nation industrial leadership for so many decades, will lag in this new effort. Pennsylvania has had too proud a share in building our economic life to shirk its task now when the call comes to help save what is built.

The restoration of labor to its rightful position can be furthered by certain specific acts within our power to accomplish. The far-sighted business man who appreciates how essential labor's purchasing power is to him, must be protected by law from unrestrained competition in the labor market by men who have neither the heart to pay decent wages nor the brains to see that danger for all of us looms in the oppression of labor.

Because there exists in business as in society in general a selfish minority reaping easy and huge profits through its ability to exploit humanity, it has become necessary to seek protection against this element through laws which, while specifically directed against these economic parasites, must of course subject all to their provisions.

Were it not for this debasing minority in industry, there would be no need for minimum wage or maximum hour laws, for child labor legislation or for other such measures.

Many of our industries and businesses long ago established and continute to maintain the policy of the square deal for their employes.

Fare wage rates, reasonable hours of work, adequate compensation in accident cases, and praiseworthy pension systems are not new to many Pennsylvania employers.

The maintenance of such honorable and equitable employer-employe relationships has proven difficult and in many instances almost impossible because of cut-throat competition by these minorities.

The increased expense arising out of the payment of decent living wages, adequate accident compensation, employe pensions and the maintenance of such other humane standards of employment should be proper charges against the cost of production.

But it stands to reason that employers who regard such items as legitimate business expense cannot go on forever in competition with unscrupulous, conscienceless rivals whose idea of a profit is the difference expressed in dollars and cents between the square deal for employes and the exploitation of employes.

And so to protect not only the wage earners of this Commonwealth but also those employers who are endeavoring to maintain the square deal in their mines, mills, factories, stores and offices, it is necessary and imperative that new laws be placed on our statute books and that other laws be amended so that this minority shall be prohibited and prevented from dragging the majority down to their low level.

Accordingly there is being presented to your Honorable Body for consideration a number of bills which seek to outlaw the operations and practices of this selfish minority and thus protect against further exploitation not only the wage earners of this Commonwealth but in addition those far-seeing progressive business institutions that are endeavoring to maintain humane and just standards of employment.

The platforms of both major parties contain pledges of support for measures providing for a new deal for the wage earners of Pennsylvania.

The Democratic platform contains nine planks committing the party to specific undertakings in behalf of labor. Let me recall these pledges. I quote:

"The Democratic party to further carry out the policies of President Roosevelt advocates for Pennsylvania the following:

"First: A job for the man who wants to work.

"Second: Abolition of child labor.

"Third: Social justice through the regulation of the hours of labor, especially for women.

"Fourth: A minimum wage, fair to both industry and labor.

"Fifth: Elimination of industrial police and privately paid deputy sheriffs.

"Sixth: Absolute right of collective bargaining and unionization of labor.

"Seventh: A stronger and more comprehensive workmen's compensation law.

"Eighth: Outlawing of sweat shops.

"Fifteenth: Strengthening of the anti-injunction law to conform with Federal statutes."

Likewise does the Republican platform contain specific pledges for a square deal for labor; outlawing of sweatshops, guaranteeing the right of collective bargaining, protection of workers in industry, abolition of industrial police and privately paid deputy sheriffs, more liberal compensation laws and minimum wage laws—all these are covered in the Republican platform.

With such assurances and promises of a square deal for Pennsylvania's wage-earners from the Republican as well as the Democratic Party, I feel confident that the labor bills which are being submitted to you for enactment into law will receive your sympathetic support.

If enacted, these measures will fulfill every promise made to the wage-earners of this State by both the Democratic and Republican parties. They are, with one or two exceptions, ready for submission to your Honorable Body.

The important exception is the measure amending the present Workmen's Compensation Law. Conferences with men familiar with the defects in the existing system have been held by members of my Cabinet and the advice of others having expert knowledge of this subject has been received. All of these recommendations have been placed in the hands of the Attorney General, who informs me that amending legislation will be ready for submission to your Honorable Body early next week.

Included in the list of measures for which I am asking your support are:

1. A bill raising the employable age of minors from 14 to 16 years of age and forbidding the employment of those under 18 for more than 40 hours per week.

2. A bill reducing the hours of employment of females from 54 to 40 hours a week.

3. A bill providing for the establishment of wage boards to fix minimum wages for women and minors.

4. A bill abolishing industrial police.

5. A bill forbidding the compensation of deputy sheriffs by private or corporate interests, stipulating that they shall be paid only by the counties employing them.

6. A bill regulating industrial home work. This measure if enacted will go a long way toward wiping out the sweat shop.

7. A bill providing penalties for non-payment of wages. This measure too is aimed at the fly-by-night irresponsible employer who seeks to cheat his employes out of their earnings.

8. A bill providing for the annual registration of industrial establishments.

Plank No. 1 in the Democratic Platform reads, "The Democratic party to further carry out the policies of President Roosevelt advocates for Pennsylvania a job for the man who wants to work."

The best method of providing a job for the man who wants to work, in my opinion, is to cooperate whole-heartedly with the National Administration in its program for National recovery.

Accordingly, I am asking your Honorable Body to approve a resolution pledging the support and cooperation of the Commonwealth with the National Administration in making effective in Pennsylvania its program of public works, relief and other plans for recovery. Coordinated effort of State and Nation is imperative!

I am also submitting to you for your earnest consideration a State Recovery bill which provides for the adoption of codes of fair competition.

The main purpose of this bill is to make possible the prosecution in State courts of violators of the trade practice or labor provisions of the codes whose businesses are conducted wholly within the State.

If enacted it will make more effective the drive against the wage chiseler and the chiseler in business.

May I suggest that this bill be made the subject of unlimited, unrestricted and open discussion so that all interests involved will have an opportunity to be heard and the provisions of the measure fully explored before a vote is taken.

It was my hope to be able to submit to your Honorable Body with these measures affecting labor, other bills carrying out pledges for the enactment of legislation providing for social security and economic assurance for our citizens.

Unfortunately, it is impracticable to do so at this time in view of the fact that the Federal Social Security Bill, with which all State social security legislation must be coordinated, is still in committee in Congress.

The bill, as you know, provides for unemployment insurance, old-age assistance and annuities, appropriations for dependent children, and maternal and child health. Just as soon as this National legislation is enacted, then coordinated measures will be submitted for your consideration.

I sincerely trust that you men and women who are here representing the people of this Commonwealth will view this legislation in behalf of the wage-earners of this state with sympathy and understanding.

We are all bound by sacred and solemn pledges to enact such legislation.

But even if we were not so bound, we would nevertheless be morally obligated to take steps to put to an end the exploitation of our own people by these parasites of business.

Look about you on every hand and see the thousands of victims of avarice and greed. These victims, men, women, boys and girls are your fellow-citizens, your neighbors. And by a twist of circumstances tomorrow they may be your own flesh and blood.

In general, we should aim to bring our labor legislation up to the level of the other great industrial States—New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Illinois and Michigan. We will scarcely be subjecting our businessmen to unfair restrictions in competitions when we place Pennsylvania on the same level as the other great industrial States.

In a later message, I will deal with the question of social security so bound up with this question of labor.

Meanwhile, I ask your prompt attention to the reforms suggested—reforms for which the masses of Pennsylvania have waited too long.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR KENNEDY. The Chair wishes to express the thanks of the General Assembly to His Excellency, the Governor for the splendid message delivered to us this evening. Thank you, very much.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly was convened having been transacted the Joint Session is adjourned. The Senators will please reassemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The SPEAKER (Wilson G. Sarig) in the Chair.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask that we now take up the consideration of Resolution No. 22, Printer's No. 23.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will continue to read the resolution.

The Clerk continued to read the resolution as follows:

And be it Further Resolved, That copies of this memorial be transmitted by the Speaker and Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States the Vice President and the President of the Senate to Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Federal Relations for the purpose of further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I want to appeal especially to my Democratic friends to vote down this motion which is meant to delay a worthy memorial to Congress I don't know how it is in your counties but I know down in Philadelphia thousands and thousands of applications for Home Owners' Loan mortgages were made and were compelled to be rejected. If we delay we delay expressing our opinions to the Congress. Our people in Philadelphia are looking for speedy relief. Our people in Philadelphia thought well of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation; they think well of its continuance. They are in great need. Your voting to commit this resolution fo further consideration is only to delay the relief that they ought to have and ought to have promptly and I ask my friends of the opposition not to deprive these home owners of Philadelphia of the relief that they need as quick as it is possible to give it to them.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Sowers and Mr. Schwartz and were as follows:

STATEMENT BY MR. WITKIN

Mr. WITKIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you have just heard from his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and all of you who have paid particular attention to his address could not help but note that the Governor has advocated the passage of numerous bills dealing with social legislation. Those bills are listed particularly on page 5 of the Governor's address. With most of that legislation the Republican party of this House is in perfect accord and harmony, and we pledge ourselves, in most of the instances, to endeavor to have those measures enacted into law as speedily as possible.

We cannot, however, help but call your attention to the fact that there is no necessity for delay by this House in the enactment into law, insofar as this Legislature is concerned, of these particular measures. We need not wait for these measures to be introduced. They have already been introduced by the Republican membership of this House. They are already in the committees of this House. Those committees are controlled beyond exception by the Democratic membership of this House, and if the Democratic party is sincere, and if the Governor's speech is to be heeded, then these bills ought to receive the consideration of this House and of the committees of this House forthwith.

The Governor says the important exception is the measure amending the present Workmen's Compensation law. The Republicans, under House Bill No. 119, introduced by Representative White, have already provided for amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Law. The bill has been in committee since January 15th. It's still there. I say to the Democratic members of this House, get it out and let us proceed.

There has been a request by the Governor for a bill reducing the hours of employment of females from fifty-four to forty hours a week. Such a bill, House Bill No. 53 introduced by Representative Bernhard, has been lying in committee since January 15th, 1935. If the Democrats are sincere, bring that bill out; don't wait for new ones to be introduced.

The Governor says: "3. A bill providing for the establishment of wage boards to fix minimum wages for women and minors." Such a bill has been introduced by the Republican membership of this House, by Representative Hermansen, House Bill No. 2. Gentlemen of the Democratic party, get that out and do not delay.

The Governor advocates a bill abolishing industrial police. Such a bill has been introduced by the Republican membership of this House, House Bill No. 63; introduced by Representative Bernhard; lying in committee since January 15th. Democrats, get that out.

"A bill forbidding the compensation of deputy sheriffs by private or corporate interests, stipulating that they shall be paid only by the counties employing them." Such a bill, House Bill No. 199, has been introduced by the Republican membership of this House, Representative Rowan. Democrats, what are you waiting for?

The Governor says, under 6, "A bill regulating industrial home work. This measure, if enacted, will go a long way toward wiping out the sweatshop." The Republicans stand for wiping the sweatshop out. To prove that they do stand for it, they have introduced House Bill No. 161, introduced by Representative Shreiner. Democrats of this House, get that bill out.

That constitutes a few of the bills that I believe have been introduced that are in perfect sympathy, in perfect accord and in perfect harmony with the Governor's declaration. They are in fulfillment of the Republican party platform, on page 6 of the Republican Party's State platform of 1934.

I say to the Democratic membership of this House that just because those bills are Republican bills, to forget partisan politics, do not wait for new ones to be introduced, when you already have them in your committees. Stop pickling our bills, stop pickling the bills for which his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has taken the trouble to come here and address you.

STATEMENT BY MR. DENT

Mr. DENT asked and obtained a unanimous consent to make the following statement:

May I suggest, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, that if the Republicans on this side of the House would lay off the resolutions that they are presenting, pertaining to national affairs in Washington, and give us time to study these bills, they may come out of committee.

STATEMENT BY MR. WITKIN

Mr. WITKIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that as this House, consisting of the Democratic majority, as well as the Republican minority, and particularly the Democratic majority, have in other bills, been able to digest them so quickly and so energetically with only a few moments consideration, I believe in thirteen days they have had ample opportunity to consider these bills, resolutions or no resolutions to the contrary notwithstanding.

STATEMENT BY MR. ANDREWS

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the party of the minority having had forty years in which to produce progressive legislative, and having failed to do it, except up to this moment as they claim, the party of the majority is naturally distrustful of their efforts.

When we have had the occassion, the opportunity and the time to strain these measures for the possible elimination of weasel phrases, when we have had the opportunity to find whether they actually cross the chasm, and when we have had the opportunity to compare the bills the gentleman talks about with the bills that his Excellency, the Governor, and his advisers, have submitted, if the committees then believe in this sudden reformation of the party of the minority, and if they have suddenly blossomed forth in such wisdom as enables them to surpass the efforts of the majority party and of his Excellency, the Governor, and his advisers, in that case, I assure the leader of the minority that we will report out his bills.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 6 as follows:

An Act to amend section twenty-one of the act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled, "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal," limiting the compensation of registers of wills in the collection of transfer inheritance taxes.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That section twenty-one of the act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled, "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal," is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 21. The registers of wills upon their filing with the Auditor General the bond hereinafter required shall be the agents of the Commonwealth for the collection of the said tax in the case of resident decedents. For services rendered in collecting and paying over the same they shall be allowed to retain for their own use upon the gross amount collected during any year five per centum upon the tax collected if such tax shall amount to a sum of fifty thousand ($50,000 dollars or less than three per centum on the amounts collected in excess of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars and not exceeding one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars one per centum on the amounts collected in excess of one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars and not over two hundred thousand ($200,000) dollars and one-half of one per centum on the amounts collected in excess of two hundred thousand ($200,000) dollars and not over one million ($1,000,000) dollars and one-quarter of one per centum on the amounts collected in excess of one million ($1,000,000) dollars, provided that the compensation of the register of wills as agent of the Commonwealth in the collection of said taxes shall not in any year exceed the total sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this motion. This bill is of so simple a character, so clear and so concise that it cannot help but be digested within a very few minutes by every member of this House.

This is an important piece of legislation. Thereis no reason for delay. There is no reason to send it back to committee. It carries with it no hope of any amendment. It is a simple piece of good legislation, and I cannot understand why the motion has been made to refer it back to committee. I, therefore, trust that this membership will defeat this motion and see that this bill passes on to third reading. This bill was introduced some time ago; I believe the exact date of its introduction was January 14, 1935. For two weeks every opportunity has been given to offer amendments. For two weeks every opportunity has been given for further study. No suggestion has come to the sponsor of this bill to amend. No request has been made to change. No request has been made to explain it, and I, therefore, take it that the motion now is merely for the purpose of delaying this bill being enacted into law, and I will ask the membership of this House to vote down the motion.

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to make a statement to the gentleman from Philadelphia: That the purpose of recommitting this bill is not for delay.

This bill is not adequate as drafted. This bill is designed to apply to districts where the commissions on inheritance tax collections exceed ten thousand dollars. To those of us who come from the smaller districts, this bill is not adequate, because this amount of compensation is not attained in the districts that we represent.

We, therefore, desire that this bill be compared with House Bill No. 229, which is much broader, much more comprehensive and adds considerably to the high need for revenue in the Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth.

I, therefore, ask that this bill be recommitted, that this House stand by its motion, so that we from the smaller districts may have something to carry back to our people, so that the savings to be enacted by House Bill No. 229 may be embodied by the reconsideration of this bill in the Committee on Ways and Means.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments for further amendment.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House last week, on Wednesday, January 23, 1935, on behalf of the Republican membership of this House, I moved that this House Bill No. 147 be referred back to the Constitutional Amendments Committee in order that it might properly amended. This motion was defeated by the Democratic membership of this House. I am pleased to note however, that the Democratic party of this House have realized, after one full week's delay, that that motion should have prevailed. The people have lost a week's time, and the Democratic motion does now what should have been done last week, to-wit, to endeavor to amend and correct this improperly and poorly drawn bill.

I, therefore, ask the Republican membership of the House to vote in favor of the motion to recommit, and hope that this bill be found capable of proper amendment

I trust that the Committee on Constitutional Amendments will afford ample opportunity to the Republican members to offer proper amendments and that the Committee will not again err by too hasty airplaining of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. OMINSKY. As chaiman of the committee to celebrate the President's birthday, which you appointed at the last session, I wish to announce at this time that the Committee has arranged to have an orator here tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, at which time the Senate members and the House members will meet in the hall of the House and listen to the Hon. Thomas A. Logue. I shall urge everyone present tonight to be present tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. Those who have heard Hon. Thomas A. Logue speak know that there is a treat in store for them, and in line with that, Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Mr. OMINSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in Joint Session—January 28, 1935.

For the first time in history, both branches of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania meet in joint session to do honor to the official head of the Nation.

With full accord, the representatives of the people of this great Commonwealth join in celebrating the advent of the day that, by reason of your birth, has taken its place among those that history will mark and perpetuate.

The cause for this demonstration, unusual in history and especially unusual in this Commonwealth, is the deep sense of gratitude felt by the mass of the people for the results which have already been brought about during the brief span of time during which you have directed the affairs of the Nation.

That which has already been accomplished is full guarantee to them of the success of your plans for a new era of peace and plenty.

With the same indomitable courage and fortitude that slowly forced a stricken body back to its work in the world, you have grappled with the disease that layed your country low, and in like manner are endeavoring to make it again a place of happiness and security for its people.

Resolved, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in joint session convened, that in behalf of the people of the Commonwealth, it extends to you on this, your natal day, its heartfelt congratulations on the accomplishments of your administration of the affairs of the Nation and on the happy ending of that year.

For the new year that starts today, it wishes you success in all your undertakings, confident in its belief that such success will mean not only your happiness, but the happiness of all those whom you represent and for whose welfare you have so courageously fought and so magnificently achieved; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution is forwarded to you, our President, as an indication of the faith of the people of Pennsylvania in your courage and your sincerity in attempting to accomplish those things which are for their best interest, their happiness and their prosperity.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. COAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:45 o'clock A. M.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, January 29, 1935, at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1935 No. 8

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 29, 1935.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Grant, O Heavenly Father, that the short period of time devoted to prayer each day by this Senate may not be a mere matter of form. Rather let it constitute a genuine plea unitedly made for divine guidance.

Whatever our personal forms of faith may be, we are all children of our Father. Thou art that Father and all we are brethren. We need the loving heart, the all comprehending mind, the omnipotent power of our Father to keep us at all times, and particularly at such a time as this. There are momentous decisions to be made affecting the very life of our Commonwealth and the happiness and well-being of its people. Direct this Senate in the right way and protect it as it walks therein. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. McCLURE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the State Police Force and the Highway Motor Patrol by the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

PRESENTATION OF TESTIMONIAL TO GENERAL EDWARD C. SHANNON

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the members of the Senate desire to record their appreciation and admiration of the ability and exquisite courtesy with which General Shannon as Lieutenant Governor presided over this body during the last four years and have requested me to be their spokesman for that purpose.

During that period, General Shannon presided over two regular sessions and four Extraordinary Sessions, resulting probably in longer and more intimate relations with the members of the Senate than has fallen to the opportunity of any Lieutenant Governor up to this time. During all that time and upon all occasions General Shannon presided with such dignity, fairness and courtesy, that there was never a comment of adverse criticism.

I shall not attempt any extended panageric of the abilities, good nature and friendliness that distinguished General Shannon, and I am afraid that smile of his would fade if I attempted any praise. Throughout the length and breadth of Pennsylvania he is known better than I could tell it.

And in order to make this expression of appreciation more tangible than mere words, this silver service has been procured and presented to Mrs. Shannon and himself, so that when they see it in their home they will sometimes call to mind the days of his association with the Senate of Pennsylvania and of the goodwill and friendship of the Senators toward them both.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, it has been my happy privilege to serve as Senator in this body during the four years in which Governor Shannon presided over our deliberations, and I am sure that I am expressing the sentiment of all my colleagues when I say that at all times the General was fair. He was lovable, kind and courageous, and in every way made an admirable presiding officer. Of course, we could say very much laudatory of the General, and I would be happy to do that, but this is not the occasion for it. I simply want, in my own small way, to tell him that all of his colleagues, without regard to party affiliation, have the highest personal regard for him, and that is evidenced by the fact that this is a personal contribution from the colleagues who served with him. May

I add, that personally, and on behalf of my colleagues I want to convey to him our assurance of high personal regard, and I also want to say that while at times politics may create a change in thought, and administrations may come and administrations may go, but the kind fellowship that has existed between the General and all of the members of the Senate will go on forever. I trust that he may be spared for further usefulness to the State, his family and to his acquaintances.

Mr. SHANNON. Mr. President and members of the Senate: I am in a rather hard position here this morning. I am used to being up there and being the boss and not taking orders—as I overheard Senator Salus say right back of me here say that I am taking orders this morning, but I do not know of anybody whom I would rather take orders from than this body of fifty gentlemen who make up the Senate of Pennsylvania. I think I have said this several times to you gentlemen, that it was rather an odd experience for me to take over the command of fifty civilians in a body of this character after having had long military service in both the State and the Nation. But in all of the larger commands I have had under me, there has been none that has measured up to this particular outfit that I have had for four years. As Senator Roberts has said, as far as I am concerned in most every instance political lines were eliminated and I did endeavor to preside here impartially, regardless of what a man's politics might be, and if I was successful in that, it was only because of your fair dealing with me. There were times when the ice was a little thin, when a parliamentary decision would have made a great difference in our attitude toward each other, but under the careful guidance of this splendid gentleman who stood right below me, your secretary, I avoided those thin spots and got through, and this morning, of course, is the culmination of those four years with you. I passed out of your picture officially the fifteenth of this month, but I am back here as a friend this morning and I want you to know how much Mrs. Shannon and I appreciate this splendid present you are giving us today. It will always as the years roll around remind us of this pleasant association that I have had with you in the last four years, and I hope that I may be back here many years to come to at least call on you.

The present Governor and Commander-in-Chief has been gracious enough to continue me in command of the Pennsylvania National Guard. This is my job and is a job I, of course, appreciate more than others because after forty-five years of military service I best know that better than I do some other things. His words to me were to make this Pennsylvania National Guard the best in the United States, high in efficiency and everything that goes with it, and that, of course, is my ambition. With the help of the officers and men who serve under me, I know that can be accomplished. We had here in the Inaugural parade a small slice of that force that you gentlemen support by your appropriation. If you saw it that day, I am sure you are just as proud of it as I am because it is a sample of what we have scattered all over this great Commonwealth of ours, ready at all times to serve the state and nation if need be.

I thank you from the bottom of my heart for this token of your good-will that you have given Mrs. Shannon and myself this morning, and we shall always cherish it so long as we live. I thank you.

PRESENTATION OF TESTIMONIAL TO HONORABLE HARRY B. SCOTT.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President and members of this Senate, we are witnessing today the final act of parting from our retiring presiding officers. We are tendering to them these testimonials in token of our regard and the fair and impartial manner in which they presided over this body. We regret their departure, but, Mr. President, we have the confident hope and expectation that in the weeks and months we served together, when our time of parting comes, there will be thrown around it the same tinge of sadness.

Lieutenant Governors are elected by the people. We choose our own Presidents Pro Tempore, and we regard it, also, as a high honor to be chosen for this position.

Shakespeare, in his play Hamlet, makes the old man Polonius advise his son Laertes, "Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel." In the complexity and speed of modern living there is not the same opportunity for forming friendships, perhaps, as formerly; but here, in this Senate, as we meet from week to week to discuss the problems of the State, one learns to appraise his fellows at their true worth and character, and without regard to their antecedents or prior attainments.

When I entered this Senate eight years ago one of the new members at that time was our past President Pro Tempore. He had already seen service across the hall, in the House of Representatives. In his own community he was a leader in business matters and in philanthropic and charitable projects. Notable was his work in aid of hospitals and in the Crippled Children's Association of Pennsylvania. Here in this Senate, during the eight years he served, he labored faithfully and well, and no one was more attentive to his business. We did not always, perhaps, agree in matters of legislation, but we are assured that what he believed in he believed in with his whole heart, and he had the welfare of the State in his heart. He has not served so long, as President Pro Tempore, as some of the other persons who held that position. During his tenure there have been two special sessions of this body.

And so it seems to me, Mr. President, that it is entirely fitting and proper that we give him a testimonial of our friendship and our regard, and in recognition of his high service in this body; and I take pleasure in presenting to him, on behalf of this Senate— on behalf of the former colleagues who served with him during these eight years, and who contributed toward it, this silver service to Mr. Scott and to him, with the hope that it may be of use to them and to the family in years to come, and that as he uses it and looks upon it he may call to mind the pleasant memories of the days that he spent here in this State Senate.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President and members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I am sure it has been a great pleasure to serve as your President Pro Tempore of the Senate, an office that is an honor which anyone would aspire to; and I want to express to you the appreciation of both Mrs. Scott and myself for this fine silver service, and we will hearken back, as years go on, to the fine, representative men with whom I have been associated during the past eight years.

My only ambition, as a Senator from my senatorial district, was to serve my people, to render the kind of service that my constituency was entitled to; and I think that my constituency feel that I have rendered them some service in the Thirty-Fourth Senatorial District. It is my hope and desire that my successor in that office will continue along the same line, and I know he will, in the interest of not only the Thirty-Fourth Senatorial District but of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as well. Again I say, Mrs. Scott and I appreciate this fine tribute. Thank you.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the members here to the fact that we have with us another distinguished visitor, a former Senator, my predecessor, the Honorable Frank Fay, of Mercer County. Mr. Fay served for eight years, representing that district in this body. He served wisely and well, and I feel there should be placed on record today this tribute to his service and to his personality. I know that many of you have seen him here and said a few words to him. To those who have not I would say I know he wants to hear from you.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will be made a matter of record in the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to make the same observation as to my predecessor, Dr. Bell, former Senator from my district. I wish to make the same observation, with reference to Senator Bell, as my colleague, the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, made with regard to the former Senator from Fayette, Mr. Fay.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will be made a matter of record in the Journal.

RECESS

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGE

CELEBRATION OF BIRTHDAY OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in Joint Session—January 30th, 1935.

For the first time in history, both branches of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania meet in joint session to do honor to the official head of the Nation.

With full accord, the representatives of the people of this great Commonwealth join in celebrating the advent of the day that, by reason of your birth, has taken its place among those that history will mark and perpetuate.

The cause for this demonstration, unusual in history and especially unusual in this Commonwealth, is the deep sense of gratitude felt by the mass of the people for the results which have already been brought about during the brief span of time during which you have directed the affairs of the Nation.

That which has already been accomplished is full guarantee to them of the success of your plans for a new era of peace and plenty.

With the same indomitable courage and fortitude that slowly forced a stricken body back to its work in the world, you have grappled with the disease that layed your country low, and in like manner are endeavoring to make it again a place of happiness and security for its people.

Resolved, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in joint session convened, that in behalf of the people of the Commonwealth, it extends to you on this, your natal day, its heartfelt congratulations on the accomplishments of your administration of the affairs of the Nation and on the happy ending of that year.

For the new year that starts today, it wishes you success in all your undertakings, confident in its belief that such success will mean not only your happiness, but the happiness of all those whom you represent and for whose welfare you have so courageously fought and so magnificently achieved; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution is forwarded to you, our President, as an indication of the faith of the people of Pennsylvania in your courage and your sincerity in attempting to accomplish those things which are for their best interest, their happiness and their prosperity.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read, in accordance with the rules, be referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, my reason for making the motion to refer this resolution to the Committee on Federal Relations was in order that that Committee may immediately have a meeting to consider it. I do not think there is a Senator in this body today who is not willing to pass the proper resolution congratulating the President of the United States on his birthday, but I do not think that the members of this Senate, which is a Republican Senate, should be asked to endorse all the whereases and the preamble set out in this resolution, and for that reason it was that in accordance with the rules of this Senate I moved that it be referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, in order that the committee might hold a meeting immediately, or at a recess, and the resolution gotten in proper shape, so that every Senator, be he Republican or Democrat, may conscientiously and properly vote for it.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr .President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. THOMPSON (Centre). Mr. President, I should like to ask the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, what parts of this resolution he considers objectionable.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, permit me to say there are a great many parts of this resolution that are objectionable to me and to other members of this Senate. I cannot refer to them specifically because I have heard them only as they were read from the desk, but if the Senator will come before the meeting of this committee, after the resolution is referred to the committee in accordance with the rules, I shall be glad to point out those clauses.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, the reason for my asking for a roll call I will explain. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, spoke about the necessity of referring this resolution to a committee. I recall many occasions when similar resolutions were brought before this Senate—not in this particular session but in previous sessions—conveying to the President of the United States sentiments much stronger in approval and commendation than were expressed in this resolution, and I do not remember any time when there was a dissenting vote; and now, at this particular time, when the President of the United States needs the united support of all the people, we should not think of politics entering into a resolution conveying to the President the sentiments which are expressed in this resolution. And, permit me to say to the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, I do not think that there are many whereases in this resolution, and I am sorry that we have to refer it to a committee, that we cannot as a whole adopt a simple resolution that is devoid of partisanship, as I see it, and pass it unanimously as an expression of this Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no objection to joining with everybody in the Senate, and in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as well as in the whole United States, to wish the President of this great country a very happy birthday, and to wish him long life; but I do object to a resolution which is not merely a congratulatory resolution and is not devoid of politics, a resolution having in it a provision carrying the approval of all the members of this body and of the House of all of his acts in the past and of all he may do in the future; and when that resolution comes out in a nonpartisan form, and in a form on which we can have full accord, I will have no objection. My objection is not that it contains many whereas clauses, but to the fact that it is in a form in which I am not sure it should have our approval, that it contains sentiments which I am not sure are true and correct. It is, in my opinion, a political document and not a congratulatory one.

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I have listened attentively while that resolution has been read and re-read. I have thought it nothing but a congratulatory message, and not an endorsement of any specific policy which the President may have had in mind in the past or may have in the future. That is why I regret the quibbling with reference to partisan politics.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I have seconded this motion, and there is no man in Pennsylvania who would be more aggrieved than I, or who would feel worse about it, if this resolution should be presented and there would be one single vote against it. That would be not a compliment to the President of the United States but would be a reflection.

I should like to see that resolution so framed that every member of this Senate could vote "aye," so that the vote would be unanimous. But there are things in this resolution that, in a campaign to come, might well be used for political purposes. It touches, in a small way, on politics; and it may be felt by some men that they would be endorsing the program of the Democratic Party. Maybe the intention was not so, when the resolution was written; maybe those who prepared this resolution had not the slightest idea that there was any politics in it; and my best belief is that they never gave this matter a thought. But as it now stands there is some doubt in the minds of some members, and rather than being a credit and an honor to the President of the United States it would really be a discredit and a mark which he would not care to have charged against him if there should be a single vote cast against it; and I hope that both Democrats and Republicans agree that this resolution be referred to the committee, so that the committee may go over it immediately—and I guarantee, if I am correct in my belief in the fairness with which this committee will act, that there will not be a single word taken out of that resolution that is in any way a credit to our President.

As a man everybody must admire President Roosevelt. We are not all so constituted that we can all agree politically with every part of his program. Now, let us be advised; let us not get into an argument; let us not make this a political factor. Let us go into a side room where everybody will be in accord and pleased, so that when the resolution goes down to the White House in Washington it will have the endorsement of fifty Senators of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I want to be one of the fifty. I want to vote for a resolution congratulating the President. I will not vote for that resolution in its present form.

QUESTIONS OF INFORMATION

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of information.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in order that the Senate may be informed as to just what the provisions of this resolution are, I ask that it be re-read.

Mr. McCREECH. Mr. President, I ask that we proceed to the roll call.

The resolution was read by the Clerk.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that under the rules of this Senate this resolution must be referred to committee, unless those rules are suspended by a two-thirds vote of all the Senators present.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that under the rules the point of order of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, is well taken.

The motion, however, is to refer the resolution to the Committee on Federal Relations, and upon this motion a roll call is desired and requested, as I understand; so the motion before the House is that the resolution shall be referred to committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I think the reading of that resolution tells its own story, and I think every member of this Senate would be glad to vote.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROBERTS and McCREESH, and were as follows:

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for at least 15 minutes.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on Federal Relations, reported as amended the following resolution:

In the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in Joint Session,
January 29, 1935.

To the President of the United States, Greeting:

For the first time in history, both branches of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania meet in joint session to do honor to the official head of the Nation.

With full accord, the representatives of the people of this great Commonwealth join in celebrating the advent of the day that, by reason of your birth, has taken its place among those that history will mark and perpetuate.

The cause for this demonstration, unusual in history and especially unusual in this Commonwealth, is the deep sense of gratitude felt by the mass of the people for the efforts which you have so courageously exerted in their behalf.

With the same indomitable courage and fortitude that slowly forced a stricken body back to its work in the world, you have grappled with the disease that layed your country low, and in like manner are endeavoring to make it again a place of happiness and security for its people.

Resolved, By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in joint session convened, that in behalf of the people of the Commonwealth, it extends to you on your natal day, its heartfelt congratulations.

For the new year it wishes you success in all your undertakings, confident in its belief that such success will mean not only your happiness, but the happiness of all those whom you represent and for whose welfare you have so courageously fought; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution is forwarded to you, our President, as an indication of the faith of the people of Pennsylvania in your courage and your sincerity in attempting to accomplish those things which are for their best interest, their happiness and their prosperity.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions reported from Committee to lie on the table one day, be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I wish to say at this time that I would be very happy, of course, to vote for a resolution that extends to the President of the United States the congratulations of this body. My only regret is that my Republican brethren could not be as liberal as were the Republican members of the House, where they voted unanimously to adopt the resolution as originally presented.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if it is in order to speak at this time I should like to state that I have every hope that whatever the President does for the betterment of the citizens will be successful; but I am not willing to subscribe to the fact that I am confident that it will be successful, and I think that this is nothing more or less, and I think it should be nothing more or less, than a congratulatory message to the President of the United States, for whom I have the greatest affection and respect in every one of his efforts.

Therefore, while this resolution, to my mind, does not meet the situation—is more than it should be under the circumstances—I am still willing to vote for it, but I hope this resolution will be sent back for further amendment so that the word "confident" may be omitted. Then it will express the thought of everybody here. Many things are being tried, and of the things that are being tried I hope, in the interest of the people, some of them will not be successful, and that they will be tried over again, in a better way, the same man, who will be successful.

And therefore my purpose in objecting is to change that word "confident" to "hope," and when that is done I shall be glad to join the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Roberts, and vote for this resolution, and I will agree with his sentiments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the clerk return the said resolution to the House of Representatives with the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of information.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understood there was a vote here—voting on the question of having unanimous consent. Now, I voted against unanimous consent, and therefore I do not think this resolution can be adopted. I voted against the request to suspend the rules. Unanimous consent is unanimous consent. I raise the question that we were voting on the question of unanimous consent, and I voted "no."

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did not hear any "no" vote, and decided that the motion had passed; and that is the ruling of the Chair—that the motion passed unanimously.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, will state his point of order.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, the question has already been decided and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is out of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not want to take issue with the Chair. I said "no" in a loud voice, but if that is the issue, when I was voting on the resolution, then my thoughts are different, and I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on the question of unanimous consent. I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" on the resolution.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on the amendment, and "aye" on the original resolution.

The PRESIDENT. There was no roll call on the amendment, and therefore the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, are out of order.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HABBYSHAW.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 31.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, Unemployment relief has heretofore generally been distributed by the State Emergency Relief Board in th form of food and clothing vouchers or orders; and

Whereas, Many persons are of the opinion that such distribution should be in the form of direct or cash relief; and

Whereas, That method of distribution is already in effect in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny; and

Whereas, It is of paramount importance that milk be always available to the needy, particularly to the ill and to children; and

Whereas, The State Emergency Relief Board is able to procure milk more cheaply than destitute families can purchase it directly; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), By the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That the State Emergency Relief Board be urged to continue the direct distribution of milk without regard to the method or methods which may be adopted in the distribution of relief generally; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Director of the State Emergency Relief Board of this Comonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Mrs. WILSON (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 32.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, Under present law practically every measure for the advancement of the interests of the workers must be fought out in each of the forty-eight states, and when a victory is won there is danger that the Supreme Court of the United States will declare legislation for the protection of wage earners unconstitutional; and

Whereas, In order to abolish this condition, there is being advocated an amendment to the Constitution of the United States known as the "Workers' Rights Amendment," which if adopted, would permit Congress and the several states to enact social welfare legislation, and which reads as follows:

"Article XX

Section 1. The Congress shall have power to establish uniform laws throughout the United States to regulate, limit and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age, to provide for the relief of aged, invalided, sick and unemployed wage earners and employes in the form of periodical grants, pensions, benefits, compensation or indemnities from the public treasury, from contributions of employers, wage earners, and employes, or from one or more of such sources, and generally for the social and economic welfare of the workers in the United States.

Section 2. The power of the several states to enact social welfare legislation is unimpaired by this article, but no such legislation shall supersede, abridge or conflict with any act of Congress under this article," therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Legislature of Pennsylvania endorses such proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States and urges upon the Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States the passage of the same; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from Pennsylvania, and to each of the two United States Senators from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. MOOMAW. RESOLUTION No. 33.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Less than a score of years ago, there was mustered out of the service of the American army and navy more than a million of the finest of America's manhood.

They had emerged alive from the most terrifying conflict of all times.

They had lived in trenches, slept in mud, breathed poisonous gas, endured shell fire, and they returned to their homes as heroes come, to receive the plaudits of a proud and grateful people.

While they braved all the horrors of war and endured the monotony of camp and the severity of rigid discipline and were paid but a meager wage, those who remained out of the service and in perfect safety prospered on the increased wage paid during war times.

Realizing the injustice done to these service men, and in recognition of the obligation of an appreciative government to adjust their compensation so as to make the compensation of those who served their country more equal to that received by those who served but themselves, Congress in 1924 finally passed the World War Adjusted Compensation Act, and certificates for payments due were issued to those who had been in the service of the Nation during the World War. Payment of the amount due these former service men was however deferred until twenty years following the issue of the certificates. If the sums represented by the certificates issued are due those patriots as is admitted by the government's promise to pay, it is far better to give to them when they need, as they gave to us when we needed, than to delay until such time as they may not need or may not be here to enjoy.

The payment to these men of the moneys due them would release for circulation several billions of dollars and would bring not only much needed relief to them but would greatly stimulate business and give to business the impetus and encouragement that is necessary to insure the return of prosperity to the Nation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to immediately pass the necessary legislation and make the appropriation of moneys required to pay to these heroes of yesterday that which is so badly needed today; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Mr. FLANAGAN RESOLUTION No. 34.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, This Legislature has grave and important tasks to perform, not the least of which concern the balancing of the budget for the next fiscal biennium; and

Whereas, It is the desire of the present administration to economize wherever possible and to cut down the overhead costs of government which may be avoided without crippling essential services; therefore be it

Resolved, That, in order to save the cost of printing and the time necessary for consideration, the members of the House of Representatives be requested to refrain from introducing rsolutions and measures unless the same are of an important nature and deemed necessary to accomplish a worthy object.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary Local.

By Mr. FORREST. RESOLUTION No. 35.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, The Home Owners' Loan Corporation was created and organized to help the home owner distressed by the economic calamity; and

Whereas, Charges are wide-spread that the administration of the affairs of said corporation in Pennsylvania has been irregular, discriminatory, inefficient and used for political purposes; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States be respectfully memorialized to cause the administration of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation to be fully, fairly and impartially investigated in order to ascertain whether the charges set forth in the preamble hereof are justly or unjustly circulated and whether said corporation is accomplishing the purposes for which it was created;

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania office or offices of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation be respectfully requested to furnish to the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a list of the applications for mortgage loans granted, those in the course of settlement, and those not acted upon, in either case giving the name of the mortgagor or applicant and the amount of the mortgage;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States and to the offices of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation in this State by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. ANDREWS. RESOLUTION No. 36.

In the House of Representatives, January 29, 1935.

Whereas, It is apparent that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania must not only continue its support of the State's educational system as in past years, but, as a result of existing economic conditions, will be compelled to assume even greater financial responsibilities in connection with education, and

Whereas, There are authenticated reports concerning economics that have already been effected in various school districts within the Commonwealth through the elimination of wasteful methods and unwise and unnecessary expenditures, which has resulted in the improvement of the school system while at the same time actually reducing its cost to the taxpayers, and

Whereas, Various private agencies have for more than three years been making a study of the State's school administrative system, paying particular attention to the practices in the various school districts in cities, boroughs and townships, and

Whereas, It is believed that the Legislature should have the information obtained at its disposal, and

Whereas, The various private research agencies are willing, under proper auspices, to place the results of their research activities at the disposal of the Legislature without cost; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint five members of the House of Representatives who shall constitute a special committee of the House whose duty it shall be to secure all readily available information as to the present cost and functioning of the school system in this Commonwealth and which shall report the information so obtained, together with recommendations based upon the findings of fact, said findings to be presented to the House of Representatives in a preliminary report not later than May 1, 1935, a final report to be filed at the first session of the Legislature to be convened after the pending session; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary; such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth; each member of the committee, moreover, shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; any person who shall neglect or refuse to testify before said committee and to produce any books, papers, records or documents subpoenaed by the committee shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Whereas, By Act of Congress, creating the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, said corporation is authorized to advance money in order to redeem property that has been sold at sheriffs' sales, and the title to which has been transferred in cases where such property was sold subsequent to January first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty, and if title thereto is still in the judgment creditor, and also of the former owner, being the judgment debtor, is not premanently out of possession of said premises; and

Whereas, Due to the economic depression, a large number of properties have been sold at sheriffs' sales and the former owners are still in possession thereof but proceedings are pending and eminently about to be disposed of, whereby such former owners will be premanently evicted; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives hereby authorized the several courts of common pleas of the several counties of this Commonwealth to stay or continue any proceedings by mortgage creditors or any persons in their behalf to gain possession of real property under the provisions of the act approved the twentieth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five (P. Section 26 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WIKTIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Republican membership of this House is in favor of a constitutional convention for the purpose of revising the constitution. The Republican membership of this House agrees with the Republican party platform that the constitution needs revision. However, we are of the firm belief that this revision ought to be a sane one. We further believe that the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should have placed before them the question of whether or not they, the people, desire a constitutional convention.

To that end we propose that the Legislature shall provide the means of submitting that question to the people. We are opposed to House Bill No. 147 because it endeavors by legislative enactment to call a constitutional convention without first submitting the question to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We are opposed to House Bill No. 147 for the additional reason that because under the provisions of Section 19 of the bill the convention may by a majority vote submit a proposed constitution as a whole or may submit separately such parts thereof as it may determine. This is to our minds bad legislation. The people should not be compelled to act upon the constitutional changes as a whole. They should be permitted to separate the good from the bad. They should be permitted to adopt certain portions of the convention's changes and reject those portions that are not to the best interests of the people. We believe that that right given to the convention to submit it in whole or in part ought to be taken from this bill.

Again we are opposed to House Bill No. 147 because we believe that the delegates ought to be chosen from senatorial rather than from congressional districts, because representatives chosen from senatorial districts are more representative of the will of the people; they are greater in number than the congressional districts and such procedure would enable the people to elect delegates closer to the people who vote for them.

We are also opposed to House Bill No. 147 because in our judgment the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania would declare it unconstitutional for the reason that the question must first be submitted to the people and because this Legislature lacks the necessary power under our present constitution to call a constitutional convention.

We believe also that the qualifications of the delegates as set forth in House Bill No. 147 are wholly and totally inadequate. We believe that five years is insufficient time to require a man, in order to be a delegate, to be a citizen of the United States, and we would fix ten years as the minimum time for citizenship of one who seeks to be a delegate.

We also believe that one who is to sit as a delegate should be a qualified elector of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania whose constitution he seeks to revise, for more than two years, and we suggest five years as a minimum. We want persons familiar with Pennsylvania to vote upon a Pennsylvania constitution, and not newly acquired inhabitants of Pennsylvania.

We stand in favor of the principle and we stand back of the Republican party platform concerning constitutional revision. We are for speed insofar as it is commensurate with sanity, but not such speed as was used in the consideration of this bill before the Committee on Constitutional Amendments of the House of Representatives, where it was considered the same night of its introduction for twelve minutes only and reported out without more than one single member having a copy of the bill or having read the bill.

I want to say further to the membership of this House that I was hopeful last night that the Democratic membership of this House was going to give sufficient and ample opportunity for discussion upon this most vital subject, but I noted with regret that after the bill was sent back to committee it was immediately sent back the same night. The amendments have been on our desks only since this morning and we are asked to consider the bill at this time. I believe that the tactics of the Democratic majority on a bill of such magnitude and importance are ill advised and misguided.

For the reasons that I just a moment ago stated, the Republican caucus of this House have decided that its members will vote "no" on the bill, but we direct your attention to the fact that in voting "no" on the bill we are not voting "no" on the principle that we are not opposed to a constitutional convention but on the contrary we are in favor of it. We believe in a constitutional convention, but we believe that the people of the Commonwealth ought to be able to say by their vote whether they desire a constitutional convention.

Because of this poorly drawn, inadequate and delinquent bill, House Bill No. 147, we cannot go along and, therefore, we shall vote "no" on the bill.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia say be believes in constitutional revision?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman to repeat the question.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia say that he is in accord with the movement to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I am.

Mr. CAPUTO. Did I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia to say, Mr. Speaker, that the people of Pennsylvania should be given an opportunity of stating whether or not they want such a change?

Mr. WITKIN. Undoubtedly they should, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether or not he read the results of the elections on November 6, 1934?

Mr. WITKIN. I consider that a foolish question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman answer the question.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I will answer that question in the affirmative and state to the gentleman who is interrogating me that I believe it an improper question, because I believe that one ought to take it as a fact that every member of this House is acquainted with the facts of the last election and the results thereof, whether they be Democrats or Republicans.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I expect to vote for this bill, but before doing so I feel that I should call the attention of the House to one feature which I think should be amended. I do not want the people of the Commonwealth to be put in the same position when they come to the question of voting upon a new constitution that we are put in this morning. We are put in the position of either opposing a constitutional convention by voting against this bill, or voting for a bill which has one provision in it which some of us do not approve.

I call your attention to the same section referred to by the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I do it especially because he called attention to so many other things that I thought the importance of this particular point might be lost. I am firmly convinced that the people of Pennsylvania should have the right to vote upon a proposed new constitution section by section. I do not think that the convention should be permitted to say, "Here it is. You take it all or leave it." We should not be put in the position that in order to get some good things that may be in the constitution and to improve things which we do not approve in the present constitution, that we may have to swallow some things in the new one that are worse than what we now have in the old one.

I think it is very important that this act, providing for the constitutional convention, should require that convention to submit the constitution to the people section by section. I remember a few years ago New York had a constitutional convention and they submitted the constitution as a whole. A great many groups of people in the State were in favor of probably nine-tenths of that constitution but they were not permitted to vote for that nine-tenths; they had to vote either for the whole thing or against the whole thing and as a result that constitution was defeated.

I want further to call the attention of the majority of this House to the fact that if they leave the bill in the present form and it manages to get passed and is signed by the Governor, they are putting themselves in a position that a constitution which may make social legislation possible, which may make possible a graduated income tax and other things which are thoroughly desirable, may also include some other things which the people of this State may oppose, and unless you permit them to select the good from the bad they will be compelled to vote "no" on the whole thing.

I don't think the people should be put in that dilemma. I think the majority of the people of Pennsylvania today agree that the present constitution must be drastically amended, but it does not necessarily follow that we want to amend it in some particulars. There are certain guarantees of freedom, protection of minorities and things of that sort in the present constitution which are very valuable.

I don't say that the constitutional convention that will meet will take out those provisions but it is entirely possible that it may, and I, therefore, submit that it is most important that we have the right to vote upon the constitution section by section and that any other method of submitting it is likely to endanger the adoption of the whole document and thereby prevent social legislation and the other things which we consider so important.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to file the following reasons for my vote:

I am opposed to House Bill 147 because it does not provide for submission to the people of Pennsylvania the question to determine whether or not they desire a revision of the Constitution.

The present Constitution of Pennsylvania is silent on the question of revision. The Legislature has no inherent rights. Its powers are derived from the Constitution and hence where some action of the legislative body is not strictly legislative warrant, such action must be sought somewhere, if it is not in the Constitution then directly from the people, who by the terms of the Bill of Rights have retained the right to amend their form of government.

The people being the repository of the right to alter or reform their government, their will and wishes must be consulted before the Legislature can proceed to call a convention. Since the Legislature lacks authority to call a convention without consulting the people I am constrained to vote against this bill.

With full accord, the representatives of the people of this great Commonwealth join in celebrating the advent of the day that by reason of your birth, has taken its place among those that history will mark and perpetuate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 12

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 12, Printer's No. 12.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 14, 1935.

Whereas, The attention of the members of this House has been called to the fact that the Commonwealth is up to six months in arrears in appropriation payments to more than one hundred and sixty State-aided hospitals and

Whereas, The State Treasurer has announced that all such payments have been suspended on account of a lack of sufficient State funds and

Whereas, The continued withholding of the payments to these hospitals of the amounts due them under the provisions of appropriations heretofore made will force them to drastically reduce their service which will in turn mean untold suffering and misery and

Whereas, It is necessary in order to avert this suffering and misery and to sustain the honor of this Commonwealth to at once raise sufficient revenue to pay to these hospitals the amounts due them therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the wish of this House that the Ways and Means Committee thereof shall immediately consider the urgent need of these hospitals and determine upon some method of raising the funds required to make the payments due and report to this House the necessary bills to provide therefor in order that they may continue to furnish to those in need such hospitalization as may be necessary for their health and welfare and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be handed to the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee for immediate consideration by that Committee

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION RE-COMMITTED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be committed to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in rising to oppose this motion, I wish to state that this is a resolution asking the Ways and Means Committee to meet and try to raise the funds that we already appropriated two years ago for our State aided hospitals.

In talking to the chairman of the State Hospitals Association, he told me that the hospitals all over the State are in a terrible condition and they are getting so that they have to turn away these poor people who have no money to pay for medical service, and that the hospitals are not able even to pay their help.

We provided the appropriations two years ago for this purpose. This resolution is so very clear: it is just asking the Committee on Appropriations to try and get the money for these State aided institutions so that they may take care of these people back home.

I can not for the life of me understand why anybody should want to oppose a resolution such as this when we all know that these hospitals are in such sore need of help. Therefore, I ask you to vote this motion down.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Jones and Mr. Wickersham and were as follows:

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT GOVERNOR TO HALL OF HOUSE

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, Messrs. Simon, Male and Witkin.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, I present to you the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. SIMON. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to present His Excellency, The Governor of the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. Members of the House, the Chair presents His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE H. EARLE

THE GOVERNOR:

Members of the House of Representatives: With the advent of Repeal, Pennsylvania established a liquor control system on November 29, 1933.

The operation of this system has failed to meet expectations.

At its very inception, the Liquor Control Board by a series of secret contracts with several large distillers, obligated itself to make purchases aggregating $40,000,000.

Negotiated at secret conferences, these contracts were kept hidden for almost fourteen months, despite repeated demands that their contents be made public.

Some of these secret contracts have become available to this Administration through the taking over of files of the recent Administration. I make them public because they involve the operations of a function of the State Government. Certainly, the people of Pennsylvania have the unqualified right to know every detail of these contracts. The failure to make them public before this time was distinctly against public policy.

These secret contracts have been the primary cause of liquor selling at higher prices in Pennsylvania than in other States. They also resulted in failure of the Liquor Stores System to realize reasonably estimated profits previously allocated for unemployment relief, old age assistance and blind pensions.

It must have been obvious to any good merchant that after the first buying movement following Repeal that keen competition would develop and that prices, as a consequence, would drop steadily.

Why then the present tremendous inventory of $15,187,728 now owned by the Liquor Stores System comprised to a great extent of unsalable and little known brands of liquor?

Considerably more than one-half of this $15,187,728 inventory can well be described as "frozen."

Just to cite one instance: the Liquor Control Board has in stock 9640 cases of a brand of whiskey which has been moving at the rate of one and one-half cases a week. At this rate it will take almost 124 years before these 9640 cases are finally sold by the Stores System.

This is, of course, an extreme instance.

However, an analysis of the Liquor Control Board's own inventory report as of December 31, 1934, discloses that it had 245 brands of liquor comprising 269,000 cases which it would take an average of 10 years to dispose of at the present rate of sales.

Since there is no apparent reason or justification for these tremendous purchases of little known and virtually unsalable brands of liquor, I request your Honorable Body to institute at once a thorough and rigid audit, inventory and investigation of the operation of the Liquor Stores System dating back to its inception.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to express the thanks of the House to the Governor of the Commonwealth for the splendid address he has given us today.

The address of the Governor together with the copies of certain contracts made between the Liquor Control Board and several large distilleries, which copies have been forwarded to this House by the Governor's Office, will be noted in the Journal and printed in full in the Legislative Journal.

AGREEMENTS AND CONTRACTS MADE BY LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

AGREEMENTS

Agreement made this 15th day of February, 1934, between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Commonwealth"), acting by and through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and A. Overholt & Co., Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company"), Witnesseth:

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has been created pursuant to Act No. 3 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and, under the provisions of Article II, Section 201 (a), of Act No. 4, of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and known as the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," has, among other things, the power to buy and import liquor for sale in the manner set forth in said Act last mentioned; and

Whereas, the Company is the holder of General Permit No. 389, Serial No. H15, issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, for the year ending December 31, 1934, the same being a renewal of its General Permit No. 389, Serial No. H15, issued by the Pennsylvania Alcohol Permit Board for the year ending December 31, 1933; and

Whereas, a written agreement was entered into on the 3rd day of January, 1934, as of the 8th day of December, 1933, by and between the parties hereto, wherein and whereby the Commonwealth agreed to purchase from the Company, and the Company agreed to sell to the Commonwealth, 2,268,428 gallons of whiskey, bottled and in cases, distributed among the brands and at the prices set forth in Exhibit "A" thereto annexed; and

Whereas, in the said aforementioned agreement, there was a mutual error made by the said parties in calculating the gallonage of whiskey set forth in said contract, to wit, 2,263,428 gallons, when, in fact, the number of gallons therein should have been 2,284,728, or an increase of 16,300 gallons over and above the gallonage set forth in the aforementioned agreement; and

Whereas, the parties hereto have mutually agreed to correct the said error by a supplemental agreement:

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the terms and conditions herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

(1) The Commonwealth hereby agrees to purchase from the Company, and the Company hereby agrees to sell to the Commonwealth, upon the same terms and conditions set forth in the original agreement, herein referred to, 16,300 gallons of whiskey, bottled and in cases, in addition to the 2,268,438 gallons set forth in the said original agreement, making a total gallonage of whiskey, bottled and in cases, under both the original and this supplemental agreement, of 2,284,728 gallons.

(2) The said original agreement executed by the parties hereto, under date of the 3rd day of January, 1934, is hereby ratified and confirmed in all respects, and shall continue in full force and effect, upon the same terms and conditions as therein set forth, except that the gallonage of whiskey mentioned therein is increased 16,300 gallons.

In witness whereof, the Commonwealth has caused this agreement to be executed for it by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board pursuant to authority granted to it, and the Company has caused this agreement to be executed by its duly authorized officers the day and year first above written.

Overholt & Co., Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company") Witnesseth:

Whereas, under date of January 3, 1934, the Commonwealth and the Company entered into an agreement (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "original agreement") for the purchase by the Commonwealth from the Company of 2,268,428 gallons of whiskies, bottled and in cases, distributed among the brands and at the prices as set forth in an exhibit thereto annexed and therein referred to as "Exhibit A" upon the terms and conditions set forth in said original agreement; and said parties, under date of February 15, 1934, entered into a supplemental agreement (hereinafter referred to as the "first supplemental agreement") pursuant to which the Commonwealth agreed to purchase from the Company, at the same prices and on the same terms and conditions as set forth in the original agreement, an additional 16,300 gallons of whiskies; and

Whereas, the parties desire to amend, modify and supplement the original and first supplemental agreements as and to the extent hereinafter provided;

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the premises, and of the terms and conditions herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

1. Whenever in the original agreement or in the first supplemental agreement reference is made to "Exhibit A," the exhibit thereby referred to shall be deemed to be the exhibit which is annexed to this supplement agreement and marked "Exhibit A-1"; and the exhibit annexed to the original agreement and marked "Exhibit A" is hereby superseded by the exhibit hereto annexed and marked "Exhibit A-1."

2. Paragraph 1 of the original agreement is hereby amended by striking out that portion thereof reading as follows:

> "The prices set forth in Exhibit A include freight from the shipping point to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor. It is understood, however, that the Company will prepay the freight on each shipment from the shipping point to the city specified by the Commonwealth to which such shipment is to be made, but the Commonwealth shall repay to the Company, upon receipt of invoices, the amount by which such freight exceeds the freight from the point of shipment to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor.
> "It is further understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A includes the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $1.10 per gallon and the existing Federal Rectifiers tax at the rate of 30 cents per gallon for blended whiskies, and that such prices will be adjusted to include any increase in said taxes or any additional or other Federal taxes and such new or increased state, county and municipal taxes on liquor or measured by liquor, if any (other than the Pennsylvania Spirituous and Vinous Liquor Floor tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon), which may be payable by the Company, all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes. The Commonwealth shall not be obligated to specify or purchase any brand manufactured in any state other than Pennsylvania and as to which any such additional tax has been levied by any such other state or any county or municipality thereof."

3. The prices set forth in Exhibit A-1 with respect to all whiskies, excepting American type Canadian whiskey bottled in bond in Canada, include freight from the shipping point to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor; and the prices of said American type Canadian whiskey set forth in said Exhibit A-1 include freight from the shipping point to such cities as may be specified by the Commonwealth to which shipments of such whiskeys are to be made. It is understood that the Company will prepay the freight on each shipment from the shipping point to the city specified by the Commonwealth to which such shipment is to be made, but, in respect to all whiskies, excepting American type Canadian whiskey, the Commonwealth shall repay to the Company, upon receipt of invoices, the amount by which such freight exceeds the freight from the point of shipment to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor.

4. It is understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A-1 of all whiskies, excepting American type Canadian whiskey bottled in bond in Canada, include the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon, the existing Federal stamp taxes, and the existing Federal Rectifiers tax at the rate of 30c per gallon for blended whiskies, and that such prices will be adjusted to include any increase in said taxes or any additional or other Federal taxes and such new or increased state, county and municipal taxes on liquor or measured by liquor, if any (other than the Pennsylvania Spirituous and Vinous Liquor Floor tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon) which may be payable by the Company, all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes. It is further understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A-1 of American type Canadian whiskey bottled in bond in Canada include the existing Federal import duty at the rate of $5.00 per gallon and the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon, and that such prices will be adjusted to include any increase in said duty or tax or any additional or other Federal duties, taxes or excises, and also such duties, taxes or excises as may hereafter be imposed by the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof, on account of the transfer and sale for export or on account of the export of whiskies, if any, which may be payable by the Company, all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes. The Commonwealth shall not be obligated to specify or purchase any brand manufactured in any state other than Pennsylvania or imported into the United States from the Dominion of Canada and as to which any such additional tax has been levied.

5. For the purpose of determining whether the Commonwealth has purchased the total number of gallons of whiskies which the Commonwealth is obligated to purchase under the original and first supplemental agreements, and for the purpose of determining the respective monthly quotas thereof which the Commonwealth is obligated to specify for delivery in each month, a gallon of whiskey of the Old Prentice or Brigadier brands shall be treated and regarded as equivalent to only five-eighths (⅝ths) of a gallon; and the provisions of the original and first supplemental agreements with respect to the total number of gallons of whiskies which the Commonwealth is obligated to purchase and the respective monthly quotas thereof are hereby modified and amended, and the said total number of gallons and monthly quotas are hereby increased, to the extent which may be required by the application of the foregoing formula.

6. Except as modified, amended and supplemented by this agreement, the original agreement and the first supplemental agreement shall be and remain in full force and effect.

In Witness Whereof, the Commonwealth has caused this agreement to be executed by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board pursuant to authority granted to it, and the Company has caused this agreement to be executed by its duly authorized officers, the day and year first above written.

Overholt & Co., Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company"), Witnesseth:

Whereas, the parties hereto entered into an agreement under date of January 3, 1934, which was subsequently amended, modified and supplemented by two certain agreements dated, respectively, February 15, 1934, and March .., 1934, (the aforesaid three agreements being hereinafter collectively referred to as "the agreement between the parties"), and the parties desire to amend, modify and supplement the agreement between the parties as, to the extent, and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter provided;

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the foregoing and of the mutual promises and obligations hereinafter contained, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. The Company hereby agrees that the Commonwealth shall not be obligated to specify to the Company for, or accept delivery from the Company of, any whiskeys during the months of April and May, 1934, excepting such quantities, if any, as the Commonwealth may have ordered prior to the date of this agreement, and the failure of the Commonwealth to specify for, or accept delivery of, all or any part of the monthly quotas provided in the agreement between the parties for the said months of April and May, 1934, shall not constitute a default by the Commonwealth under the agreement between the parties.

2. 3. The Commonwealth shall have the privilege, but shall not be obligated, to specify to the Company for delivery, under the terms, conditions and provisions of the agreement between the parties, of such part of the monthly quotas for the months of April or May, 1934, as the Commonwealth may see fit, and any quantities delivered to and accepted by the Commonwealth during said months shall be credited against the respective monthly quotas and the total quantity of whiskeys which the Commonwealth is obligated to purchase from the Company under the agreement between the parties.

4. The agreement between the parties is hereby ratified and confirmed in all respects except as amended, modified and supplemented by this agreement.

AGREEMENT

Agreement made this 3rd day of January, 1934, as of the eighth day of December, 1933, between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Commonwealth"), acting by and through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and A. Overholt & Co., Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company"), Witnesseth:

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has been created pursuant to Act No. 3 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and, under the provisions of Article II, Section 201 (a), of Act No. 4 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and known as the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," has, among other things, the power to buy and import liquor for sale in the manner set forth in said Act last mentioned; and

Whereas, the Company is the holder of General Permit No. 389, Serial No. H15, issued by the Pennsylvania Alcohol Permit Board for the year ending December 31, 1933 and has duly applied for renewal of said permit for the year ending December 31, 1934,

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the terms and conditions herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

1. The Commonwealth hereby agrees to purchase from the Company, and the Company hereby agrees to sell to the Commonwealth 2,268,428 gallons of whiskies bottled and in cases, distributed among the brands and at the prices as set forth in Exhibit A hereto annexed, 365,469 gallons thereof to be delivered and accepted on or before January 31, 1934, (orders for which have already been received by the Company, and shall be filled under the terms of this agreement), and the remaining 1,902,959 gallons thereof to be delivered and accepted in approximately equal monthly quantities during the remaining eleven months of the year 1934, all deliveries for December, 1934, to be made and accepted on or before December 14, 1934. Any deliveries made during any month in excess of the monthly quota shall be applied against the quota for the next succeeding month or months. At least twenty (20) days prior to the commencement of any month in which deliveries are to be made as hereinafter referred to, the Commonwealth shall give to the Company specific instructions in writing covering the brands to be delivered by the Company in the ensuing month, the quantity in cases of each brand selected and the units per case (i. e., quarts, pints or 5's) and also directions with respect to the warehouses to which shipments are to be made and the particular brands and quantities to be shipped to each warehouse. The Commonwealth shall not specify quantities of any brand in excess of the ability of the Company at the time thereof to make delivery of such brands. Upon receipt of any order specifying a brand or brands which the Company is unable to deliver in whole or in part, the Company shall within ten (10) days notify the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board of its inability so to do, and at the same time state what brand or brands it is able to deliver in lieu thereof, and the Commonwealth shall promptly notify the Company of the quantities and brands to be substituted. The prices set forth in Exhibit A include freight from the shipping point to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor. It is understood, however, that the Company will prepay the freight on each shipment from the shipping point to the city specified by the Commonwealth to which such shipment is to be made, but the Commonwealth shall repay to the Company, upon receipt of invoices, the amount by which such freight exceeds the freight from the point of shipment to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor.

It is further understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A include the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $1.10 per gallon and the existing Federal Rectifiers tax at the rate of 30 cents per gallon for blended whiskies, and that such prices will be adjusted to include any increase in said taxes or any additional or other Federal taxes and such new or increased state, county and municipal taxes on liquor or measured by liquor, if any (other than the Pennsylvania Spirituous and Vinous Liquor Floor tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon), which may be payable by the Company, all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes. The Commonwealth shall not be obligated to specify or purchase any brand manufactured in any state other than Pennsylvania and as to which any such additional tax has been levied by any such other state or any county or municipality thereof.

It is understood that the Company owns only a limited supply of the bottled in bond and straight whiskey mentioned in Exhibit A. The Company reserves the right to use or sell to others all or any part of such bottled in bond or straight whiskey and when its present supply of any brand or brands is exhausted the Commonwealth shall have no further right to specify or receive from the Company such brand or brands of whiskeys. The Company, however, agrees to reserve for sale to the Commonwealth the whiskies specified in Exhibit B, hereto attached.

2. All invoices for purchase shall be payable at face in ninety (90) days, less a discount of one and one-half per cent. (1-½%) for payments made in fifteen (15) days, but for liquor ordered after December 31, 1933, the Commonwealth shall discount its invoices within the fifteen day period, except that it may at all times withhold payment until the expiration of ninety (90) days of invoices aggregating but not exceeding $1,500,000. However, all indebtedness hereunder shall be paid by the Commonwealth prior to December 31, 1934.

3. All sales and purchases hereunder shall be for sale by the Commonwealth within its borders and as now or hereafter provided by law.

4. The Company shall not be liable for delays or failure to make delivery hereunder due to fires, strikes, acts of God, government interference, Code of Fair Competition or Marketing Agreement requirements, transportation difficulties, inability to obtain raw materials, or other causes beyond its control interfering with the manufacture, bottling or delivery.

In Witness Whereof, the Commonwealth has caused this agreement to be executed for it by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board pursuant to authority granted to it, and the Company has caused this agreement to be executed by its duly authorized officers the day and year first above written.

AGREEMENT

Agreement made this 17th day of January, 1934, as of the eighth day of December, 1933, between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Commonwealth"), acting by and through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and Joseph S. Finch and Co., Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company"),

WITNESSETH:

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has been created pursuant to Act No. 3 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and, under the provisions of Article II, Section 201 (a), of Act No. 4 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and known as the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," has, among other things, the power to buy and import liquor for sale in the manner set forth in said Act last mentioned; and

Whereas, the Company is the holder of General Permit No. 389, Serial No. H15, for the year ending December 31, 1933, issued by the Pennsylvania Alcohol Permit Board, and is the holder of a letter dated January 2, 1934, granting authority to continue operations for the year ending 1934 until permit or further letter is received from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the terms and conditions herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

1. The Commonwealth hereby agrees to purchase from the Company, and the Company hereby agrees to sell to the Commonwealth, 4,220,441 gallons of whiskies, rums and brandies bottled and in cases, distributed among the brands and at the prices as set forth in Exhibit A hereto annexed, such number of gallons as is represented by the orders for 267,500 cases of said whiskies, rums and brandies heretofore received by the Company to be delivered and accepted one-half thereof on or before January 31, 1934, and the other half thereof on or before February 28, 1934, (said orders to be filled under the terms of this agreement), and the remaining gallons thereof to be delivered and accepted in approximately equal monthly quantities during the remaining ten months of the year 1934, all deliveries for December, 1934, to be made and accepted on or before December 14, 1934. Any deliveries made and accepted during any month in excess of the monthly quota shall be applied against the quota for the next succeeding month or months. At least twenty (20) days prior to the commencement of any month in which deliveries are to be made as hereinbefore referred to, the Commonwealth shall give to the Company specific instructions in writing covering the brands to be delivered by the Company in the ensuing month, the quantity in cases of each brand selected and the units per case (i. e, quarts, pints or 5's) and also directions with respect to the warehouses to which shipments are to be made and the particular brands and quantities to be shipped to each warehouse. The Commonwealth shall not specify quantities of any brand in excess of the ability of the Company at the time thereof to make delivery of such brands. Upon receipt of any order specifying a brand or brands which the Company is unable to deliver in whole or in part, the Company shall within ten (10) days notify the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board of its inability so to do, and at the same time state what brand or brands it is able to deliver in lieu thereof, and the Commonwealth shall promptly notify the Company of the quantities in cases, units per case, and brands to be substituted. The prices set forth in Exhibit A include freight from the shipping point to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor. It is understood, however, that the Company will prepay the freight on each shipment from the shipping point to the city specified by the Commonwealth to which such shipment is to be made, but the Commonwealth shall repay to the Company, upon receipt of invoice, the amount by which such freight exceeds the freight from the point of shipment to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquor.

It is further understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A include the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $1.10 per gallon and the existing Federal Rectifiers tax at the rate of 30 cents per gallon for blended whiskies, and that such prices will be adjusted to include

A. any increase in said taxes or any additional or other Federal taxes (including stamp taxes) on or measured by liquor; and

B. any taxes (including stamp taxes) on or measured by liquor (other than the Pennsylvania Spirituous and Vinous Liquor Floor tax at the rate of $2 per gallon) levied or imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or by any political subdivision thereof which may be payable by the Company;

all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes.

It is understood

(1) that the Company owns only a limited supply of bottled in bond and straight whiskies mentioned in Exhibit A; and

(2) that it (or its affiliate) has certain rights under existing agreements with others to acquire additional bottled in bond whiskies mentioned in Exhibit A, and under the terms and conditions of such agreements may be required to acquire the same at a rate throughout the term hereof of 13,500 gallons per month.

The Company reserves the right to use or to sell to others all or any part of such bottled in bond or straight whiskies, and when its present supply of any brand or brands is exhausted, the Commonwealth shall have no further right to specify or receive from the Company such brand or brands of whiskey, excepting

(a) the Company has reserved or agrees to reserve for the purposes of this agreement the quantity thereof contained in the original orders represented by the 267,500 cases hereinbefore referred to; and

(b) the Company agrees to reserve such portion of twenty-five per cent of the 13,500 gallons receivable by it as hereinbefore in subdivision (2) referred to, in any month subsequent to February, 1934, for the purposes of this agreement, as the Commonwealth shall include in its specific instructions in writing covering the brands to be delivered by the Company in the ensuing month; provided however, that the provisions of this subdivision (b) shall not apply in the event the Company (or its affiliate) anticipates under its said existing agreements with others its acquisition of said gallons or any part thereof, to the extent that it has theretofore afforded the Commonwealth a two-day opportunity of including twenty-five per cent of such gallonage or any part thereof in its specific instructions in writing covering the brands to be delivered by the Company in the month subsequent to that for which such specific instructions have last been given, and the Commonwealth does not within such two-day period notify the Company of such inclusion.

The Company shall not be liable hereunder, should it (or its affiliate) be unable, with due diligence, to acquire such gallonage, or any part thereof, under said existing agreements.

2. All invoices for purchases shall be payable at face in ninety (90) days, less a discount of one and one-half per cent (1½%) for payments made in fifteen (15) days, but for liquor ordered after December 31, 1933, the Commonwealth shall discount its invoices within the fifteen-day period, except that it may at all times withhold payment until the expiration of ninety (90) days of invoices aggregating but not exceeding $2,500,000. However, all indebtedness hereunder shall be paid by the Commonwealth prior to December 31, 1934.

3. All sales and purchases hereunder shall be for sale by the Commonwealth within its borders and as now or hereafter provided by law.

4. The Company shall not be liable for delays or failure to make delivery hereunder due to fires, strikes, acts of God, government interference, Code of Fair Competition or Marketing Agreement requirements, transportation difficulties, inability to obtain raw materials, or other causes beyond its control interfering with the manufacture, bottling or delivery.

5. The Company shall have the right to assign all sums due to it by the Commonwealth hereunder. Upon request of the Company or any assignee of such sums, the Commonwealth will furnish to the Company or such assignee as of the first and fifteenth of each month throughout the term hereof and within five (5) days after the termination of any such month a statement of the amount due by the Commonwealth to the Company.

In Witness Whereof, the Commonwealth has caused this agreement to be executed for by it by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board Pursuant to authority granted to it, and the Company has caused this agreement to be executed by its duly authorized officers the day and year first above written.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

LARGE DISTILLING COMPANY

AGREEMENT

Agreement made this 3rd day of January, 1934, as of the 8th day of December, 1933, between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Commonwealth"), acting by and through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and Large Distilling Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth (hereinafter sometimes called the "Company"), witnesseth:

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has been created pursuant to Act No. 3 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and, under the provisions of Article II, Section 201 (a), of Act No. 4 of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, approved the 29th day of November, 1933, and known as the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," has, among other things, the power to buy and import liquor for sale in the manner set forth in said Act last mentioned; and

Whereas, the Company is the holder of General Permit No. 387, Serial No. A25, issued by the Pennsylvania Alcohol Permit Board for the year ending December 31, 1933 and has duly applied for renewal of said permit for the year ending, December 31, 1934,

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the terms and conditions herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

1. The Commonwealth hereby agrees to purchase from the Company, and the Company hereby agrees to sell to the Commonwealth, 80,205 gallons of whiskies, bottled and in cases, distributed among the brands and at the prices as set forth in Exhibit A hereto annexed, 10,500 gallons thereof to be delivered and accepted on or before February 28, 1934, and the remaining 69,705 gallons thereof to be delivered and accepted in approximately equal monthly quantities during the remaining ten months of the year 1934, all deliveries for December, 1934 to be made and accepted on or before December 14, 1934. At least twenty (20) days prior to the commencement of any month in which deliveries are to be made as hereinbefore referred to the Commonwealth shall give to the Company specific instructions in writing covering the brands to be delivered by the Company in the ensuing month, the quantity in cases of each brand selected and the units per case (i. e., quarts pints or 5's) and also directions with respect to the warehouses to which shipments are to be made and the particular brands and quantities to be shipped to each warehouse. The Commonwealth shall not specify quantities of any brand in excess of the ability of the Company at the time thereof to make delivery of such brand. Upon receipt of any order specifying a brand or brands which the Company is unable to deliver in whole or in part, the Company shall within ten (10) days notify the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board of its inability so to do, and at the same time state what brand or brands it is able to deliver in lieu thereof, and the Commonwealth shall promptly thereupon notify the Company of the quantities and brands to be substituted. The prices set forth in Exhibit A includes freight from the shipping point to the nearest city in which is located a warehouse owned or leased by the Commonwealth for the storage of liquors. It is understood, however, that the Company will prepay the freight on each shipment from the shipping point to the city specified by the Commonwealth to which such shipment is to be made, but the Commonwealth shall repay to the Company upon receipt of invoices the amount by which such freight exceeds the freight from the point of shipment to the nearest city in which a warehouse is located.

It is further understood that the prices set forth in said Exhibit A include the existing Federal Internal Revenue tax at the rate of $1.10 per gallon and the existing Federal Rectifiers tax at the rate of 30 cents per gallon for blended whiskies and that such prices will be adjusted to include any increase in said taxes or any additional or other Federal taxes and such new or increased state, county, and municipal taxes, in liquor or measured by liquor, if any (other than the Pennsylvania Spirituous and Vinous Liquor Floor tax at the rate of $2.00 per gallon), which may be payable by the Company, all of which additional taxes are to be borne by the Commonwealth and shall be paid by it on receipt of separate invoices covering any such taxes. The Commonwealth shall not be obligated to specify or purchase any brand manufactured in any state other than Pennsylvania and as to which any such additional tax has been levied by any such other state or any county or municipality thereof.

It is understood that the Company owns only a limited supply of the bottled in bond and straight whiskies mentioned in Exhibit A. The Company reserves the right to use or to sell to others all or any part of such bottled in bond and straight whiskies, and when its present supply of any brand or brands is exhausted the Commonwealth shall have no further right to specify or receive from the Company such brand or brands of whiskies.

2. All invoices for purchases shall be payable at face in ninety (90) days, less a discount of one and one-half per cent. (1-½%) for payments made in fifteen (15) days.

3. All sales and purchases hereunder shall be for sale by the Commonwealth within its borders and as now or hereafter provided by law.

4. The Company shall not be liable for delays or failure to make delivery hereunder due to fires, strikes, acts of God, government interference, Code of Fair Competition or Marketing Agreement requirements, transportation difficulties, inability to obtain raw materials, or other causes beyond its control interfering with the manufacture, bottling or delivery.

In Witness Whereof, the Commonwealth has caused this agreement to be executed for it by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board pursuant to authority granted to it, and the Company has caused this agreement to be executed by its duly authorized officers the day and year first above written.

RESOLUTION NO. 40

INVESTIGATION OF LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

Mr. RUTH asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution:

In the House of Representatives, January 30, 1935.

Whereas, The General Assembly, with the advent of the Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, created a system of State liquor stores for the sale of liquors and wines in packages; and

Whereas, The net revenues from sales through these State stores have fallen away below the estimates, and as the result appropriations made by the General Assembly which were based on these estimates cannot be paid; and

Whereas, The Liquor Control Board entered into certain secret contracts with distillers, the contents of which were not made known to the public, but which became known when the files of the same became available when the present administration took office; and

Whereas, It is believed that the present high price of liquors in this Commonwealth is due in part to these secret contracts and is also responsible for the fall down in profits from the State store system; and

Whereas, The report of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board as of the end of the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, shows an enormous inventory, an appreciable part of which apparently consists of brands of liquor which are not saleable, resulting in the State store system having a large frozen inventory; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives whose duty it shall be to make a rigid audit, inventory and investigation of the operation of the liquor store system, dating back to its inception and to investigate such other facts and circumstances surrounding the operation of the liquor store system as it deems necessary for the information of the House of Representatives;

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report to the House of Representatives of this Session as early as possible; and

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to the resolution.

The amendments were read by the clerk as follows:

Amend paragraph three, by inserting after the word "Whereas" and before the word "the" the words, "it is alledged."

Amend paragraph six, line two, by striking out the word "five" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "seven."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1935. 131st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1935 No. 10

SENATE

MONDAY, February 4, 1935

The Senate met at 9 o'clock, P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

In Thy word, O Lord, we read that he who ruleth his own spirit is greater than he who taketh a city. That these legislators may wisely enact laws to regulate the lives of others, may Thy law be enthroned in the citadel of their own hearts. Thus only can they comprehend what is right, just and for the best interests of those who have placed in their hands the authority to set bounds and prescribe duties.

Cause Thy spirit to enlighten the minds of these lawmakers so they shall do Thy will without fear or prejudice.

Bless all who are in authority. May our nation be lifted out of depression and the hearts of our people filled with joy. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BAUMER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Delaware, Mr. McClure, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I was greatly surprised this morning to read an account in the paper stating that the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, intended to introduce a resolution asking for my resignation. He was kind enough to send me a telegram, thinking that I would be too embarrassed to appear on the floor. If he had this thought, he was mistaken. If he had the thought that my resignation would immediately follow the presentation of his resolution, he knows now that he was again mistaken.

I have been in the public eye of Pennsylvania for more than twenty-five years. I have been a member of this Senate for six years. During all that time I have worked for the best interests of my county, and, while here, for the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania. It is true that charges were preferred against me in the Federal Court two years ago. I took part in the trial, which lasted over a period of two months. There were many irregularities in that trial, in the opinion of my lawyers; and when the trial was about to come to an end they had discovered over one thousand errors, which they set forth in an appeal to the higher court. It was the thought at that time that the case would be reversed in the higher court; that we would be granted a new trial.

At that time the Prohibition Amendment was repealed, and we were denied, by the Supreme Court, the right to any trial whatsoever. Thus, we did not have our day in court, where our defense could be put forward. Previously, in the trial itself, we were advised not to present a defense, because of the alleged errors; and I was in the hands of my counsel at that time.

I rather welcome, tonight, any resolution which the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, will introduce here, or any resolution that any other Senator will introduce here, because I will hope to have an opportunity to appear before any committee of this body to which it is referred, where I am sure I can clear myself. I can look every Senator in the face tonight and say I was innocent of every charge that was preferred against me in the Federal Court.

This body has always been known for its fairness. I have had pleasant associations with the men in the Senate. I value their friendship, and it is almost a tradition that the Senate of Pennsylvania is a fair body in every respect.

This is my answer, tonight, to the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, and I rest my case in the hands of this body, hoping that I will be given a chance to be heard after any charges have been preferred against me by anybody who is a member of the Senate.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I am genuinely sorry that the desideratum sought through this Resolution could not have been less noisily achieved by the voluntary withdrawal of the Senator whose resignation is now formally requested. The Senate is the judge of its own members, but the Senate may not expel a member except for causes specified in the Constitution. Legal opinion inclines to the view that the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment with the resultant annulment of its supporting statutes under which the Delaware County prosecutions were brought automatically releases the defendants from the penal consequences of their conviction. This is a pure technicality and of course does not alter the essential character of the offenses nor effect the moral rehabilitation of the offenders. Technically the Senator from Delaware may be entitled to sit in this Chamber; morally he is not. Technically the Senate may be under no obligation to take notice of the fact that he does sit here; morally it is.

It is not so much that the Senator has violated a law of the land; other men have done that without moral obliquity and even with moral justification. The philanthropic men and women and women who operated the underground railroad to defeat the inhuman purposes of the Fugitive Slave Law felt no compunctions of conscience and incurred no approbrium from the civilized world for stealing the mantle of freedom to cloak the victims of oppression. But the Delaware County conspiracies were without extenuating fact or circumstance, characterized by shameless collusion and alliance with the most disreputable elements of society, and motivated by the lust of gain. The Senator was convicted and throughout his trial he made no defense.

Republican and Democratic members alike may feel reluctant to participate in what is substantially a vote of ostracism against a colleague with whom their personal relations have been friendly. But they cannot be blind to the fact that he has shown but little consideration for them. The Senator must know that his presence in this body is a detriment to his district, his State, his party, and to the Senate. He has had ample opportunity to relieve all four of their embarrassment. The press shrieked the sordid story of the Delaware County conspiracies in every newspaper front-page from ocean to ocean, which could not fail to reflect injuriously upon the Senate. But he did not resign. Two special sessions of the General Assembly have convened since he was publicly disgraced.

He did not attend, but he did not resign. And now in the first regular session following his conviction he resumes his former dignity as chairman of the Committee on Finance to the scandal of the Senate and the consternation of the Commonwealth. It is a dangerous and demoralizing condition which would allow the inference that moral delinquencies punishable in some form in business, professional, or social relationships, are ignored and even rewarded in politics.

Some may appraise this Resolution only from a partisan point of view and object that since the Republican majority now is only six, if the Senator from Delaware resigns it may be reduced to five. The answer to that is that whether the Senate is Republican or Democratic is a matter of secondary importance. The really important thing is that it shall be clean. If the Republican Party does not divorce itself from evil associations and purge its own household it will be only a question of time, and a very short time at that, until there will be no Republican Senators at all. When timorous political leaders came to Theodore Roosevelt and said they were glad he was putting a stop to corruption but they hoped he would avoid a disturbance that might hurt the party, he told them that he would have to act with the utmost rigor against offenders no matter what the effect on the party, but that he did not believe it would hurt the party. It did not hurt the party, but placed it in a position of strength and public confidence which it had not held since Abraham Lincoln's day, which it lost with the passing of Theodore Roosevelt and has never regained.

Those who seek political office must accept the full responsibility which political office brings. If constitutional limitations or legal technicalities prevent the Senate from expelling a member of demonstrated moral unfitness, we at least owe it to the parties which elected us—Republican or Democratic, to the Commonwealth in whose name we legislate, and to the Senate whose insignia we wear to refute the charges of indifference to wrong doing which our tacit acquiescence in a compromising situation would inevitably justify if not establish.

Mr. PRESIDENT. I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will be read for the information of the Senate.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 4, 1935.

Whereas, John J. McClure, Senator from Delaware County, having been convicted in a Federal Court of serious misdemeanors; and

Whereas, legal technicalities, investing the final judicial disposition of his case at law, render his expulsion from this body a proceeding of doubtful constitutionality; and

Whereas, the said John J. McClure by continuing to function in his present office is subjecting the Senate to criticism and judgment prejudicial to its usefulness and honor; be it therefore

Resolved, that the said John J. McClure be and hereby is requested to relieve his colleagues of further embarrassment arising from this cause by the immediate exercise of his constitutional right and privilege to resign from the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. The resolution will be returned to the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, until we reach resolutions in the regular order.

Whereas, The said John J. McClure by continuing to function in his present office is subjecting the Senate to criticism and judgment prejudicial to its usefulness and honor; be it therefore

Resolved, That the said John J. McClure be and hereby is requested to relieve his colleagues of further embarrassment arising from this cause by the immediate exercise of his constitutional right and privilege to resign from the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended, and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. Under the rules the resolution will have to go to committee, and it is referred to the committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I ask for the suspension of Rule 39.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that the request, or motion, of the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Prince, is out of order, for the reason that the resolution has already been referred to committee, as provided by the rules of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The point or order of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, in the opinion of the Chair, is well taken.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 19, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to know, from the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron, why this bill requires a hearing, inasmuch as this is one of the bills that form part of the Republican platform drafted by the committee appointed for the purpose of presenting to this Senate bills to carry out the provisions of the Republican platform. I should like to know why this requires a hearing, inasmuch as it has been read both before and since election.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I do not understand this bill to comprehend any passages or any provisions in our platform. If it does, I might be mistaken on that; but at the same time this is a very important measure, and there are constituents of mine that would like to be heard on this bill, and, whether it is in the platform or not, the Senate always yields to requests of that character. Where hearings are requested, they are usually granted; and I do not see why we cannot have a hearing on this bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like further to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron, permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to know, from the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Aron, whether he is aware of the fact that this bill was heard by the Committee on Labor and Industry, discussed along with several other bills; that this bill was said by the committee to be one of those bills which should be passed without a public hearing, and that several other bills on which it was considered important to get public opinion, should be referred to committee for the purpose of a public hearing, and that the committee voted unanimously to present this bill to the Senate.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I still insist upon my motion that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry for the purpose of a hearing.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO and Mr. GRAFF and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Aron,	Gelder,	Norton,	Roberts,
Batchelor,	Harris,	Owlett,	Rodgers,

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for further study and consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this motion. I am rather amazed that the motion should be made by a gentleman from Philadelphia.

This bill is of paramount importance to the City of Philadelphia. It has been before you since the twenty-first of January, 1935. More than sufficient time has been given to you to study this bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, has made no request either to change the bill or to amend it, or to do anything with the bill.

I can not help but think, and I believe properly so, that the proper inference to draw is merely because of the fact this bill emanates from this side of the House—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene will state his point of order.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is discussing the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not discussing the merits of the bill. I am merely pointing out the importance of avoiding delay in the enactment into law of this measure. You have had sufficient time to study this bill. There is no possible cause or reason why this should be sent back to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for further study. The bill was studied, and it came out of Committee. Ample time has been given to every member of this House to read its provisions and to make any endeavor to amend the bill or to change the bill.

Just because this bill was introduced by a Republican member of the House is no reason why it ought to be sent back into the Democratic pickling vat. I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia and to the representatives of the Democratic party from Philadelphia that you ought not to play partisan politics in sending this bill back to your pickling committee. You ought to be interested in the people of Philadelphia, you ought to be interested in its speedy enactment into law and not send this bill back there to die the usual Democratic death that this bill will suffer if it is sent back. For that reason I ask the Democratic members of the House not to play politics with the needs of the City of Philadelphia and not to send the bill back to committee because it was introduced by a Republican.

I will ask you to vote "no" on this motion so as to permit the best interests of the City of Philadelphia to be served and not to continue just to kill something for the sake of killing it, because it bears a Republican stamp. It is poor sportsmanship.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is a Republican bill. This bill provides for the taxing authority—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the gentleman shall not be permitted to speak upon the merits of the bill, and he is about so to do when he says, "it provides."

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lawrence will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, should this bill be acted on by this House, it would allow the taxing authorities of Philadelphia to raise the penalties—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the Speaker to instruct the gentleman to obey the order made by the Chair that he confine himself to the motion to recommit and not speak upon the merits of the bill, as was directed by the Speaker of this House.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is the motion to recommit, and the merits of the bill may not be discussed. The gentleman from Lawrence will confine himself to the motion to recommit.

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on the advice of the Attorney General we are asking that this House recommit this bill for further study.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Sowers and Mr. Witkin, and were as follows:

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, life's experiences teach us that the human race is composed of those who serve and those who are served. Help us to know the beauty and nobility of service. May we hear the voices of God and our fellowmen summoning us to self-sacrifice.

The greatest burden-bearer of all time washed His disciples' feet, yet today His name is above every name on the world's honor roll.

May the ambition of every member of this Senate and every man here assembled be to achieve honor as the Great Teacher won His laurels—by bearing the burdens of others. Thus only shall we have just laws equitably administered.

We make this petition that Thy name may be glorified. Amen.

An Act empowering private corporations hereafter formed and municipalities to establish, operate and maintain foreign trade zones in or adjacent to ports of entry of the United States in accordance with the act of Congress of the United States; and prescribing the powers and duties of such corporations and municipalities in connection therewith.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, perhaps there ought to be a word of explanation about Senate Bill No. 105. This act was drafted by The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and sent to me for introduction. It was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations. The only point I care to make is in Section 5. There is some objection to the report being made to the municipality of Philadelphia . A copy of the report, made to Washington, has to be filed with the State Department of Internal Affairs.

The purpose of this report is to promote the Port of Philadelphia in its commerce, cutting out a certain amount of red tape which causes delay and putting the Port of Philadelphia on a parity with other ports. It is a technical bill, and I hope everybody will vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MORAN (Concurrent). RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1935.

Whereas, A study of the Power and Light business in the United States discloses the fact that the large power companies are charging exorbitant rates, and are making huge profits by watering their stocks out of all proportion to their true value; that they are distributing their profits among a large number of holding companies, with high salaried officials and interlocking directorates, and thereby evading the spirit of the law, and

Whereas, The studies made show that the Duquesne Light Company common stock is owned by the Philadelphia Company, which is controlled by the Standard Gas and Electric Company, which is controlled by the Standard Power and Light, which is controlled by the United States Electric Power Corporation, and by the H. M. Byllesby Corporation, with a claimed valuation of fifty-five million, made almost eleven million profit in one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, or nineteen and four-tenths per centum, twenty-two and eight-tenths per centum in one thousand nine hundred and thirty, and twenty-two and nine-tenths per centum in one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, and

Whereas, The President of the United States has publicly declared that these practices must be discontinued, and has taken an active part in disclosing to his people the methods under which these companies have been operating, and

Whereas, Our President has been instrumental in providing his people with a "yardstick" by which they may judge electricity and power, and

Whereas, The Pittsburgh Press, in its issue of November twentieth, made public a comparison between the rates charged by the Duquesne Light Company and those shown by the "yardstick," and

Whereas, The Utility Commissioners of the United States, meeting in convention in Washington, D. C. on November fifteenth, publicly declared that the rates charged by the Utilities are at least twenty-five per centum too high all over the United States, and

Whereas, The President, on November thirteenth, handed to the Public Service Commission of every state a "big stick" with which to reduce rates on electricity. This consists of a formula worked out by the New York Power Authority by which the cost of distributing electric power —for years the unknown quantity in the utility business— can be quickly and accurately determined. Private companies have consistently refused to reveal the cost of getting electricity into the homes, and have shrouded it with mystery, but the commission has now made it public, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), The General Assembly, petition the members of the Public Service Commission and our Governor, to work together to bring about a reduction of thirty per centum of the rates of the Duquesne Light Company, for the citizens of Allegheny County.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for further study and consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MASON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I note that the motion to recommit my bill is based upon the fact that there must be further study. I really think that the House has now reached the extreme when they send this bill back to committee, if they so do, for that purpose. There are exactly three lines to the bill. If any member of the House cannot understand the purport of the three lines, I would assure such a member or members that I will gladly explain it between now and tomorrow, when the bill should be on third reading. In addition to that, I wish to state that I personally have not introduced this bill as any partisan measure whatsoever, and I appeal to you to vote down this resolution to recommit. I might further state that the bill itself has been introduced with the agreement and with the support of the Democratic County Chairman of our County.

I, therefore, urge you to vote down this motion to recommit, and I ask the members of the House to keep the bill on the calendar, and if they desire to defeat it upon its merits tomorrow, I can assure you that I will not object to it whatsoever.

On the motion recurring,

Will the House agree to motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MASON and Mr. SHORTZ.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Railroads and Railways in order that a public hearing may be held on it.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Chairman and members of the House I rise to oppose this motion to recommit this bill. I am the author of this bill and I have had no communications whatsoever asking me for a hearing. I do not think a hearing is necessary. I do not think the public demands it, and it is my understanding that there will be a hearing in the Senate if this bill passes the House and goes to the Senate. I see no need for two hearings. I ask the members of this House to vote "No" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to disagree with the remarks of the gentleman who is the sponsor of the bill. It was sent to the Committee on Railroads and Railways, and with the understanding that if this bill was allowed to come out and pass second hearing, that a public hearing would be held on it if there was a demand made for it, and it would be referred to a committee. I understand also that there is to be a request for public hearings by the Senate, but I think this House should have the benefit of these hearings before any of us unfamiliar with the technique of railroad procedure be asked to vote on the merits of this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Committee, the bill was reported out as the gentleman said. I only received about two letters in request for a public hearing on this bill and possibly not more than half a dozen of the members received any such requests. I feel that there were not enough requests for a public hearing and I ask that this motion be voted down.

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman who moved to refer the bill to the committee for the benefit of a hearing, I sat here last session and the special session of 1933 and saw how hard it was to get the bill out of that committee. Today this bill is before the public in this House, and I am opposed to its going back to Committee. In the prior session the regular session of 1933 it was still harder to get the bill out of committee.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not confining his remarks to the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, I am through.

Mr. SUMNEY. Mr. Speaker, if I could be assured that there would be a public hearing before the Senate I would cheerfully vote to pass the bill. I have received various requests that there be a public hearing, and I want to be very sure that the Senate will grant one.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have observed the proceedings of this House for twenty years and I have never seen an occasion when a bill affecting such a wide range of economic interests as this bill affects was denied a public hearing. It was my understanding, Mr. Speaker, from responsible leaders in this House that there would be a public hearing and it is my understanding that because the labor lobby said "no public hearing" that it was decided not to hold a public hearing.

Mr. SPEAKER, I am opposed to accepting dictation at the hands of a railroad lobby and as a member of this House I am equally opposed to accepting dictation at the hands of a labor lobby. We should give a hearing to any important constituency that demands one.

Mr. FITCH. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, the gentleman has just told you that never in the history of this House has any party been denied a hearing, in all these years. I wish to say that in the last seventeen years I can safely say that there have been many bills in this House that have not had a hearing. I happen to be on that committee and there was an understanding that if there was a universal demand for a hearing we would give it to them. I am the sponsor of one of these bills. I can truthfully say, as the Chairman of the committee has said, that there has been no demand except on one side.

This is no new law that we are presenting; this is a law that has already been on the statute books of Pennsylvania. This is a law that was taken off the statute books of the State of Pennsylvania—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia please confine himself to the motion to recommit? The merits of the bills are not under discussion.

Mr. FITCH. Mr. Speaker, I bitterly oppose the motion to recommit for this reason, that there have not been a proper number of people that have submitted requests for the bill to be committed for a hearing to be held in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, no labor lobby has asked me about this bill. No labor lobby has approached me and I have received no letters asking for a public hearing on this bill. I feel that this bill should go through without a public hearing in the House.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I have given close attention to the movement of this bill, and the only requests that I have come in contact with for a recommission of this bill to the committee has come from the railroad lobby and not from an employes' lobby, and the inference to the contrary is made for the purpose of stopping something that should go through, so therefore, I would ask in all sincerity that you vote against returning this bill to the committee.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Reising.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not believe that a railroad lobby is entitled to the same consideration as far as hearings are concerned as any other lobby?

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I would say in answer that the railroad lobby should not receive any more consideration than the employes' lobby. The employe's lobby have said "No;" the employes have said "No." Why grant this hearing on the request of the railroads? In further answer I will say if the public demands a hearing we should grant it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has made out my case entirely. He says that his decision, and, I have no doubt, the decisions of other men of similar minds have not been determined upon the basis of the issue, but have been determined by the dictates of the labor lobby.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, this measure was reported out of committee with the understanding that if there were sufficient requests and demands for a public hearing that such would be granted. I am a member of that committee and I have but one request, which of course comes from an interested source, from a railroad representative. There has been no demand or no pressure by any labor interest brought to bear upon me in any manner whatsoever with regard to this bill. I ask that this motion to recommit be defeated.

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that this motion should be defeated. The Chairman of the Committee has stated that if a hearing is to be held the Senate of Pennsylvania will give that hearing, and on this explanation and explanation given by the various members of that committee that they have not received sufficient requests to allow a hearing, that no action should be taken in this house except to pass this bill on to the Senate.

I feel sure that if the proper lobby brings pressure upon the Senate for a public hearing that they will be granted a public hearing. I have not received any communications or any pressure from the labor lobby and I feel sure that the members of the committee who have so stated here have told you the truth, that no communication or requests have come to this House except from one lobby and therefore I say that the motion to recommit should be defeated and the bill sent over to the Senate.

This bill has been before this House not only at the present time but in previous legislatures and everyone knows the contents of the bill, so it should not be necessary for the House to consider this bill any further and I therefore ask not only the Democratic members of this House but also the Republican members of this House to vote this motion down and send the bill over to the Senate.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have it from very good authority that this bill will receive a public hearing in the Senate. I also wish to state that as Chairman of this committee I was not guided by any lobbyists from any source other than that there was not public sentiment enough for a public hearing on this bill.

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I was approached on this bill by one lobby. That was the lobby for the railroads, not for the labor element. I received one letter on this bill, and that came from a Chamber of Commerce. I do not feel that there has been any pressure put on me at any time to be for the railroad labor interests. I campaigned on this bill,—most of us on this side of the House campaigned on this bill; we believe in it. In the fourteen years since it was repealed the people of this Commonwealth have had ample opportunity to present their case. Every one knows how he stands on this measure. I think unquestionably in the Senate it will receive public hearings, and I think that is not all it will receive. I therefore ask that the members of the House vote against the motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, as one of the new members of this House I made this motion because I honestly want this information before this House before its members cast their votes. There is no member who has any power to bind the Senate as to what the Senate is going to do. Members of the Committee on Railroads were assured that if there was a public demand a public hearing would be granted and I now make the demand for a public hearing in this House. I think the debate has shown that there is a demand besides my own.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I had the honor to report this bill out of Committee and I do not see any reason for having two public hearings. We understand that the Senate is going to grant a public hearing. This bill, I understand also, was up in the last session and there isn't any question but that everybody here understands all about it. Now, are we going to favor big business or are we going to favor the common man? Let us vote this motion down. Let us put the Atterburys and the Mellons where they belong.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the motion?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Railroads and Railways for the purpose of a public hearing. The vote on the previous bill having demonstrated that at least forty members of this House are in favor of such a hearing, and I again make a demand that this bill be recommitted with a request for a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EROE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the recommitment of this bill for the same reason I opposed the recommitment of House Bill No. 304, and I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, whether he has any amendment to offer to section one.

Mr. SOWERS. I have, sir. I offer an amendment to section one.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inquire does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, have an amendment to section one.

Mr. SHEPARD. I have, sir. I have the following amendment and I move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will please send his amendments to the desk.

The CHAIR wishes to inform the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, that the amendments he has presented are amendments to the pink bill and cannot be accepted at this time. The amendments are, therefore, returned. The amendments must be made to the last printing of the bill.

The amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, lines 25 and 26 by striking out the following:

work domestic service in private homes and

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want nobody to misunderstand the amendment that I have offered. If you will turn to House bill 371, printer's number 33, which is here on the files, and turn to page 2, and then turn to line 18, you will find section one, as amended by this bill. Now, the amendment that I have offered is to strike out in line 25, page 2, the words "work domestic service in private homes and." The effect of the amendment is to make this bill applicable to domestic servants. Domestic servants can well be classed as luxury employees. If employees of mills and factories are entitled to the protection of only forty hours, then why shall not luxury employees have the same protection, and I ask the members of this House not to discriminate against the luxury employees in favor of the other employees.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Last night I made a motion to recommit this bill to the committee for the same purpose, but since it has been taken care of by amendment, I hope that Mr. Ruth will do what he said he would do last night, take care of that part of the section which we are vitally interested in. I was on the Labor Committee, and we were promised in that Committee that in the event letters and protests came in that they would have this amended to include just what Mr. Sowers has offered. I have here some fifty or sixty telegrams. I have statistics that there are domestic workers here in the State of Pennsylvania numbering over one hundred and seventy-five thousand. I feel it would be an injustice to pass these bills helping other organizations and discriminating against one hundred and seventy-five thousand workers in the State of Pennsylvania. We remember very well on Inauguration Day that the Governor in his speech said that the difference between certain classes of workers in the State of Pennsylvania and other classes of industrialists is too wide, and he proposed to have the gap closed. I think this is a step forward. We should at least give to these people some protection under the law.

This bill for taking care of females sets the number of hours at fifty-four and they are not satisfied. They want forty, and I think they ought to have them. But, at least, in the name of God, let us give to domestic workers the same protection in order that they may not be exploited during the time of depression.

I ask the members to vote for this bill, not as a partisan measure, but in fairness to the workers of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have offered an amendment to the bill, excepting domestic workers from the provisions of this act, because it is a tremendous problem. There are over two million people throughout this country employed in domestic service.

The first Lady of the Land, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, is in favor of such action, and I feel, in justice to the people who are farthest down in the economic scale that we ought to pass this amendment to this bill. We cannot expect that organized labor shall move forward to advanced social and economic position and at the same time ignore that large body of people who are at the bottom.

In the home the child gets its first impression of labor contact with the domestic servant, and it is important for future labor legislation that the children should have this finest kind of contact with labor problems, in order that they may carry on in the future in the interest of labor.

I urge the adoption of this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SOWERS and Mr. SCHWARTZ.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 25, by striking out in heavy-faced brackets the following: "domestic service"

Amendment sec. 1, page 2, lines 25 and 26, by striking out with light-faced brackets the following: "in private homes and"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I recognize the fact that to include domestic workers on a forty hour week does have its advantages,—

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to interrupt the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, will the Speaker please explain the amendments as introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard? He refers to the amendments in heavy brackets and light brackets on certain words. I do not see that there are any heavy brackets or light brackets in this bill; and I would, therefore, like to have an explanation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, to explain his amendments.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, my amendment calls for not a forty hour week, as the previous amendment; it calls for a fifty-four hour week for domestic workers. It also exempts from the provisions of the act persons who are living on the premises on which they are employed, and it makes a difference in the act.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia for his explanation, but what I would like to know is merely how if these amendments were adopted, lines 25 and 26 would read. I ask that of the Chair, may it please the Speaker.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this motion to recommit. I prefer that this bill be considered on the floor of this House, in the open. I hate to see this bill go back into the dark chambers of intrigue and combination. I realize—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please confine himself to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the motion to recommit can only mean to send this bill back to a committee and there let it die. We certainly have had time to consider this bill. It is really now like in the Committee of the Whole. Can't all the members of this House consider it in the open, as well as any committee could consider it secretely?

I ask that this bill be considered on this floor, so that the people of Pennsylvania may know what our positions are on so important economic problems as are involved here.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer my colleague from Philadelphia. I happen to be on the Labor Committee, and voted for the amendment. So, therefore, that committee is not a committee working in darkness.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as Chairman of the Committee on labor, I want to assure the gentleman from Philadelphia that if the bill is going back to the Committee on Labor, it is not going back to be pickled. It will come out, either as amended or as committed.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last night I asked that this bill be sent back to committee for further consideration. The democratic floor leader objected on the ground that he would prepare an amendment to be offered here on this floor. If he does not have the talent to have it drawn right, that is no fault of ours. We have men acting in this Committee of the Whole who are fully capable of putting this bill through in the proper form. I was on that Labor Committee and we tried our best to have it amended before, and it looks like a useless effort to send it back there again, because I sat here and saw some gentleman from Westmoreland who voted there to amend it and put it in its proper form, and then change his vote on the floor and vote against it. I am fearful that if we send it back there we will not have it out here again on this floor during this session, because all of the bills that were referred to this committee, except this bill, were put in the pocket of this Chairman and we never knew what they were.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to the gentleman who spoke previously, on the inconsistency of the gentleman from Westmoreland, meaning me, inasmuch—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to point of order.

Mr. SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing before this House but the roll call. Debate has been closed and a roll call asked for, therefore, the gentleman is out of order.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is not well taken, because the roll call has not yet been started.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, may I change my stance and ask for permission to make a statement, with the unanimous consent of the House?

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is the motion to recommit by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth, and the gentleman must confine his remarks to that motion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, all right, then, with the kind permission of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I will proceed. In the vote I was recorded as voting "no" against that amendment for this particular reason: Inasmuch as the amendment did not specify in which manner this domestic help should be taken care of. In committee I fought for this amendment and voted against bringing the bill on the floor unless the amendment was considered.

As a member of the committee I wish to state that in committee again I will do my best to see that the proper amendment is added to the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform me whether he thinks he has better prospects of success now than he did before.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Speaker, may I say for the information of the gentleman, "yes."

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SOWERS and Mr. SCHWARTZ and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, having voted "no," on this question I want to explain my vote. I voted "no," when would have liked to have voted "yes," but the motion was made apparently with all the earmarks of partisanship, and that is why I voted as I did.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the reasons for the vote should be sent in writing to the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is permitted to state his reasons.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, my reasons will be sent to the Chair in writing. I have already made my statement orally, but since the gentleman from York desires it in writing, I shall comply with his wishes.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hart, is informed that he has the privilege of giving his reasons either orally or in writing.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, since it is the ruling of the Chair that I can give them orally, I want to repeat them.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has already stated his reasons orally and the Chair has accepted them.

Vol. 18. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1935 No. 12

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 6, 1935.

The Senate met at 9:30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. William E. Howard, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou art great and we bow before Thy Majesty. Thou art wise and we sit humbly at Thy feet to be taught by Thee. Thou art love and we confidently put our trust in Thee. To strive without Thy help is but to fail. Our thinking is vain unless we learn to think Thy thoughts over after Thee. The strongest, purest human passion is but the echo of Thy throbbing heart.

These law-makers, we are persuaded, earnestly desire to do Thy will and to serve the people of our State and nation. Kill all prejudice and partisanship which might retard them in their work. Through them manifest Thy power and speak Thy truth. Amen.
